Bridge Leap Is Thwarted By Police

Police, firemen and State troopers were dispatched to the Esopus Creek Bridge near the Washington Avenue Viaduct at 7 p. m. Friday, after several complaints reported a man was on a girder threatening to leap into the water.

A crowd assembled and traffic was blocked.

Patrolmen Louis Sapp, Anthony Turk, Frank Monte and George Barringer were dispatched to the scene. Police said firemen and troopers went to assist.

Use C-H Equipment

The four policemen using Central Hudson Gas & Electric equipment with an elevator attachment finally managed to pull John W. Slater, 32, of 132 Clinton Avenue, from the girder.

Slater was taken to police headquarters and booked on a charge of seriously disturbing the peace. He was held in the County jail until arraignment at 9 a. m. today in City Court.

Police said Slater pleaded guilty and sentence was deferred pending a report of an examination. of the defendant He was sent to the County jail to await sentencing.

According to police, Slater was picked up earlier when he was found sleeping on the Boulevard. No charge was made at that time.

Threatens New Try

Authorities said Slater, a farmhand, told police he would try again to leap from another bridge on his release from custody.

Before climbing the bridge girders last night, Slater telephoned police headquarters and said he was going to jump and then hung up.

Lloyd Zoning Board Withholds Go-kart Decision

The Town of Lloyd Zoning Board of Appeals heard arguments for and against go-kart track operations in an area zoned agricultural Friday night at a well-attended hearing in Lloyd Town Hall and withheld any decision pending further action by the Town Planning Board.

The hearing stemmed from a dispute over operation of the go-kart track by Jack Herron on his Chodikee Lake Road property. He has been served with a warrent charging him with violating the zoning ordinance. Justice of the Peace Louis Canino has set no date for a hearing in court.

Inland Strike Uncertain

800-Mile Strip Braces For Lashing Hurricane

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Louisiana and Texas coasts, an 800-mile strip from New Orleans to the Mexican border, buttressed their defenses today for the first of Hurricane Carla's 125-mile an hour winds.

The Weather Bureau in New Orleans, in its 1 a.m. bulletin, said the storm was about 400 miles south of New Orleans in the Gulf of Mexico. It plowed along at about nine miles per hour in a west northwest direction.

Evacuate Lowlands

There was still no definite indication where the "large and dangerous" storm might move inland. It maintained its curve westward during the night.

But hundreds in the Louisiana coastal marsh country heeded the Weather Bureau's note of caution to evacuate the lowlands and seek higher ground.

In Cameron, La., devastated by Hurricane Audrey in 1957 with more than 500 killed, only a hardy handful—police estimated less than 25—of the town's 5,000 population remained. All stores and business were boarded up.

Police guarded all roads into Cameron, perched atop a ridge about 30 miles south of Lake Charles, La., and only 40 miles from the Texas state line.

Tides Up 2-3 Feet

Carla pushed tides two to three feet higher than normal toward the mainland and the Weather Bureau said hurricane warnings would supplant the hurricane watch from the Mississippi River along the entire Texas coast sometime today.

There were no reports of distress in any of the southwest Louisiana parishes, but evacuation centers were set up at Lake Charles high schools—one white and one Negro—to handle those seeking refuge.

Oil and gas operations in the rich Gulf tidelands off the coasts of both states came to a stop Friday night as Carla approached. Oil companies took workers and equipment from the big rigs and few stayed on duty at the drilling stations.

In Lake Charles, 30 miles above the Louisiana coastline, there was little to indicate a killer storm lay out in the Gulf.

Breezes were calm Friday night and there was no rain. A big crowd turned out for a high school game, played across the street from the gymnasium evacuation center.

Fear arose at Crowley, self-styled rice capital of the world, for a $5-million rice crop only three weeks from harvest. Observers said winds of 40 miles per hour—much less hurricane force winds—would destroy the crop.

Louisiana Agriculture Commissioner Dave Pearce said the storm could wreck the state's cane and corn crops, both near harvest, if moved far enough inland.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Weather Bureau researchers said today they hoped to seed tropical storm Debbie with silver iodide next week, if the distrubance comes within range.

Confident Of Talks On Berlin

Rusk Bids Soviet Avoid Any Risk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western efforts to open up a basis for negotiation of a Berlin settlement with the Soviet Union were reported today to have been unsuccessful so far.

U.S. officials still expressed confidence, however, that exploration through diplomatic channels, including the American Embassy in Moscow and contacts at the United Nations, eventually will lead to negotiations between the Soviet Union and the Western powers.

Rusk Hopeful

Secretary of State Dean Rusk declared here Friday night that "we expect negotiations on Berlin as soon as it is apparent that negotiations of a serious and constructive character can occur."

But he said there is nothing in the "fine print" of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's statements on Berlin to "show the path to agreement."

Rusk warned the Soviet government against risking disaster by single-handed action against Allied interests in West Berlin. He also warned the Kremlin not to mistake the West's desire for peace as a willingness to yield to the Soviets' Berlin demand.

At the moment, Rusk said, the channels of communication available between Moscow and Western capitals "are not being neglected."

Most of 40,000 Troops EarmarkedforGermany

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today that about 40,000 additional regular Army troops would be senf to Europe "in the immediate future."

Most of them will go to Germany to strengthen combat forces because of the Soviet Union's threat to West Berlin.

Dependent Travel Ends

The Pentagon also announced that transportation of dependents to Europe would be suspended, beginning Oct. 9.

The suspension covers all means of travel and applies to travel to the following countries: Belgium, Denmark, France, West Germany, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

The suspension of travel applies to dependents of both combat troops and civilian employes of the Defense Department. It does not apply to West Berlin. The Pentagon said West Berlin was a "special case" but did not explain this.

Units Not Revealed

The 40,000 men being sent abroad are all regular Army troops. Officials would not name the units or tell exactly where they are coming from.

An announcement said these reinforcements would bring the 7th Army, stationed in Germany, and other U.S. units committed to North Atlantic Treaty Organization to full combat strength. They will also provide additional combat, combat-support and logistical units for U.S. Army forces in Europe.

'Little Joke in Bad Taste' Is DeGaulle's View on Plot

PARIS (AP) — President De Gaulle escaped injury in a bizarre assassination attempt with fire and explosives on a country road Friday night, official sources said today. The old soldier shrugged off the incident.

"This was just a little joke in bad taste," De Gaulle said.

The presidential limousine had sped safely through a wall of flame from an inflammable mixture apparently touched off to serve as the fuse for a plastic bomb. The plastic charge, weighing eight pounds, had failed to go off.

Man Is Seized

Police quickly arrested a man. There was no immediate indication whether he had anything to do with the incident.

Plastic explosives are frequently used by right-wing Algerian settlers in acts of terrorism against De Gaulle's Algerian policies.

Offficial sources said De Gaulle ordered the cars in his party halted after they had passed through the flames. He got out, hunched his shoulders, and said scoffingly: "This was just a little joke in bad taste."

Resumes Trip

Then the 70-year-old president got back into his limousine and resumed the trip to his country home about 150 miles east of Paris.

De Gaulle at first insisted that the incident not be made public because he considered it "of no importance at. all," government sources said. Later, he relented when his advisors told him word of it was certain to get out.

A palace communique said: "An inflammable mixture along with an explosive charge last night was placed between Nogent and Romilly, on the road that the chief of state was taking to Colombey-les-Deux Eglises.

CHARLES DEGAULLE

"This inflammable mixture took fire without provoking an explosion towards 2200 hours (10 p.m.) at the moment when the presidential cars passed. The speed of the cars was not slackened.

Area Surrounded

"Gen. De Gaulle arrived at Colombey-les-Deux Eglises at the scheduled time."

One of the regular gendarmes patrols located at intervals along the Paris-Colombey route dashed to the area when the flames shot up.

The area was quickly surrrounded, and an unidentified man was arrested. There was no immediate indication whether he had anything to do with the incident.

Investigators said that the "inflammable mixture" was apparently intended to serve as a fuse for the plastic charge but something went amiss.

Dishonest K's View Of Offer

Big Power Study OfProblemsAsked

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev formally rejected today the U.S.-British appeal for a ban on nuclear tests in the earth's atmosphere. He suggested a big power study of major world problems to stave off the threat of nuclear war.

"It goes without saying that the Soviet government cannot and will not agree to such a deal," Khrushchev said of the Western proposal for the embargo on further atmospheric tests.

Scorns West Attempt

In a broadcast statement concerning the move by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Khrushchev said they were trying to divorce the question of weapon testing from the over-all problem of disarmament.

They were trying to have the question considered "in isolation," he complained in identical notes delivered to the U.S. and British embassies.

Khrushchev went on: "Every line of their statement revealed a desire to ensure, cost what it may, for the Western powers and their allies in aggressive military blocs, unilateral military advantages to the detriment of the security interests of the Soviet Union and the other socialist states."

Khrushchev called the Western offer dishonest.

Issues Counterappeal

At the same time he issued a counterappeal to the United States and Britain for a big power study of major world problems to stave off the threat of nuclear war over Berlin.

Kennedy and Macmillan had appealed to Khrushchev for an all-time, unpoliced ban on nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

Asks 'Good Faith' Talks

He said, "Let us seek seriously, in good faith, a solution to the question of concluding a German peace treaty so as to arrest in good time the sliding of states into the inferno of a rocket-nuclear war. Then everything will be set in place again; there will not only be no nuclear tests but even no threat of a nuclear war."

Business Week in Review

NEW YORK (AP) — The economic outlook brightened this week as the likelihood of an automobile strike faded.

A walkout in that key industry would create severe ramifications in many others which supply it.

The United Auto Workers and General Motors—No. 1 strike target—reached agreement in principle on a new contract following extension of the strike deadline from Aug. 31 to Sept. 6.

General Agreement

After marathon negotiations, UAW President Walter Reuther announced "there is general agreement in all important areas" of a nation-wide economic settlement on wages and benefits. Final details remained to be hammered out. However, a rash of wildcat strikes at stamping plants complicated matters.

The strike deadline was extended a second time until next Monday.

When the General Motors contract is wrapped up, Reuther planned to use it as a pattern in settlement efforts with Ford and Chrysler.

President Kennedy has told the negotiators that "our country at this juncture in our affairs can ill afford a shutdown in this important segment of our economy."

Easing of apprehension over the automobile industry situation sent the stock market spinning upward to all-time highs as measured by popular averages.

Automobile production sagged this week because of the Labor Day holiday and strikes at General Motors plants by local unions observing rescinded strike deadlines. Output totaled an estimated 84,000 passenger cars, compared with 90,983 last week.

Hold Line, JFK to Steel

Almost as much attention was centered on the steel industry as on the automobile industry. A possible price increase to cover wage boosts due Oct. 1 was the subject at issue.

President Kennedy wrote to the heads of 12 steel companies, urging them to hold the line.

He said he believed "price stability in steel is essential if we are to maintain the economic vitality necessary to face confidently the trials and crises of our perilous world."

The President contended a steel price increase "could shatter the

Soviet Fallout Poses No Health Danger Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radioactive fallout from the Soviet Union's third nuclear test may be detected today by U.S. observers.

Officials have said there was no immediate health danger from the fallout.

Due to a weather freak, the radioactive cloud from the third nuclear test passed across to the North American continent ahead of fallout from the second blast.

Caught Above Siberia

Dr. Lester Machta, a U.S. Weather Bureau scientist, said that due to the weather at the time of Monday's second shot, the radioactive cloud was largely caught in a high pressure cell above northern Siberia.

The third test — touched off Tuesday—presumably was caught by strong winds and went scooting underneath the high pressure area toward the east.

Machta said the cloud from the third shot was moving at about 60 miles an hour and was due over this continent Friday night or today.

If no fallout is detected today, Machta said, U.S. scientists will presume that the third shot may have been exploded at high altitude. It would take longer for fallout from a high shot to tumble back down where it can be detected.

Below 40,000 Feet

Machta and other Weather Bureau scientists estimate that the first test was exploded below 40,000 feet. This is indicated, they say, by the relatively rapid arrival over the United States of radioactive debris from the initial blast Sept. 1.

Fallout from the first blast was detected earlier this week by a station in Alaska, but there have been no reports of spotting it elsewhere.

Machta said the cloud from the first test should begin passing over the Atlantic towards Europe by Sunday. He said there were two possible explanations as to why it had not been reported elsewhere:

1. The radioactive cloud may be on a course that takes it over

Union Won't Extend Strike Date: Reuther

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther says the United Auto Workers' labor contract negotiations with General Motors Corp. can drag on indefinitely unless shop committees and plant managers reach agreement on working conditions.

The UAW president said Friday night there isn't a chance of the union extending its 10 a. m. Monday strike deadline against 129 GM plants in the United States.

"The Sept. 11 date holds," he told newsmen after bargaining talks were recessed until 10 a.m. today. He said local unions have adequate time over the weekend to complete their negotiations. If they don't, he added, "this thing can go on forever."

Bossism Exchanged For Incompetence, Is Lefkowitz View

NEW YORK (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz declared today that Democrats had exchanged "an embarrassing symbol of bossism" for "an even more embarrassing symbol of incompetence" in Thursday's primary.

Formally opening what he called the city's "real campaign for the future," Lefkowitz — Republican candidate—predicted he would defeat Mayor Robert F. Wagner in the Nov. 7 mayoral election.

Bids SIC Air Data

Wagner, seeking a third successive four-year term, won the Democratic nomination for mayor in the primary by defeating organization — backed Arthur Levitt, the state comptroller.

Calling indebtedness "the toughest problem the city faces," Lefkowitz said New York City has four per cent of the nation's population and nine per cent of its municipal indebtedness.

Lefkowitz called on the state investigation commission (SIC) Friday to make public any information it might have on Mayor Wagner's official conduct while in office.

On another front, Lefkowitz asked an insurgent Republican, who lost the GOP nomination for a city council post to provide proof to back up his charge of fraud in the primary.

Claims Irregularities

The defeated candidate, Edward L. Nash, 29, claimed there were irregularities in his loss to Councilman Stanley M. Isaacs, 78, an organization Republican.

Nash said his attorneys were assembling the information asked by Lefkowitz and would send copies to Eleanor Uris, assistant attorney general in charge of the Elections Fraud Bureau, and to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan.

Chatter Turns Into Screams

First Grader Killed, 18 Hurt in Bus-Truck Crash

MORRIS, N.Y. (AP) — It was the third day of school and an early-morning fog hung over Route 23 as driver Bernard C. Barton turned the new Morris Central School bus across the highway toward a side road.

The excited chatter of the children quickly turned to screams and tears as a truck, loaded with bottled beer and soda pop, smashed into the side of the bus Friday.

A first-grader, Donald Bowers, 7, was killed. Eighteen other children were injured, none critically.

"The firs' time I saw that truck was when it came out of the fog," a shaken Barton told State Police.

The impact of the crash tipped the bus on its side. Barton, 43, said he wriggled through the broken windshield, ran to the rear of the bus and opened an escape door.

The truck driver, Arthur Goble, came to help and the two men lifted bleeding children from the vehicle. Motorists stopped to help. Some of the children in the front of the bus were lifted through the windows.

Te highway was slippery with beer, pop and gasoline.

The children, many of them crying, were placed on the grass before being transported to doctors' offices and the hospital.

"They were a pitiful sight. Some had glass still in their hair and they were cut and scratched," said a teacher.

Only four of the injured remained in the hospital today. They were not considered to be in serious condition.

The accident could have been more serious, the school principal pointed out. The bus was enroute to pick up 16 more children.

Donald Bowers was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bowers of this community northwest of Oneonta. Donald's brother, Lynn, 11, was among those hospitalized.

Hold Line, JFK to Steel

Almost as much attention was centered on the steel industry as on the automobile industry. A possible price increase to cover wage boosts due Oct. 1 was the subject at issue.

President Kennedy wrote to the heads of 12 steel companies, urging them to hold the line.

He said he believed "price stability in steel is essential if we are to maintain the economic vitality necessary to face confidently the trials and crises of our perilous world."

The President contended a steel price increase "could shatter the

Bossism Exchanged For Incompetence, Is Lefkowitz View

NEW YORK (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz declared today that Democrats had exchanged "an embarrassing symbol of bossism" for "an even more embarrassing symbol of incompetence" in Thursday's primary.

Formally opening what he called the city's "real campaign for the future," Lefkowitz — Republican candidate—predicted he would defeat Mayor Robert F. Wagner in the Nov. 7 mayoral election.

Bids SIC Air Data

Wagner, seeking a third successive four-year term, won the Democratic nomination for mayor in the primary by defeating organization — backed Arthur Levitt, the state comptroller.

Calling indebtedness "the toughest problem the city faces," Lefkowitz said New York City has four per cent of the nation's population and nine per cent of its municipal indebtedness.

Lefkowitz called on the state investigation commission (SIC) Friday to make public any information it might have on Mayor Wagner's official conduct while in office.

On another front, Lefkowitz asked an insurgent Republican, who lost the GOP nomination for a city council post to provide proof to back up his charge of fraud in the primary.

Claims Irregularities

The defeated candidate, Edward L. Nash, 29, claimed there were irregularities in his loss to Councilman Stanley M. Isaacs, 78, an organization Republican.

Nash said his attorneys were assembling the information asked by Lefkowitz and would send copies to Eleanor Uris, assistant attorney general in charge of the Elections Fraud Bureau, and to Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan.

'Little Joke in Bad Taste' Is DeGaulle's View on Plot

PARIS (AP) — President De Gaulle escaped injury in a bizarre assassination attempt with fire and explosives on a country road Friday night, official sources said today. The old soldier shruggged off the incident.

"This was just a little joke in bad taste," De Gaulle said.

The presidential limousine had sped safely through a wall of flame from an inflammable mixture apparently touched off to serve as the fuse for a plastic bomb. The plastic charge, weighing eight pounds, had failed to go off.

Man Is Seized

Police quickly arrested a man. There was no immediate indication whether he had anything to do with the incident.

Plastic explosives are frequently used by right-wing Algerian settlers in acts of terrorism against De Gaulle's Algerian policies.

Offficial sources said De Gaulle ordered the cars in his party halted after they had passed through the flames. He got out, hunched his shoulders, and said scoffingly: "This was just a little joke in bad taste."

Resumes Trip

Then the 70-year-old president got back into his limousine and resumed the trip to his country home about 150 miles east of Paris.

De Gaulle at first insisted that the incident not be made public because he considered it "of no importance at all," government sources said. Later, he relented when his advisors told him word of it was certain to get out.

A palace communique said:

"An inflammable mixture along with an explosive charge last night was placed between Nogent and Romilly, on the road that the chief of state was taking to Colombey-les-Deux Eglises.

CHARLES DEGAULLE

"This inflammable mixture took fire without provoking an explosion towards 2200 hours (10 p.m.) at the moment when the presidential cars passed. The speed of the cars was not slackened.

Area Surrounded

"Gen. De Gaulle arrived at Colombey-les-Deux Eglises at the scheduled time."

One of the regular gendarmes patrols located at intervals along the Paris-Colombey route dashed to the area when the flames shot up.

The area was quickly surrounded, and an unidentified man was arrested. There was no immediate indication whether he had anything to do with the incident.

Investigators said that the "inflammable mixture" was apparently intended to serve as a fuse for the plastic charge but something went amiss.

Debris Due Over U. S. Today

Soviet Fallout Poses No Health Danger Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radioactive fallout from the Soviet Union's third nuclear test may be detected today by U.S. observers.

Officials have said there was no immediate health danger from the fallout.

Due to a weather freak, the radioactive cloud from the third nuclear test passed across to the North American continent ahead of fallout from the second blast.

Caught Above Siberia

Dr. Lester Machta, a U.S. Weather Bureau scientist, said that due to the weather at the time of Monday's second shot, the radioactive cloud was largely caught in a high pressure cell above northern Siberia.

The third test — touched off Tuesday—presumably was caught by strong winds and went scooting underneath the high pressure area toward the east.

Machta said the cloud from the third shot was moving at about 60 miles an hour and was due over this continent Friday night or today.

If no fallout is detected today, Machta said, U.S. scientists will presume that the third shot may have been exploded at high altitude. It would take longer for fallout from a high shot to tumble back down where it can be detected.

Below 40,000 Feet

Machta and other Weather Bureau scientists estimate that the first test was exploded below 40,000 feet. This is indicated, they say, by the relatively rapid arrival over the United States of radioactive debris from the initial blast Sept. 1.

Fallout from the first blast was detected earlier this week by a station in Alaska, but there have been no reports of spotting it elsewhere.

Machta said the cloud from the first test should begin passing over the Atlantic towards Europe by Sunday. He said there were two possible explanations as to why it had not been reported elsewhere:

1. The radioactive cloud may be on a course that takes it over

Dishonest K's View Of Offer

Big Power Study Of Problems Asked

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev formally rejected today the U.S.-British appeal for a ban on nuclear tests in the earth's atmosphere. He suggested a big power study of major world problems to stave off the threat of nuclear war.

"It goes without saying that the Soviet government cannot and will not agree to such a deal," Khrushchev said of the Western proposal for the embargo on further atmospheric tests.

Scorns West Attempt

In a broadcast statement concerning the move by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Khrushchev said they were trying to divorce the question of weapon testing from the over-all problem of disarmament.

They were trying to have the question considered "in isolation," he complained in identical notes delivered to the U.S. and British embassies.

Khrushchev went on: "Every line of their statement revealed a desire to ensure, cost what it may, for the Western powers and their allies in aggressive military blocs, unilateral military advantages to the detriment of the security interests of the Soviet Union and the other socialist states."

Khrushchev called the Western offer dishonest.

Issues Counterappeal

At the same time he issued a counterappeal to the United States and Britain for a big power study of major world problems to stave off the threat of nuclear war over Berlin.

Kennedy and Macmillan had appealed to Khrushchev for an all-time, unpoliced ban on nuclear testing in the atmosphere.

Asks 'Good Faith' Talks

He said, "Let us seek seriously, in good faith, a solution to the question of concluding a German peace treaty so as to arrest in good time the sliding of states into the inferno of a rocket-nuclear war. Then everything will be set in place again; there will not only be no nuclear tests but even no threat of a nuclear war."

Union Won't Extend Strike Date: Reuther

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther says the United Auto Workers' labor contract negotiations with General Motors Corp. can drag on indefinitely unless shop committees and plant managers reach agreement on working conditions.

The UAW president said Friday night there isn't a chance of the union extending its 10 a. m. Monday strike deadline against 129 GM plants in the United States.

"The Sept. 11 date holds," he told newsmen after bargaining talks were recessed until 10 a.m. today. He said local unions have adequate time over the weekend to complete their negotiations. If they don't, he added, "this thing can go on forever."

Chatter Turns Into Screams

First Grader Killed, 18 Hurt in Bus-Truck Crash

MORRIS, N.Y. (AP) — It was the third day of school and an early-morning fog hung over Route 23 as driver Bernard C. Barton turned the new Morris Central School bus across the highway toward a side road.

The excited chatter of the children quickly turned to screams and tears as a truck, loaded with bottled beer and soda pop, smashed into the side of the bus Friday.

A first-grader, Donald Bowers, 7, was killed. Eighteen other children were injured, none critically.

"The firs' time I saw that truck was when it came out of the fog," a shaken Barton told State Police.

The impact of the crash tipped the bus on its side. Barton, 43, said he wriggled through the broken windshield, ran to the rear of the bus and opened an escape door.

The truck driver, Arthur Goble, came to help and the two men lifted bleeding children from the vehicle. Motorists stopped to help. Some of the children in the front of the bus were lifted through the windows.

Te highway was slippery with beer, pop and gasoline.

The children, many of them crying, were placed on the grass before being transported to doctors' offices and the hospital.

"They were a pitiful sight. Some had glass still in their hair and they were cut and scratched," said a teacher.

Only four of the injured remained in the hospital today. They were not considered to be in serious condition.

The accident could have been more serious, the school principal pointed out. The bus was enroute to pick up 16 more children.

Donald Bowers was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bowers of this community northwest of Oneonta. Donald's brother, Lynn, 11, was among those hospitalized.

Monopoly of Blondes at End

New Miss America Will Be Named Tonight at Pageant

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—10-5-4-3-2-1. That's the way the countdown will go tonight, and when it reaches its climax—along about midnight—one of the 55 lissome lassies competing here will be launched on a thrilling year's reign as Miss America.

After three nights of preliminary competition the big prize—the Miss America crown, which carries with it a $10,000 scholarship plus personal appearance tours for a year which will net the winner about $75,000—is up for grabs.

Early in the evening, 10 semi-finalists will be chosen. Later on, the field will be narrowed to five finalists.

East, West, North and South all were represented among the six winnners of the three nights of preliminary competition. Friday night, a red-haired California cutie and a brunette from North Carolina broke the monopoly blondes held during Wednesday's and Thursday's competition.

Susan Ann Henryson of Fresno, Calif., took the talent award in the third and final round. The swim suit prize went to Maria Beale Fletcher, an Asheville, N.C., beauty who measures 35-34-35.

The POWER of FAITH

PROMINENT MEN OF FAITH

Bishop Gerald Kennedy

"The little fearful man, who has only his timid candle burning, will find it being blown out by every wind of adversity. But when a man rests in the assurance of the Spirit, the wind . . . fans the flame of his faith into a mighty blaze," believes Bishop Gerald Kennedy.

The past President of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church has been courageous in his convictions, yet understanding of others' points of view. He has inspired through his books and is considered one of America's greatest preachers: "The spiritual man is neither perfect nor static . . . He is still faced with dilemmas. But he knows at last that there is enough power available if he is willing to . . . surrender to the will of God."

The POWER of FAITH

PROMINENT MEN OF FAITH

Bishop Gerald Kennedy

"The little fearful man, who has only his timid candle burning, will find it being blown out by every wind of adversity. But when a man rests in the assurance of the Spirit, the wind . . . fans the flame of his faith into a mighty blaze," believes Bishop Gerald Kennedy.

The past President of the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church has been courageous in his convictions, yet understanding of others' points of view. He has inspired through his books and is considered one of America's greatest preachers: "The spiritual man is neither perfect nor static . . . He is still faced with dilemmas. But he knows at last that there is enough power available if he is willing to . . . surrender to the will of God."

JOSEPH H. EBBERS

All musical selections to be heard at this time, including two hymns, and a choir anthem, were composed by Mr. Ebbers. The anthem, a choral for three voices, based on the 119th Psalm, is entitled Teach Me O Lord.

Mr. Ebbers, a resident of New York City and Creek Locks, is a graduate of the School of Performing Arts, New York City. He is now working toward his BS degree in Music Education at Fredonia.

The music has been especially composed for the Bloomingdale Reformed Church and its adult choir. Mr. Ebbers' arrangement of the Call to Worship has been accepted by the choir to be used at the churches' regular services of worship. The composer will accompany the choir.

Seminary Intern Named to Local Reformed Church

JOHN REED

An Austin, Tex., man, John Reed, will begin an intern relationship with the Fair Street Reformed Church Sunday, serving as seminary associate during the church year and summer student pastor in the summer of 1962.

Mr. Reed, a native of Fort Worth, Tex., will be introduced to the congregation Sunday morning during the service of worship. At 4 p. m. the Youth Commission will honor him at a reception in the church parlor. All members of the congregation may attend, especially young people and their parents.

A Methodist until five years ago, Mr. Reed has since joined the Presbyterian Church in the United States and is preparing to enter the ministry of that church after completing his studies at the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary. He has attended Texas Christian University, where, after majoring in Religion and Spanish, he obtained a Teacher's Certificate in the Texas public schools. Part of his college training was spent at Instituto Technologico in Monterey, Mex., where he did advanced work in Spanish.

Mr. Reed has had previous experience in the work of the parish ministry having served as student minister for two years at the Northern Presbyterian Church, Crowley, Tex. He comes to Kingston after a summer in the First Presbyterian Church in Little Rock, Ark., where he has served as assistant to the pastor and director of city-wide youth activities.

As seminary associate in the local congregation, Mr. Reed will assume a wide variety of activities that will better prepare him for the parish ministry. Beside preaching and calling responsibilities, he will superintend the youth groups and teach a release time education class, working closely with the pastor and the consistory of the church. Each Sunday morning he will assist the pastor in the service of worship and will coordinate such events as are connected with the Friday night Youth Canteen.

BOARD OF FAIR STREET YOUTH CANTEEN—Discussing plans for the first youth canteen of the season Friday night, Sept. 15, at the Fair Street Reformed Church are Bryant Burroughs, Fredric Van Deusen, Susan Emerick, Carol Knapp and Ronald Storm, members of the youth canteen board. A community program, the canteen is open to 8th, 9th and 10th graders. Membership cards will be available at the door. Recreation facilities and music for dancing will be provided in the parish room of the church. For the first night a combo has been contacted to furnish music. One special activity a month is planned with proceeds from membership dues. All programs will be chaperoned by responsible adults. (Freeman photo)

Their 18 Children Watch

As Widower, Widow Take Vows at Altar

By HAROLD V. STREETER

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—Their 18 children will be watching from two reserved pews as a 43-year-old Navy warrant officer weds the 31-year-old widow of a Navy flier late today in historic old Carmel Mission.

After the ceremony, the 18 will troop back to a battleship-gray house where carpenters are busy adding three more bedrooms to the present five, increasing the bathrooms from three to five and the living space from 2,700 to 5,400 square feet.

Relatives to Babyset

Relatives will stay with the children at the $22,000 home while Chief Warrant Officer Francis Louis Beardsley, father of 10, and the former Helen North, mother of eight, go on a honeymoon.

"The children already have had trial runs together and they hit it off great; no blowups," said Beardsley, whose wife died last year after a sudden and brief illness.

Mrs. North, of San Leandro, across the bay from San Francisco, was widowed by the crash of a jet bomber.

The children, ranging from Beardsley's 18-month-old Joan to his 17-year-old Michael, have been together in the house ahead of the wedding, so the older ones could attend the Carmel Mission school. The fall session started Tuesday.

"We have one in every grade except the first and fourth," Beardsley said.

Eleven of the 18 are girls. Beardsley has seven girls and three boys, Mrs. North four girls and four boys.

Laundry Biggest Problem

Biggest problem? Laundry.

Finances do not pose too much of a worry. Beardsley, who attends the Navy Postgraduate School at Monterey, draws $730 monthly in pay, subsistence and quarters. Mrs. North gets $470 a month in service indemnity and Social Security.

As for transportation, Beardsley already has a station wagon and two passenger cars but "we're going to have to add another station wagon."

When Mrs. North heard through a friend about the tragedy in Beardsley's life, she sent him a copy of a prayer. Beardsley in turn sent her a copy of a prayer. Then they met and fell in love.

"She looks," beamed Beardsley, "enough like my first wife to be her sister."

Even Kids Dig Crazy Bubbles Of Welk's Band

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is Lawrence Welk's 10th year on TV —and now even the kids dig the crazy bubbles.

In Welk's early days, they used to say that a man's awkward age came when he was too old to chase girls and too young to listen to Lawrence.

'Calcutta' Was First

But all that changed in the last year, with two Welk albums that hit the million mark—"Calcutta" and "Yellow Bird."

"For years I never made any money on albums," says Lawrence. "I was about ready to give up recording."

Then he switched to Dot Records, headed by a golfing pal, Randy Wood.

"It was Randy who suggested that we record 'Calcutta,' a type of tune we had never done before. I figured if we were going to make that kind of a switch, let's go all the way.

"Instead of the usual piano, I used a harpsichord with a rock 'n 'roll beat. Now I make money on records."

The new Welk sound made all the disc jockeys' top ten charts. He soon found himself competing with Fabian, Bobby Darin and Elvis.

Lawrence first started on TV on a local station for his longtime auto sponsor. His popularity can be attested by what happened to the advertising agency that handled the show.

From 3 to 50

The first year there were three people in the office. Three years later when he went on network TV there were 25. Now there are 50.

What's the secret of Lawrence's popularity? His own answer: "I love my work and I love people."

His band now plays at the Hollywood Palladium, and they average about 15,000 couples for the Friday and Saturday night dates.

What has been the greatest thrill of those 10 years?

"The night President Eisenhower's secretary called me from Palm Springs, and said: 'The President would like you to play golf with him tomorrow.'

"I could only think of the old sod farmhouse that I grew up in back in North Dakota. What a wonderful country this is."

AllowEmbassyAid To Visit Student In Soviet Prison

MOSCOW (AP) — A U.S. Embassy official was allowed to visit William Makinen, an American student serving eight years in a Soviet prison on charges of spying.

Joseph B. Norbury Jr., second secretary at the embassy, returned to Moscow today after spending 1½ hours with Makinen in his jail cell in Kiev Friday but declined to give out any details of his visit.

The visit was unique in that the Soviets have rarely permitted embassy officials to visit Americans imprisoned in the Soviet Union, although such a right is provided for by treaty.

Makinen, a native of Chassell, Mich., was convicted by a Soviet military court on Sept. 5 on charges of espionage during a tourist visit. The prosecution claimed he confessed.

When Makinen's conviction was announced the State Department protested and denied he was a U.S. spy.

Makinen, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania in 1960, was granted a Fulbright scholarship to study in Germany. He is fluent in nine languages.

He disappeared while on a tour of the Soviet Union. The Soviets later disclosed he had been seized July 27.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

ROGER E. SPEAR

Be Careful When Making Debenture Investment

Q. "A friend, retired and income minded, is considering investing in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific 5 per cent income debentures. How much do these bonds yield and do you consider them good investment?" L.G.

A. The particular debentures your friend is interested in offer a current yield of around 9 per cent but, despite this, have little investment appeal. They were originally offered in 1955 in exchange for an older preferred issue in order to save on taxes and also to give the former shareholders a prior claim on earnings.

Unlike most debt obligations, however, the interest was made payable only to the extent earned. The uncertainty of this arrangement combined with poor earnings reports has caused the income 5's to sell down to a point where their present yield indicates some doubt that payments will be fully maintained.

Of course, a turnabout is always possible, but I feel that a significant recovery is not yet in the cards. I think that your retired friend had better give up his thoughts of such a liberal yield because the risk involved is too great.

For both income and safety, I suggest a look at Pennsylvania Electric 5¼'s of 1986, an investment quality debenture which currently sells to yield 5 per cent if held to maturity.

Q. "What is your opinion of the growth potentials of Atlas Corp. and Magnavox?" J.A.

A. In my opinion, these two situations are poles apart. Atlas Corp. is strictly a high risk speculation with seemingly little hope for early improvement.

Magnavox, on the other hand, has turned in an outstanding market performance. One of the leading companies in the TV, radio and hi-fi manufacturing business, Magnavox also has a good position in defense and industrial electronics.

The shares were recently split three-for-one, and I think they are capable of selling much higher over a period of time.

Guilty Plea Is Given by Spina in Tire Sale Racket

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—One of the key figures in an alleged racket in tire sales to the City of Utica has pleaded guilty to charges of first-degree grand larceny and fraud.

The plea was made yesterday by Rocco Spina, president of Rock's Tire and Battery Inc. His company, through an attorney, also pleaded guilty to charges of grand larceny and fraud.

Justice John S. Marsh of State Supreme Court deferred sentencing.

A grand jury probing vice and crime in Utica indicted Spina and four others on charges of fraud in city purchases of tires from 1953 to 1958.

The indictment accused Joseph N. Bollettieri, former Utica street superintendent, of accepting bribes for designating Rock's as tire supplier to the city. The city paid for tires that were not delivered, the indictment stated.

Bollettieri is serving 5 to 10 years in Attica State Prison for charging to the city $965 in building materials used on his home. He is charged with accepting bribes, grand larceny and fraud in the tire case.

The others are scheduled to go on trial Sept. 25.

Says CD Program Inadequate for Long-Term Need

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — The U.S. civil defense program is inadequate for long-term survival, a Cornell University physicist says.

Dr. Jay Orear, attending a conference on science and world affairs, said fallout shelters provided protection against lethal radiation but "what do you do after you crawl out of your shelter?"

"How do you find food, water, fuel and other essentials?," he asked.

He called for creation of community storage depots that would hold a year's supply of food and water.

A specialist in the hazards of nuclear fallout, Orear said he did not own a fallout shelter and knew no physicist who did.

Modern Church Is Oddity in Tyrol

By ERIC WAHA

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)— A modern church points a pencil-like steeple to the skies over conservative Tyrol as if to call attention to its existence among the thousands of onion-shaped church towers.

"This is the only modern church in Tyrol," said its architect, young and heavy-set Tyrolean Josef Lackner, 30. "I am afraid it will remain the only modern House of God for some time."

This Alpine province is called "the holyland Tyrol" because of its arch-conservative Catholicism. It must have taken some "revolutionary thinking" to stage a contest for a new church at the small community of Neu-Arzl and to admit modern architects.

Neu-Arzl numbers 2,500 people. It is near the provincial capital, Innsbruck.

Angry Young Man

Lackner, a blond and now somewhat angry young man, took a look at his church and remarked: "I was given the opportunity of building this church because I won the contest with my project. I think this was the last contest for some time."

Lackner is duly grateful to the church authorities and to provincial leaders for giving him the chance. But he leaves no doubt that he is bitter about the lack of understanding for modern art which he said he encountered during construction.

Lackner said some modern art objects have already been removed from the church on orders of his employers.

Remove Modern Art

"They took out the modern statue of Christ on the cross, they insisted on putting in some things I did not want—like this carpet —and now I am fighting for my altar paintings."

Lackner was asked how the population felt about the church.

"Some like it and some don't," he said. "Most of them are proud, however, of the attention it gets. Many people come here from far just to see it."

The church is made of concrete and glass, the building materials of the 20th century. The steeple stands some distance from the church.

Construction was begun in 1959 and completed late last year.

JOSEPH H. EBBERS

Original compositions by Joseph H. Ebbers, music student at the State University College of Education, Fredonia, will be performed at the 11 a. m. service of Worship Sunday at the Bloomingdale Reformed Church of Bloomington.

All musical selections to be heard at this time, including two hymns, and a choir anthem, were composed by Mr. Ebbers. The anthem, a choral for three voices, based on the 119th Psalm, is entitled Teach Me O Lord.

Mr. Ebbers, a resident of New York City and Creek Locks, is a graduate of the School of Performing Arts, New York City. He is now working toward his BS degree in Music Education at Fredonia.

The music has been especially composed for the Bloomingdale Reformed Church and its adult choir. Mr. Ebbers' arrangement of the Call to Worship has been accepted by the choir to be used at the churches' regular services of worship. The composer will accompany the choir.

The Rev. Keigi Kuniyasu, a minister of the United Church of Christ in Japan, will be guest speaker. The program will include a hymnsing, reports from Silver Bay Missionary Conference delegates and the showing of a new colored film entitled A Day for Witness.

All Reformed Church people of the Classis may attend. Those attending will bring a box supper.

JOHN REED

An Austin, Tex., man, John Reed, will begin an intern relationship with the Fair Street Reformed Church Sunday, serving as seminary associate during the church year and summer student pastor in the summer of 1962.

Mr. Reed, a native of Fort Worth, Tex., will be introduced to the congregation Sunday morning during the service of worship. At 4 p. m. the Youth Commission will honor him at a reception in the church parlor. All members of the congregation may attend, especially young people and their parents.

A Methodist until five years ago, Mr. Reed has since joined the Presbyterian Church in the United States and is preparing to enter the ministry of that church after completing his studies at the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary. He has attended Texas Christian University, where, after majoring in Religion and Spanish, he obtained a Teacher's Certificate in the Texas public schools. Part of his college training was spent at Instituto Technologico in Monterey, Mex., where he did advanced work in Spanish.

Mr. Reed has had previous experience in the work of the parish ministry having served as student minister for two years at the Northern Presbyterian Church, Crowley, Tex. He comes to Kingston after a summer in the First Presbyterian Church in Little Rock, Ark., where he has served as assistant to the pastor and director of city-wide youth activities.

As seminary associate in the local congregation, Mr. Reed will assume a wide variety of activities that will better prepare him for the parish ministry. Beside preaching and calling responsibilities, he will superintend the youth groups and teach a release time education class, working closely with the pastor and the consistory of the church. Each Sunday morning he will assist the pastor in the service of worship and will coordinate such events as are connected with the Friday night Youth Canteen.

BOARD OF FAIR STREET YOUTH CANTEEN—Discussing plans for the first youth canteen of the season Friday night, Sept. 15, at the Fair Street Reformed Church are Bryant Burroughs, Fredric Van Deusen, Susan Emerick, Carol Knapp and Ronald Storm, members of the youth canteen board. A community program, the canteen is open to 8th, 9th and 10th graders. Membership cards will be available at the door. Recreation facilities and music for dancing will be provided in the parish room of the church. For the first night a combo has been contacted to furnish music. One special activity a month is planned with proceeds from membership dues. All programs will be chaperoned by responsible adults. (Freeman photo)

Their 18 Children Watch

By HAROLD V. STREETER

CARMEL, Calif. (AP)—Their 18 children will be watching from two reserved pews as a 43-year-old Navy warrant officer weds the 31-year-old widow of a Navy flier late today in historic old Carmel Mission.

After the ceremony, the 18 will troop back to a battleship-gray house where carpenters are busy adding three more bedrooms to the present five, increasing the bathrooms from three to five and the living space from 2,700 to 5,400 square feet.

Relatives to Babyset

Relatives will stay with the children at the $22,000 home while Chief Warrant Officer Francis Louis Beardsley, father of 10, and the former Helen North, mother of eight, go on a honeymoon.

"The children already have had trial runs together and they hit it off great; no blowups," said Beardsley, whose wife died last year after a sudden and brief illness.

Mrs. North, of San Leandro, across the bay from San Francisco, was widowed by the crash of a jet bomber.

The children, ranging from Beardsley's 18-month-old Joan to his 17-year-old Michael, have been together in the house ahead of the wedding, so the older ones could attend the Carmel Mission school. The fall session started Tuesday.

"We have one in every grade except the first and fourth," Beardsley said.

Eleven of the 18 are girls. Beardsley has seven girls and three boys, Mrs. North four girls and four boys.

Laundry Biggest Problem

Biggest problem? Laundry.

Finances do not pose too much of a worry. Beardsley, who attends the Navy Postgraduate School at Monterey, draws $730 monthly in pay, subsistence and quarters. Mrs. North gets $470 a month in service indemnity and Social Security.

As for transportation, Beardsley already has a station wagon and two passenger cars but "we're going to have to add another station wagon."

When Mrs. North heard through a friend about the tragedy in Beardsley's life, she sent him a copy of a prayer. Beardsley in turn sent her a copy of a prayer. Then they met and fell in love.

"She looks," beamed Beardsley, "enough like my first wife to be her sister."

Allow Embassy Aid To Visit Student In Soviet Prison

MOSCOW (AP) — A U.S. Embassy official was allowed to visit William Makinen, an American student serving eight years in a Soviet prison on charges of spying.

Joseph B. Norbury Jr., second secretary at the embassy, returned to Moscow today after spending 1½ hours with Makinen in his jail cell in Kiev Friday but declined to give out any details of his visit.

The visit was unique in that the Soviets have rarely permitted embassy officials to visit Americans imprisoned in the Soviet Union, although such a right is provided for by treaty.

Makinen, a native of Chassell, Mich., was convicted by a Soviet military court on Sept. 5 on charges of espionage during a tourist visit. The prosecution claimed he confessed.

When Makinen's conviction was announced the State Department protested and denied he was a U.S. spy.

Makinen, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania in 1960, was granted a Fulbright scholarship to study in Germany. He is fluent in nine languages.

He disappeared while on a tour of the Soviet Union. The Soviets later disclosed he had been seized July 27.

Even Kids Dig Crazy Bubbles Of Welk's Band

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is Lawrence Welk's 10th year on TV —and now even the kids dig the crazy bubbles.

In Welk's early days, they used to say that a man's awkward age came when he was too old to chase girls and too young to listen to Lawrence.

'Calcutta' Was First

But all that changed in the last year, with two Welk albums that hit the million mark—"Calcutta" and "Yellow Bird."

"For years I never made any money on albums," says Lawrence. "I was about ready to give up recording."

Then he switched to Dot Records, headed by a golfing pal, Randy Wood.

"It was Randy who suggested that we record 'Calcutta,' a type of tune we had never done before. I figured if we were going to make that kind of a switch, let's go all the way.

"Instead of the usual piano, I used a harpsichord with a rock 'n 'roll beat. Now I make money on records."

The new Welk sound made all the disc jockeys' top ten charts. He soon found himself competing with Fabian, Bobby Darin and Elvis.

Lawrence first started on TV on a local station for his longtime auto sponsor. His popularity can be attested by what happened to the advertising agency that handled the show.

From 3 to 50

The first year there were three people in the office. Three years later when he went on network TV there were 25. Now there are 50.

What's the secret of Lawrence's popularity? His own answer: "I love my work and I love people."

His band now plays at the Hollywood Palladium, and they average about 15,000 couples for the Friday and Saturday night dates.

What has been the greatest thrill of those 10 years?

"The night President Eisenhower's secretary called me from Palm Springs, and said: 'The President would like you to play golf with him tomorrow.'

"I could only think of the old sod farmhouse that I grew up in back in North Dakota. What a wonderful country this is."

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "A friend, retired and income minded, is considering investing in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific 5 per cent income debentures. How much do these bonds yield and do you consider them good investment?" L.G.

A. The particular debentures your friend is interested in offer a current yield of around 9 per cent but, despite this, have little investment appeal. They were originally offered in 1955 in exchange for an older preferred issue in order to save on taxes and also to give the former shareholders a prior claim on earnings.

Unlike most debt obligations, however, the interest was made payable only to the extent earned. The uncertainty of this arrangement combined with poor earnings reports has caused the income 5's to sell down to a point where their present yield indicates some doubt that payments will be fully maintained.

Of course, a turnabout is always possible, but I feel that a significant recovery is not yet in the cards. I think that your retired friend had better give up his thoughts of such a liberal yield because the risk involved is too great.

For both income and safety, I suggest a look at Pennsylvania Electric 5¼'s of 1986, an investment quality debenture which currently sells to yield 5 per cent if held to maturity.

Q. "What is your opinion of the growth potentials of Atlas Corp. and Magnavox?" J.A.

A. In my opinion, these two situations are poles apart. Atlas Corp. is strictly a high risk speculation with seemingly little hope for early improvement.

Magnavox, on the other hand, has turned in an outstanding market performance. One of the leading companies in the TV, radio and hi-fi manufacturing business, Magnavox also has a good position in defense and industrial electronics.

The shares were recently split three-for-one, and I think they are capable of selling much higher over a period of time.

ACTING LIKE THE DEVIL

The human penchant for seeming to be on the side of the angels but acting like the devil was neatly illustrated in Indiana over the Labor Day weekend. It was illustrated in a way that showed how this penchant can often lead to tragedy.

Truck drivers in Indiana, as in many other states, were keeping their lights on in daylight as a safety reminder. A lot of other motorists got into the spirit of the thing and turned on their headlights, too.

One of the latter was stopped by state police. He explained that his lights were on as a contribution to the safe-driving reminder. The police, it turned out, had no objection to this. What the police objected to was that a police aircraft had clocked the motorist at 93 miles per hour.

There you have it: the man was "doing his bit" for traffic safety by riding with headlights on. To that extent, he was on the side of the angels. But he drove like the devil; he was a hurtling menace to himself and everyone he encountered on the highway. This was an extreme example of the human penchant mentioned above. But there are plenty of other examples. They all prove that lip service, going through the motions — put it how you will — is not enough.

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK

As the administration's chief economist, Walter Heller can hardly be blamed for a bit of optimism over the prospects for business. In a talk at the University of Wisconsin's School of Banking, Heller professed to discern scarcely a cloud on the economic horizon.

Reviewing the bright spots — among them a better than expected increase in gross national product—which could bring about a balanced federal budget, he seemed more concerned with the possibility that the Federal Reserve Board might act to nip the recovery in the bud. In the administration's view, this could happen easily were the Fed to suddenly decrease commercial banks' lendable reserves and thus cut business expansion plans.

But this is a tightrope the Federal Reserve Board has had to walk before. For although any administration perfers a high level of business activity (there are no better politics in the world) a boom inevitably brings with it the danger of inflation. Between these two pressures the FRB must make up its mind what money policies are best in the public's interest. The Board will almost surely restrict credit if the wheels of industry begin to turn too fast. While this action might tend to dull Heller's optimism a bit, most would agree that it would be better for the nation than another round of inflation.

SUMMER IS A-GOING OUT

Though fall doesn't officially begin for a few more days, and the fine September weather behaves like there's no tomorrow, anyone who has school-age children or has passed a school recently knows that one more summer is long gone.

The companies, regiments, armies of kids trooping back to books and classes are a surer sign of summer's end than anything you can read in Mother Nature. (Incidentally, need any motorist be reminded that extra special alertness is called for now when children, school buses and schools are near?)

Where did summer go? It seemed as if it had hardly arrived. The passing of summer always seems sad somehow, yet that feeling doesn't last. The summer hiatus was nice, but it's good to watch the leaves turn again perhaps it's because we know it has to end that we like summer so much.

THE PROBLEM OF EDUCATION

Soon the schools and colleges will re-open and boys and girls will hurl themselves into work which is designed to build their careers, to form their characters, to improve them culturally. Our system of education has come in for very sharp criticism on several sides.

The humanists feel that our students get very little of the humanities, the eternal values of learning, during a four years' course. They feel that the youngsters are being robbed of their time, their money and their opportunities by an inadequate probing into the nearly 10,000 years of human culture which is available to them. Some regard the system of majors as unproductive of the best values that a college can provide.

On the other hand, many parents and employers complain that young people are graduated from our colleges and universities without any skills, any tools, any training in the acquirement of knowledge and the application of what they learned to their life work. In a word, they feel that they are wasting their time.

The humanists say that college is not a trade school; that if the young person wants to master a trade, he should go to a technical school that makes a specialty of his subject. The practical person wants to know why the student, after four years of high school and four years of college, is unfit for anything in particular. Girls can find jobs as secretaries or elementary school teachers although they are trained for neither; boys become stock-brokers or clerks where, if they can learn fast, they can make some money. But how many stock-brokers or bankers have you met who know any economics at all? For them not to know the technical basis of their trade is as wrong as for a stenographer not to be able to spell or for a teacher of history to know no history. The practical man asks about tools; the humanist asks about knowledge. Surely after four years, a student should have one or the other, if not both. The question that needs to be asked is why there are so many complaints about what should be the ordinary results of education.

No person can possibly be regarded as educated or cultured who does not know the language and literature and history, at least, of his own people. That, of course, is just a start but it is an essential. No one can constructively contribute to the welfare of his country who does not understand its form and method of government. One meets men who have degrees and even Phi Beta Kappa keys who know nothing about their government, who have no understanding of the techniques of government, who talk about democracy but they have no concept of what the law has to say about that. Such a person might become all excited about some particular issue without any regard as to how it fits into the entire mosaic of his country's structure.

This form of ignorance is not expected of an educated person, just as it is not expected that a person shall not have read the literature of his language. Students go through high school and college whose knowledge of the literature of their native language is as alien as that of a foreign tongue. They therefore are unfamiliar with the roots of their culture. They may have a smattering of Hemingway as they have of Sartre but they are not grounded in Shakespeare or Milton; as for Chaucer, they heard about him and they have read a poem of Longfellow and maybe Poe.

The value of literature is not only amusement. Its main purpose is to bring the reader close to the nature, the character, the ideals of a people. No one can understand the America of today, particularly our form of government, our insistence upon individualism with a deep communal responsibility, who has not steeped himself in British history upon which our institutions are based.

Our problem then is to review our entire system of education from the elementary school to the graduate courses in our universities to find a technique for handling both cultural and vocational subjects without taking so many years of a person's life. President Kirk of Columbia University has recommended the three semester year which would help to solve the problem of inadequate education, provided we do not make the third semester a Summer School makeshift. All this requires much thinking out and much discussion.

Q—Thank you for your directions for ridding humans of lice with (Kwell) shampoo. But how in the world do you get mites out of upholstered furniture, rugs, etc.? I've used all sort of sprays systematically once a month for months and I can't seem to get any results.

A—I may be wrong but I think you've misstated the problem. Most commercial insecticides are enormously effective. I'm sure you've debugged your furniture, rugs, etc. Perhaps what's happening is re-infection by household pets. Next time you spray, include Fido and/or Tabby. And then just see that they do their relaxing on the kitchen floor instead of on your parlor rugs and furniture.

Q—My teen-age daughter needs plastic surgery for a reshaping of her nose. Can you furnish me with the name of reliable surgeons in our locality?

A—Write Miss Estelle E. Hillerich, of 4647 Pershing Avenue, St. Louis 8, Mo., Corresponding Secretary of the American Board of Plastic Surgery. Give your address and enclose a stamped envelope for the reply.

Q—What objections are there to fluoridation of community water supplies?

A—Writing in the official organ of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health, the Director of Dental Health asserts that the antifluoridationists are "an assortment of people ranging from some skeptics to those who just naturally gravitate to opposition groups of all kinds. They are frequently," he adds, "people who dislike change and always suspect the worst."

In this instance, according to the aforementioned director, Dr. Linwood G. Grace, "the worst" includes a "plot by the communists to gain control of the country"; a "great scheme of the aluminum industry to dispose of one of its waste products at a profit" and/or feeding of "rat poison" to an uninformed public.

Yet the American Medical Association, the American Dental Association, the United States Public Health Service and many state boards of health (none Communist-controlled or affiliates of the aluminum company) all endorse fluoridation. These endorsements have been based on numerous statistical studies the latest of which comes from Corvallis, Ore.

After fluoridation of the municipal water supply for seven years, "dental caries of the permanent and primary teeth (of school children) was markedly reduced as compared with the incidence prevailing among children of the corresponding age before water fluoridation." There was also a "marked reduction in the numbers of decayed and missing teeth," state Drs. Tanks and Storvick writing in the Journal of Pediatrics.

No harmful effects of fluoridation were noted.

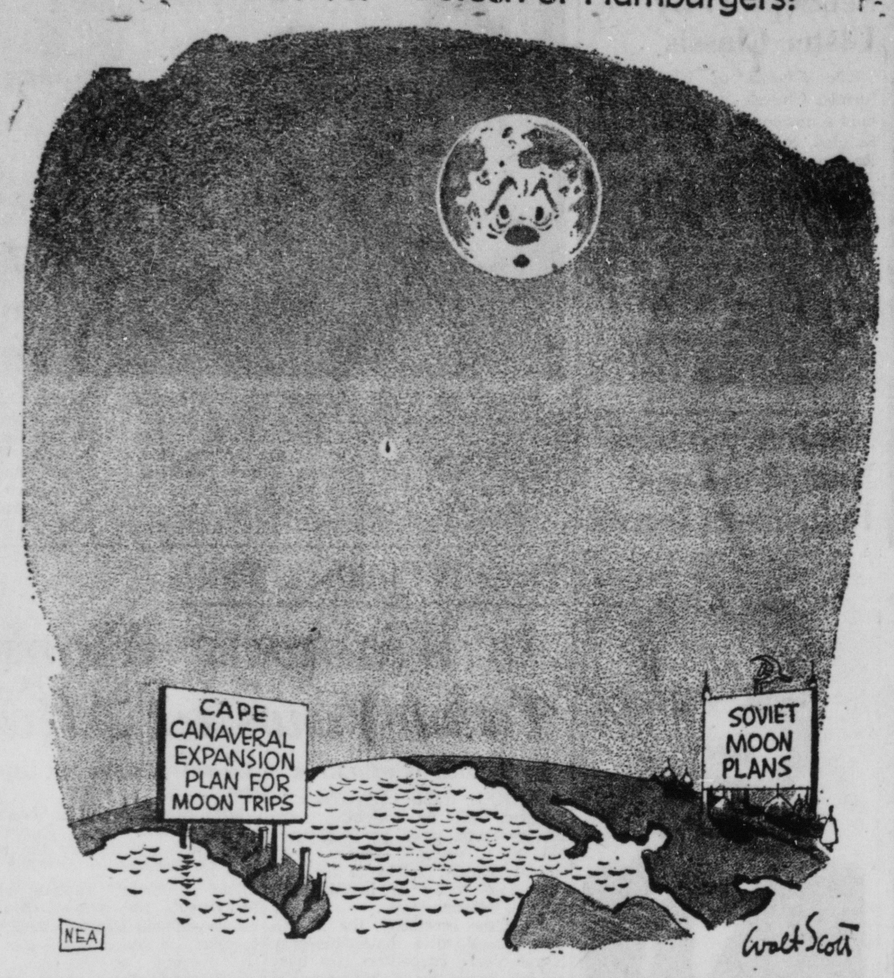
"What'll I Serve?---Borsch or Hamburgers?"



Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Russia's 100-million-ton bomb scare came up for brief discussion when President Kennedy's diarmament adviser John J. McCloy visited Nikita Khrushchev at his Sochi resort on the Black Sea July 27.

In answer to a question about it from McCloy, Khrushchev replied that his scientists had told him they could build bigger bombs, up to 100-megaton size.

Khrushchev then revealed that he had a rocket which could lift it. But such a bomb would have to be tested before it could become operational, and he didn't want to make the test.

JUST WHAT HAPPENED in the month following to change Khrushchev's decision is something that can only be speculated on. Since the best American Kremlinologists agree that speculation over what goes on inside the U.S.S.R. Central Committee or what makes the Russians behave the way they do is fruitless, it may be months before anyone knows the answer.

The most important point stressed in Washington among those who have not been panicked by the Russian scare is that Khrushchev does not claim he has the super bombs ready to test.

The paragraph being studied the most in the Russian statement announcing resumption of tests claims only that:

"The Soviet Union has worked out designs for creating a series of superpowerful nuclear bombs of 20, 30, 50 and 100-millions of TNT and powerful rockets, similar to those with the help of which Maj. Y. A. Gargarin and Maj. G. S. Titov made their unrivaled cosmic flights around the earth, can lift and deliver such nuclear bombs to any point on the globe."

THE IMPORTANT WORDS here are that the Soviet has "designs" for such weapons and that rockets "similar" to those which carried men into space can deliver such nuclear bombs.

The statement does not say that the Russians have such bombs today and the actual rockets to deliver them.

There have been some unofficial assumptions that the Russians already have 20-megaton bombs.

Official statements of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission credit the Russians only with having tested megaton bombs—one-million-ton TNT eqivalent or over. A blast has to be seen and its fireball measured begfore there can be any accurate estimate of the bomb size.

In AEC and Defense Department tests in the Pacific in 1952 and 1954, it was disclosed that experimental devices of 14 and 15-megaton size were exploded.

No complete list of either U. S. or U.S.S.R. tests between then and 1958, when testing was suspended, has ever been disclosed.

It has become known that the U. S. B-52 bomber is capable of delivering a pair of bombs, each of more than 20-megaton size. The biggest nuclear weapon which can be delivered by U. S. intercontinental ballistic missiles is said to be under 10 megatons.

There is no official confirmation of these figures, as all bomb sizes are clasified.

If the Russians have only the designs for bigger nuclear weapons and only the prototypes for missiles to deliver them, the West has a little time and breathing space to match the effort.

If the Russians already have bigger bombs and missiles, testing them may be an immediate thing.

The quetion then will be: Can the tests be detected?

In the opinion of Arthur H. Dean, Kennedy's chief negotiator at the now busted-up nuclear test ban conference in Geneva, if a 100-megaton bomb is exploded in the atmosphere, it can be detected. If it is exploded underground, it might possibly be detected. But if it were exploded in outer space, on what McCloy calls "The backside of Venus," it would be impossible to detect.

The only way such space tests could be detected would be from solar spy satellites — artificial planets or space platforms — which could automatically radio discovery of an explosion. Such satellites could be built, but they would cost many times more than the 100-megaton bomb.

The problem of firing a bomb from such a space platform so that it would hit a target on earth is so complex that it is considered improbable for many years to come.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The other day, Mrs. Hilda Markle, charter member and officer of the Ulster County Art Association called me and we had a real old-fashioned chat about old times.

She liked what I said about the show, and I told her I was sorry I could not mention every exhibitor, but I was glad to hear that they sold over two dozen pictures at the Academy Greenshow held August 19 and 20. One of the pictures which sold was "Moonlit Grazing" of sheep by the Rev. Albert Shultis which I mentioned, also the works of several other artists who were mentioned in this column.

I belonged to this group when it was first started by Pop Furhman and it certainly is growing bigger and better.

It seems to be the trend now to have one good painting in a modern frame on the living room wall in the new homes. The buyers of these paintings want something they like or which harmonizes with their furnishings. Many folks have asked me about "good oil paintings." I cannot answer such a question. The buyer lives with the picture, not I, buy what you like. Please yourselves, not your friends. Very often you can get a good oil painting, on stretched canvas, in a good frame done by a clever artist as cheaply as a cardboard print in colors. Many shows are held at various fairs in small towns and some of the home talent artists are good, their work pleasant. Buy what you like and enjoy it, and maybe it will encourage you to take up painting, I often tell those who ask me about picture buying.

Dutchess Fair has come and gone for another year. It makes me realize that now since the ferry across the Hudson has been replaced by the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, the Fair is much further away from us. I remember when my father used to take me to the Fair, and we judged our time properly to catch the Hudson River ferry, we enjoyed the cool ride over and it seemed no time before we were there. I think it is about a dozen miles from Kingston now to Rhinebeck. There is a great deal of barren land on both sides of the bridge, no doubt in time it will be settled, but as it is it makes one feel it is a long ride, through nowhere on both sides.

I thought the wildlife exhibit the most relaxing and interesting. It is in a cool grove of evergreen trees. They had eagles there this time, but no owl. They had a monkey, various birds and wild fowl swimming in a small pond. The bobcat was there. They said it was the same one, only now five years old which they showed other years. It was warm and muggy so the birds and animals were tired and sleepy. The caretaker said they get lively in the cool of the evening. The opposum baby was there fast asleep, and also some racoons. The children seemed to enjoy this exhibit far more than any other.

There was a big fire truck for display purposes, with the ladder up, and the young boys could not keep away from it. Many had their pictures taken on it. Mama pig, a very special pink pig was there with her big family and that also brought a great deal of attention. A cool, clear day instead of hot muggy weather makes a fair such as this much more enjoyable.

Jobless Trucker, Enraged by Bill Handling, Shot

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)— Enraged because his grocery bill had been turned over to a collection agency, an unemployed truck driver took a grocery store owner hostage Friday night and was shot and captured, police said.

The truck driver, Albert Haigle, 40, of Schenectady, was in Ellis Hospital today with a bullet wound in his neck. The hospital said his condition was satisfactory.

The grocer, Dom DiCarlo, was not harmed.

This is what occurred, police said:

Haigle entered the Little Super Grocery Store in suburban Rotterdam and announced that he had come to get the owners. He was carrying a .22 rifle.

He argued with DiCarlo and DiCarlo's partner, Ben Abbato, over the grocery bills and fired the rifle to show it was loaded. Abbato dashed out to summon police. Haigle grabbed DiCarlo and forced him to drive DiCarlo's automobile.

Three Rotterdam police cars pursued. Haigle fired at his pursuers and police returned the shots, wounding Haigle in the neck.

DiCarlo then stopped the car and got out, raising his hands.

Police said they did not know that DiCarlo was in the car.

Dist. Atty. Vincent Cerrito said he would charge Haigle with first-degree assault with intent to kill.

ACTING LIKE THE DEVIL

The human penchant for seeming to be on the side of the angels but acting like the devil was neatly illustrated in Indiana over the Labor Day weekend. It was illustrated in a way that showed how this penchant can often lead to tragedy.

Truck drivers in Indiana, as in many other states, were keeping their lights on in daylight as a safety reminder. A lot of other motorists got into the spirit of the thing and turned on their headlights, too.

One of the latter was stopped by state police. He explained that his lights were on as a contribution to the safe-driving reminder. The police, it turned out, had no objection to this. What the police objected to was that a police aircraft had clocked the motorist at 93 miles per hour.

There you have it: the man was "doing his bit" for traffic safety by riding with headlights on. To that extent, he was on the side of the angels. But he drove like the devil; he was a hurtling menace to himself and everyone he encountered on the highway. This was an extreme example of the human penchant mentioned above. But there are plenty of other examples. They all prove that lip service, going through the motions — put it how you will — is not enough.

A BRIGHT OUTLOOK

As the administration's chief economist, Walter Heller can hardly be blamed for a bit of optimism over the prospects for business. In a talk at the University of Wisconsin's School of Banking, Heller professed to discern scarcely a cloud on the economic horizon.

Reviewing the bright spots — among them a better than expected increase in gross national product—which could bring about a balanced federal budget, he seemed more concerned with the possibility that the Federal Reserve Board might act to nip the recovery in the bud. In the administration's view, this could happen easily were the Fed to suddenly decrease commercial banks' lendable reserves and thus cut business expansion plans.

But this is a tightrope the Federal Reserve Board has had to walk before. For although any administration perfers a high level of business activity (there are no better politics in the world) a boom inevitably brings with it the danger of inflation. Between these two pressures the FRB must make up its mind what money policies are best in the public's interest. The Board will almost surely restrict credit if the wheels of industry begin to turn too fast. While this action might tend to dull Heller's optimism a bit, most would agree that it would be better for the nation than another round of inflation.

SUMMER IS A-GOING OUT

Though fall doesn't officially begin for a few more days, and the fine September weather behaves like there's no tomorrow, anyone who has school-age children or has passed a school recently knows that one more summer is long gone.

The companies, regiments, armies of kids trooping back to books and classes are a surer sign of summer's end than anything you can read in Mother Nature. (Incidentally, need any motorist be reminded that extra special alertness is called for now when children, school buses and schools are near?)

Khrushchev then revealed that he had a rocket which could lift it. But such a bomb would have to be tested before it could become operational, and he didn't want to make the test.

JUST WHAT HAPPENED in the month following to change Khrushchev's decision is something that can only be speculated on. Since the best American Kremlinologists agree that speculation over what goes on inside the U.S.S.R. Central Committee or what makes the Russians behave the way they do is fruitless, it may be months before anyone knows the answer.

The most important point stressed in Washington among those who have not been panicked by the Russian scare is that Khrushchev does not claim he has the super bombs ready to test.

The paragraph being studied the most in the Russian statement announcing resumption of tests claims only that:

"The Soviet Union has worked out designs for creating a series of superpowerful nuclear bombs of 20, 30, 50 and 100-millions-tons of TNT and powerful rockets, similar to those with the help of which Maj. Y. A. Gargárin and Maj. G. S. Titov made their unrivaled cosmic flights around the earth, can lift and deliver such nuclear bombs to any point on the globe."

THE IMPORTANT WORDS here are that the Soviet has "designs" for such weapons and that rockets "similar" to those which carried men into space can deliver such nuclear bombs.

The statement does not say that the Russians have such bombs today and the actual rockets to deliver them.

There have been some unofficial assumptions that the Russians already have 20-megaton bombs.

Official statements of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission credit the Russians only with having tested megaton bombs—one-million-ton TNT eqivalent or over. A blast has to be seen and its fireball measured begfore there can be any accurate estimate of the bomb size.

In AEC and Defense Department tests in the Pacific in 1952 and 1954, it was disclosed that experimental devices of 14 and 15-megaton size were exploded.

No complete list of either U. S. or U.S.S.R. tests between then and 1958, when testing was suspended, has ever been disclosed.

It has become known that the U. S. B-52 bomber is capable of delivering a pair of bombs, each of more than 20-megaton size. The biggest nuclear weapon which can be delivered by U. S. intercontinental ballistic missiles is said to be under 10 megatons.

There is no official confirmation of these figures, as all bomb sizes are clasified.

If the Russians have only the designs for bigger nuclear weapons and only the prototypes for missiles to deliver them, the West has a little time and breathing space to match the effort.

If the Russians already have bigger bombs and missiles, testing them may be an immediate thing.

The quetion then will be: Can the tests be detected?

In the opinion of Arthur H. Dean, Kennedy's chief negotiator at the now busted-up nuclear test ban conference in Geneva, if a 100-megaton bomb is exploded in the atmosphere, it can be detected. If it is exploded underground, it might possibly be detected. But if it were exploded in outer space, on what McCloy calls "The backside of Venus," it would be impossible to detect.

The only way such space tests could be detected would be from solar spy satellites — artificial planets or space platforms — which could automatically radio discovery of an explosion. Such satellites could be built, but they would cost many times more than the 100-megaton bomb.

The problem of firing a bomb from such a space platform so that it would hit a target on earth is so complex that it is considered improbable for many years to come.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

The other day, Mrs. Hilda Markle, charter member and officer of the Ulster County Art Association called me and we had a real old-fashioned chat about old times.

She liked what I said about the show, and I told her I was sorry I could not mention every exhibitor, but I was glad to hear that they sold over two dozen pictures at the Academy Green show held August 19 and 20. One of the pictures which sold was "Moonlit Grazing" of sheep by the Rev. Albert Shultis which I mentioned, also the works of several other artists who were mentioned in this column.

I belonged to this group when it was first started by Pop Furhman and it certainly is growing bigger and better.

It seems to be the trend now to have one good painting in a modern frame on the living room wall in the new homes. The buyers of these paintings want something they like or which harmonizes with their furnishings. Many folks have asked me about "good oil paintings." I cannot answer such a question. The buyer lives with the picture, not I, buy what you like. Please yourselves, not your friends. Very often you can get a good oil painting, on stretched canvas, in a good frame done by a clever artist as cheaply as a cardboard print in colors. Many shows are held at various fairs in small towns and some of the home talent artists are good, their work pleasant. Buy what you like and enjoy it, and maybe it will encourage you to take up painting, I often tell those who ask me about picture buying.

Dutchess Fair has come and gone for another year. It makes me realize that now since the ferry across the Hudson has been replaced by the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, the Fair is much further away from us. I remember when my father used to take me to the Fair, and we judged our time properly to catch the Hudson River ferry, we enjoyed the cool ride over and it seemed no time before we were there. I think it is about a dozen miles from Kingston now to Rhinebeck. There is a great deal of barren land on both sides of the bridge, no doubt in time it will be settled, but as it is it makes one feel it is a long ride, through nowhere on both sides.

I thought the wildlife exhibit the most relaxing and interesting. It is in a cool grove of evergreen trees. They had eagles there this time, but no owl. They had a monkey, various birds and wild fowl swimming in a small pond. The bobcat was there. They said it was the same one, only now five years old which they showed other years. It was warm and muggy so the birds and animals were tired and sleepy. The caretaker said they get lively in the cool of the evening. The opposum baby was there fast asleep, and also some racoons. The children seemed to enjoy this exhibit far more than any other.

There was a big fire truck for display purposes, with the ladder up, and the young boys could not keep away from it. Many had their pictures taken on it. Mama pig, a very special pink pig was there with her big family and that also brought a great deal of attention. A cool, clear day instead of hot muggy weather makes a fair such as this much more enjoyable.

Jobless Trucker, Enraged by Bill Handling, Shot

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)— Enraged because his grocery bill had been turned over to a collection agency, an unemployed truck driver took a grocery store owner hostage Friday night and was shot and captured, police said.

The truck driver, Albert Haigle, 40, of Schenectady, was in Ellis Hospital today with a bullet wound in his neck. The hospital said his condition was satisfactory.

The grocer, Dom DiCarlo, was not harmed.

This is what occurred, police said:

Haigle entered the Little Super Grocery Store in suburban Rotterdam and announced that he had come to get the owners. He was carrying a .22 rifle.

He argued with DiCarlo and DiCarlo's partner, Ben Abbato, over the grocery bills and fired the rifle to show it was loaded. Abbato dashed out to summon police. Haigle grabbed DiCarlo and forced him to drive DiCarlo's automobile.

Three Rotterdam police cars pursued. Haigle fired at his pursuers and police returned the shots, wounding Haigle in the neck.

DiCarlo then stopped the car and got out, raising his hands.

Police said they did not know that DiCarlo was in the car.

Dist. Atty. Vincent Cerrito said he would charge Haigle with first-degree assault with intent to kill.

Little Success as East-West Mediator

Nehru Is Picture of Dejection After Urgent Moscow Mission

EDITOR'S NOTE — Preston Grover, veteran AP foreign correspondent who is chief of bureau in Moscow and formerly served in India, kept a close watch on Prime Minister Nehru's mission to Moscow. He finds the outlook not encouraging.

By PRESTON GROVER

Two Differtn Worlds

The tough Communist and the elegant, erudite Indian seemed to be working in two different worlds.

On the eve of Nehru's visit, the Soviet Union exploded its fourth nuclear weapon in the current series. As the talks proceeded, an interview with Khrushchev was published in the United States quoting him as threatening to make even bigger bombs so he can frighten other nations out of making war.

Nehru held to his position that nuclear testing should stop and that East and West should try to negotiate a settlement satisfactory to both sides.

Khrushchev remained determined to bring about a settlement in Germany.

Asked Middle Way

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the nonaligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

Limited Enthusiasm

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him by Khrushchev, but once the formalities of introductions and simple toasts were finished, Khrushchev huddled with some diplomats and Nehru wandered about among the others. Later he spoke over Soviet television with little animation.

Confident

a talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow earlier this week.

Same Hard Line

Indications here were that Gromyko stuck to the same hard line on Berlin which Khrushchev has been stating publicly.

The Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear weapons testing, which the United States has denounced as "atomic blackmail," and Soviet diplomatic attacks on Allied use of the air corridors between Berlin and West Germany are regarded in official quarters here as discouraging.

Khrushchev said in Moscow Friday that he is ready for "businesslike talks" with President Kennedy on the Berlin issue. But officials said their efforts to find out what Khrushchev considers negotiable have shown only that he wants to negotiate away the position of the Western powers in Berlin.

Today is the deadline for Khrushchev to reply to the proposal made last Sunday by Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for a ban on nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere.

Khrushchev has indicated publicly that he considered the proposal a propaganda maneuver and rejects it.

Lloyd Zoning

J. Paul Frampton, professional engieer, whose property adjoins the track charges that Herron has been operating the track in violation of the zoning ordinance and anti-noise ordinance.

First Student Gets Loan

The first Student Loan check issued by the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, 267 Wall Street, under the New York State Higher Education Assistance Plan, is presented to Stanley Elmer Newkirk, (left) of 25 Mills Street, Saugerties, by H. Van Wyck Darrow, executive vice president of the association. The president, Alfred D. Ronder, happily observes.

Newkirk is a sophomore at Harpur College in Binghamton, a division of the State University of New York. The loan represents the first payment toward his college expenses while pursuing a course in liberal arts.

Savings and Loan Association of Kingston was the first in New York State to sign up for the program under which students are granted loans under the State Educational Aid Plan.

In presenting the first loan to Newkirk, Vice President Darrow said, although it happens to be the first one granted for higher educational assistance, many more such applications have been processed by the association. "In cooperation with the New York Higher Education Plan, we feel that our financial institution can make an important contribution toward the attainment of important educational goals for thousands," he said.

Most of 40,000

nounced were going to Germany. Gen. George H. Decker said Friday that each of the three infantry divisions in the critical German area was being given 1,000 additional men.

Five Divisions Now

Present strength of U.S. forces in Germany includes five divisions —three infantry and two armored.

There are about 250,000 troops in Germany.

Explaining the cut-off of travel for dependents, officials said it was due to "logistic requirements" for the movement of the troops, which apparently means that transportation is overburdened.

The flow of dependents of military personnel and civilian workers of the Defense Department has beeen running at about 7,000 to 8,000 a month.

Both the troop movements and the ban on dependents' travel were announced by the Pentagon with the approval of President Kennnedy.

Orders Listed

The secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force were ordered to:

1. Stop completely on Oct. 9 dependents to Europe.

2. Discontinue immmediately all "port calls" for the transportation of dependents to Europe. A port call is notice for a dependent to show up at a certain port for transportation.

3. Cancel authority for "concurrent travel" of dependents in all cases where the military man or civilian employe has not departed from his last duty station. This means that if the man is still on duty in the United States his dependents cannot go to Europe with him.

4. Explain the situation to holders of port calls or concurrent travel orders and encourage dependents to forego travel in those cases where the travel is scheduled prior to Oct. 9.

5. Advise all concerned about the right of dependents forbidden to go to Europe, to be moved to some other location along with their household goods. For example, in the case of a soldier going to Europe his wife and children might want to go to live with in-laws.

Some Exceptions

Exceptions to the ban on travel may be made by high authorities where "the presence of dependents is in the national interest."

Officials said this might apply to the families of military attaches at U.S. embassies abroad or members of military assistance groups working with foreign governments.

Sources said the reinforcements would start moving as soon as possible. The first wave may not be ready to cross the Atlantic until Oct. 1.

Some time ago, Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, asked the Pentagon for 38,000 support-type troops to round out the Europe-based 7th Army.

Subsequently, on Aug. 11, the Army announced 3,000 troops would go to Europe. It was said at the time additional men would be trained to follow.

Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, disclosed Friday that 1,000 new men were being assigned to each of the three infantry divisions in Germany—the 3rd, 8th and 24th.

Some on Way

Decker told the Association of the United States Army that the added men would permit the 7th Army to man and maintain an additional number of armored personnel carriers.

The Army chief said the 3,000 men and the lightweight, amphibious, air-transportable troop carriers earmarked for Germany were already on their way. He did not say how many carriers were involved.

Behind this stepped-up mechanization is the knowledge that Soviet forces in Europe are highly mechanized.

The first industry established by European settlers in America was logging.

price stability which the country has now enjoyed for some time," and create an inflationary spiral would could increase military procurement by $500 million or more a year.

Consequences to a steel price increase, forcing up prices in other industries, might cause the government to adopt restrictive monetary and fiscal measures, he warned.

Steel Output Up

Steel production last week rose for the fifth consecutive week. The output of 2,030,000 tons was 0.5 per cent above the prior week.

Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Eco,omic Advisers, forecast that the gross national product—total value of goods and services — would reach $565 to $570 billion by the second quarter of 1962. The rate at the beginning of this year was $500 billion.

The Commerce Department reported that business men increased their inventories by $300 million in July, the largest of four consecutive gains.

However, business sales declined by $300 million to $58.4 billion in that month for the first set back since last winter.

Manufacturers' sales increased $200 million in July to $28.4 billion. Retail sales fell by $100 million to $18 billion.

Use of air conditioners and fans in an effort to beat the heatwave scorching most of the country sent electricity production in the week ended Sept. 2 to an all-time high of 16,214,000,000 kilowatts.

The impact of the stepped-up defense program on the economy was illustrated by a Navy award of contracts totaling $247 million for carrier-based fighter planes, helicopters and anti-submarine patrol aircraft. McDonnell Aircraft Corp. got a $180.1 million contract for fighters and Chance Vought Corp. a $58 million contract for interceptors.

Little Success as East-West Mediator

Nehru Is Picture of Dejection After Urgent Moscow Mission

EDITOR'S NOTE — Preston Grover, veteran AP foreign correspondent who is chief of bureau in Moscow and formerly served in India, kept a close watch on Prime Minister Nehru's mission to Moscow. He finds the outlook not encouraging.

By PRESTON GROVER

Two Differtn Worlds

The tough Communist and the elegant, erudite Indian seemed to be working in two different worlds.

On the eve of Nehru's visit, the Soviet Union exploded its fourth nuclear weapon in the current series. As the talks proceeded, an interview with Khrushchev was published in the United States quoting him as threatening to make even bigger bombs so he can frighten other nations out of making war.

Nehru held to his position that nuclear testing should stop and that East and West should try to negotiate a settlement satisfactory to both sides.

Khrushchev remained determined to bring about a settlement in Germany.

Asked Middle Way

Nehru apparently proposed a middle way, as he had in recent foreign policy speeches to the Indian Parliament. There was no assurance that any of his proposals would have been more welcome in Washington than in Moscow.

If there was any agreement between them it was on lesser things. Nehru apparently discussed possible additional aid to India.

Khrushchev heeded the appeal delivered by Nehru from the nonaligned nations conference in Belgrade and said he would be glad to confer with President Kennedy. But the Soviet premier insisted that a German peace treaty must be the major point of discussion. He coupled it with a warning that if he did not get agreement of the Western nations, he would sign one with East Germany and attempt to turn over control of the access to West Berlin to the Communist East German regime.

Limited Enthusiasm

To Nehru, this appeared discouraging. He spoke to a big Soviet meeting with limited enthusiasm. He went to a Kremlin reception given for him by Khrushchev, but once the formalities of introductions and simple toasts were finished, Khrushchev huddled with some diplomats and Nehru wandered about among the others. Later he spoke over Soviet television with little animation.

Diaper Change Confuses FBI

TORRINGTON, Conn. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation won't risk a guess, so John Scott Buckler and James Thomas Buckler, 11-week-old twins, are as mixed up as ever.

World came from Washington Friday that the FBI had looked at footprints made of the babies on the day of their birth, June 21, and decided they "are not legible enough to be of value for identification."

The confused parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buckler, Torrington, have been wondering which son is which ever since the boys got scrambled weeks ago during a diaper change.

Jurors to Study City Theft Case

Accused of attempting to steal two automobiles on West Chestnut Street and Mary's Avenue Monday night, Joan Barbara Swart, 18, of 246 West Chestnut Street, today waived preliminary hearing before City Judge Aaron E. Klein.

The case was referred to the grand jury.

County Judge Raymond Mino paroled the defendant in custody of Attorney Joseph J. Qualtere.

Three Await Jury Action Following Theft at Tavern

A Wallkill man and a pair of teenagers from Wallkill and Pine Bush are being held today for Grand Jury action on charges of burglary, third degree, as the aftermath of a break at Ronan's Tavern, Wallkill, Wednesday night.

John Minor, 28 of Wallkill; John Wayne Ploss, 19 of RD 3, Wallkill and Robert J. Carr, 17 of Pine Bush were arrested Friday by Investigators Roger Gardiner and Joseph Franke of the BCI. They are charged with taking two cases of beer and 10 quarts of whiskey from the tavern. Brought before Judge Arthur Reilly of Wallkill, they waived examination and were taken to Ulster County Jail in Kingston to await action by the Grand Jury.

Confident

a talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow earlier this week.

Same Hard Line

Indications here were that Gromyko stuck to the same hard line on Berlin which Khrushchev has been stating publicly.

The Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear weapons testing, which the United States has denounced as "atomic blackmail," and Soviet diplomatic attacks on Allied use of the air corridors between Berlin and West Germany are regarded in official quarters here as discouraging.

Khrushchev said in Moscow Friday that he is ready for "businesslike talks" with President Kennedy on the Berlin issue. But officials said their efforts to find out what Khrushchev considers negotiable have shown only that he wants to negotiate away the position of the Western powers in Berlin.

Today is the deadline for Khrushchev to reply to the proposal made last Sunday by Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for a ban on nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere.

Khrushchev has indicated publicly that he considered the proposal a propaganda maneuver and rejects it.

Lloyd Zoning

J. Paul Frampton, professional engieer, whose property adjoins the track charges that Herron has been operating the track in violation of the zoning ordinance and anti-noise ordinance.

Herron in presentation of his case to the Appeals Board contended a valid non-conforming commercial use in an agriculturral zone. He said he sold, exhibited for sale and demonstrated mechanical go-karts, prior to the enactment of the zoning ordinance early in 1961.

He has agreed, however, not to operate the track pending disposition of his case by Judge Canino.

Soviet Fallout

Canada, and it may not be as wide as the 700 miles originally estimated.

2. There are delays of about 24 hours in reporting by the detection stations of the health service network.

By the time the radioactive debris from the second and fourth shots arrives over the United States, Machta said, the cloud from the first test probably will have gone around the world again and the subsequentclouds will mix in with it. This will make it hard to detect the later tests.

First Student Gets Loan

The first Student Loan check issued by the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, 267 Wall Street, under the New York State Higher Education Assistance Plan, is presented to Stanley Elmer Newkirk, (left) of 25 Mills Street, Saugerties, by H. Van Wyck Darrow, executive vice president of the association. The president, Alfred D. Ronder, happily observes.

Newkirk is a sophomore at Harpur College in Binghamton, a division of the State University of New York. The loan represents the first payment toward his college expenses while pursuing a course in liberal arts.

Savings and Loan Association of Kingston was the first in New York State to sign up for the program under which students are granted loans under the State Educational Aid Plan.

In presenting the first loan to Newkirk, Vice President Darrow said, although it happens to be the first one granted for higher educational assistance, many more such applications have been processed by the association. "In cooperation with the New York Higher Education Plan, we feel that our financial institution can make an important contribution toward the attainment of important educational goals for thousands," he said.

Most of 40,000

nounced were going to Germany. Gen. George H. Decker said Friday that each of the three infantry divisions in the critical German area was being given 1,000 additional men.

Five Divisions Now

Present strength of U.S. forces in Germany includes five divisions —three infantry and two armored. There are about 250,000 troops in Germany.

Explaining the cut-off of travel for dependents, officials said it was due to "logistic requirements" for the movement of the troops, which apparently means that transportation is overburdened.

The flow of dependents of military personnel and civilian workers of the Defense Department has beeen running at about 7,000 to 8,000 a month.

Both the troop movements and the ban on dependents' travel were announced by the Pentagon with the approval of President Kennnedy.

Orders Listed

The secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force were ordered to:

1. Stop completely on Oct. 9 dependents to Europe.

2. Discontinue immmediately all "port calls" for the transportation of dependents to Europe. A port call is notice for a dependent to show up at a certain port for transportation.

3. Cancel authority for "concurrent travel" of dependents in all cases where the military man or civilian employe has not departed from his last duty station. This means that if the man is still on duty in the United States his dependents cannot go to Europe with him.

4. Explain the situation to holders of port calls or concurrent travel orders and encourage dependents to forego travel in those cases where the travel is scheduled prior to Oct. 9.

5. Advise all concerned about the right of dependents forbidden to go to Europe, to be moved to some other location along with their household goods. For example, in the case of a soldier going to Europe his wife and children might want to go to live with in-laws.

Some Exceptions

Exceptions to the ban on travel may be made by high authorities where "the presence of dependents is in the national interest."

Officials said this might apply to the families of military attaches at U.S. embassies abroad or members of military assistance groups working with foreign governments.

Sources said the reinforcements would start moving as soon as possible. The first wave may not be ready to cross the Atlantic until Oct. 1.

Some time ago, Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, asked the Pentagon for 38,000 support-type troops to round out the Europe-based 7th Army.

Subsequently, on Aug. 11, the Army announced 3,000 troops would go to Europe. It was said at the time additional men would be trained to follow.

Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, disclosed Friday that 1,000 new men were being assigned to each of the three infantry divisions in Germany—the 3rd, 8th and 24th.

Some on Way

Decker told the Association of the United States Army that the added men would permit the 7th Army to man and maintain an additional number of armored personnel carriers.

The Army chief said the 3,000 men and the lightweight, amphibious, air-transportable troop carriers earmarked for Germany were already on their way. He did not say how many carriers were involved.

Behind this stepped-up mechanization is the knowledge that Soviet forces in Europe are highly mechanized.

The first industry established by European settlers in America was logging.

Business Week

price stability which the country has now enjoyed for some time," and create an inflationary spiral would could increase military procurement by $500 million or more a year.

Consequences to a steel price increase, forcing up prices in other industries, might cause the government to adopt restrictive monetary and fiscal measures, he warned.

Steel Output Up

Steel production last week rose for the fifth consecutive week. The output of 2,030,000 tons was 0.5 per cent above the prior week.

Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, forecast that the gross national product—total value of goods and services — would reach $565 to $570 billion by the second quarter of 1962. The rate at the beginning of this year was $500 billion.

The Commerce Department reported that business men increased their inventories by $300 million in July, the largest of four consecutive gains.

However, business sales declined by $300 million to $58.4 billion in that month for the first set back since last winter.

Manufacturers' sales increased $200 million in July to $28.4 billion. Retail sales fell by $100 million to $18 billion.

Use of air conditioners and fans in an effort to beat the heatwave scorching most of the country sent electricity production in the week ended Sept. 2 to an all-time high of 16,214,000,000 kilowatts.

The impact of the stepped-up defense program on the economy was illustrated by a Navy award of contracts totaling $247 million for carrier-based fighter planes, helicopters and anti-submarine patrol aircraft. McDonnell Aircraft Corp. got a $180.1 million contract for fighters and Chance Vought Corp. a $58 million contract for interceptors.

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange this week totaled 13,785,727 shares compared with 15,163,190 the week before. Bond sales on the exchange this week totaled $22,464,000 (par value) against $27,491,000 a week ago.

Briefly around the business scene: Sales of domestic radio sets this year are estimated at 12 million, up from 10.7 million last year. . . . Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. has developed a synthetic rubber which it says promises to nearly double the life of a tire . . . Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association, submits the following article on new lawns:

Time of seeding a new lawn is most important. The best time to sow grass seed in upstate New York is about September 1, and near New York City about two weeks later. Fall seedings are better than spring seedings because they have several more months of good growing weather to get started before crab grass and other summer troubles begin. Even late fall seedings, until the ground freezes are a better risk than spring seedings in most areas.

Where to Buy Seed — Poor seed mixtures are much easier to find than good ones. You may find what you want right away, or you may need to hunt for a while by telephone, in person, or even by mail. It is well worth the effort.

The most likely place to find seeds of the basic lawn grasses and better mixtures is where seed selling is the major business. In the suburbs and rural areas, inquire also at landscape supply companies, at feed, grain, and fertilizer dealers and at farmer's cooperatives. The analysis label tells the story; good mixtures are where you find them.

The following are rates for seeding for new lawns: Bluegrass mixture, 4 pounds to each 1,000 square feet; red fescue mixture, 6 pounds; blue grass alone, 3 pounds; red fescue alone, six pounds.

Seedbed Preparation — Finish all of the drainage, rough grading, topsoil and final grading the area needs. You should then have a smooth, even expanse of soil with humps and hollows and with no trash or large stones.

Spread whatever organic matter, lime, and fertilizer are needed and mix them throughly with the top 4 inches of soil. Even distribution is important. Spread organic materials with shovel or fork. For fertilizer and lime, a wheeled fertilizer spreader does the best job but careful distribution by hand will do (in the manner suggested below for sowing seed). Machines with revolving metal hooks are good for soil mixing. Perhaps you can rent or borrow one. Lacking this, turn the soil several times with a spading fork or tractor-drawn tool.

It may be more convenient to rake the fertilizer into the surface of the loose seedbed than to mix it deeply. This will not harm the seed, and the grass will grow as well.

Rake the seedbed again to produce a smooth surface. If you have a roller, make one trip over each part of the seedbed. This firms the seedbed and shows up small humps and hollows to be corrected. Rake the seedbed once more to ready it for seeding. Do not rake the soil so much that the surface is powdery. A mixture of soil granules and small clods is better.

Sowing seed—Seed may be sown immediately after fertilization; no delay or waiting period is necessary. Sow seed evenly, or there will be an uneven pattern of grass and bare ground. A mechanical spreader does the best job of seeding (or fertilizing or liming), but hand seeding is satisfactory if it is done carefully. To seed by hand, first divide your seed into two equal parts. If this is your first attempt to sow seed, mix each half of the seed with some sand or fine topsoil to give you more material to work with. When there is no wind, scatter one half evenly and carefully while walking back and forth in parallel lines. Scatter the other half in the same manner while walking in lines at right angles to the first.

After the seed is sown, rake the soil lightly. Use just the tips of the rake teeth and cover the seed about ⅛ inch. Seed covered too deeply will be lost, so omit this raking unless you can do it carefully. Go over the area with a lawn roller to firm the soil about the seeds. If you cannot roll the seeding, no harm will be done; the seeds will merely germinate a little slower.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

"PLEASE DO NOT DISTURB"

Q: Will you please give me your opinion of putting a "Please do not disturb" sign on my door when I am too busy to receive visitors? Several of my neighbors have nothing else to do but spend their afternoons visiting, and on several occasions when I have been particularly busy, these visits have been very interrupting.

A: "Please do not disturb" is rather abrupt and might be resented by some visitors. However, a sign reading, "Unble to receive visitors until after five o'clock" can well be considered as today's counterpart of yesterday's "Not at home" said by a servant at the door, and should not be resented by anybody.

Acknowledgement of Wedding Announcement

Q: Shouldn't some acknowledgement be made of a wedding announcement? Even if this does not require the sending of a present, shouldn't a message of congratulations at least be sent to the wedding couple? It seems to me very rude to ignore the announcement completely. What do you say about this?

A: No acknowledgement of a wedding announcement is necessary, but if you are an intimate friend of the bride or groom, or their parents, you probably will wish to send them some message—or even a present.

Ending A Present-Giving Habit

Q: For the past several years I have given presents to two youngsters on their birthdays. This started at birth. At first this gift giving was fun and something which I enjoyed doing, but I see these children only rarely and I no longer get any pleasure out of sending them presents. How can I drop this practice graciously?

A: You certainly need not go on sending yearly presents to children you seldom see. On their next birthdays simply send them birthday cards and no presents.

Details for announcing the engagement are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet "Announcing the Engagement." To obtain a copy, send ten cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Emily Post Institute, care of The Freeman.

We The Women

Flattery Will Get You Anywhere—and Anything

How does a wife turn her big he-man husband into a household helper?

By flattery, that's how. At least, that's the impression given by the comments made by husbands who answered a recent questionnaire, which sought answers to how much help around the house American husbands actually give their wives.

For instance, the men who routinely do the dishes think they are more efficient dishwashers than their wives.

The husbands who pitch in to help with bed-making claim they can make a bed faster than the little woman.

The man who does the marketing thinks he can spin a card through a supermarket faster than his wife, who probably stops to chat with friends, to daydream about what to have for dinner, and to poke every piece of fruit she puts in her basket and to handle a bushel of potatoes in order to pick out six of equal size.

Now, if the housework-helping husbands think they are so good at the jobs they do around home, there's just one reason why: their wives have told them so.

No wife is going to brag about how much faster her husband can make a bed, or how much more efficient he is at the kitchen sink or what an expert he is in the supermarket unless she wants something. What she wants, of course, is her husband's help.

So, the men fall for the feminine flattery, and they're hooked as mama's "little helper."

The poor dears don't even know what has happened. They actually think they are better washers of dishes, makers of beds, shoppers of grocery. It hasn't dawned on them that they have just swallowed the "you can do it so much better" bait—hook, line and sinker.

Maybe you just think he thinks he can do it better. Find out. Read "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, New York.

Health for All

Urgent!

Fifteen years ago DDT was certain death for flies and mosquitos. Then a few freak insects survived the deadly stuff and reproduced. Now we have flies and mosquitos which lap up DDT and thrive on it. The same thing happened with the germs that cause venereal disease and the staphylococcus germ — the one that spreads infection wildly through a hospital the instant antiseptic standards slip. Penicillin was practically a sure cure at first—but not any more. VD germs and staph germs have become resistant to penicillin, survive, multiply — and kill.

Now the TB germ seems to have developed the same defense. Drug resistance often develops during TB treatment when only one drug is used. That's why most patients are treated with two and sometimes three drugs. But now drug resistance is appearing in the germs of patients who have never been treated before. At the moment, somewhere between 5 and 10 per cent of TB patients treated for the first time are found to be infected with germs resistant to one or more of the three principal anti-TB drugs — isoniazid, PAS, Streptomycin. The patient with drug-resistant germs has less chance of getting well, may infect others with his drug-resistant germs.

The odds are still in our favor for eliminating TB from this country — Provided we do it soon. But if the number of drug-resistant TB germs increases greatly we'll be caught in a stalemate. This means that all active TB cases must be found soon and treated properly with the right combination of drugs, continuously, for a long enough time.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association, submits the following article on new lawns:

Time of seeding a new lawn is most important. The best time to sow grass seed in upstate New York is about September 1, and near New York City about two weeks later. Fall seedings are better than spring seedings because they have several more months of good growing weather to get started before crab grass and other summer troubles begin. Even late fall seedings, until the ground freezes are a better risk than spring seedings in most areas.

Where to Buy Seed — Poor seed mixtures are much easier to find than good ones. You may find what you want right away, or you may need to hunt for a while by telephone, in person, or even by mail. It is well worth the effort.

The most likely place to find seeds of the basic lawn grasses and better mixtures is where seed selling is the major business. In the suburbs and rural areas, inquire also at landscape supply companies, at feed, grain, and fertilizer dealers and at farmer's cooperatives. The analysis label tells the story; good mixtures are where you find them.

The following are rates for seeding for new lawns: Bluegrass mixture, 4 pounds to each 1,000 square feet; red fescue mixture, 6 pounds; blue grass alone, 3 pounds; red fescue alone, six pounds.

Seedbed Preparation — Finish all of the drainage, rough grading, topsoil and final grading the area needs. You should then have a smooth, even expanse of soil with humps and hollows and with no trash or large stones.

Spread whatever organic matter, lime, and fertilizer are needed and mix them throughly with the top 4 inches of soil. Even distribution is important. Spread organic materials with shovel or fork. For fertilizer and lime, a wheeled fertilizer spreader does the best job but careful distribution by hand will do (in the manner suggested below for sowing seed). Machines with revolving metal hooks are good for soil mixing. Perhaps you can rent or borrow one. Lacking this, turn the soil several times with a spading fork or tractor-drawn tool.

It may be more convenient to rake the fertilizer into the surface of the loose seedbed than to mix it deeply. This will not harm the seed, and the grass will grow as well.

Rake the seedbed again to produce a smooth surface. If you have a roller, make one trip over each part of the seedbed. This firms the seedbed and shows up small humps and hollows to be corrected. Rake the seedbed once more to ready it for seeding. Do not rake the soil so much that the surface is powdery. A mixture of soil granules and small clods is better.

Sowing seed—Seed may be sown immediately after fertilization; no delay or waiting period is necessary. Sow seed evenly, or there will be an uneven pattern of grass and bare ground. A mechanical spreader does the best job of seeding (or fertilizing or liming), but hand seeding is satisfactory if it is done carefully. To seed by hand, first divide your seed into two equal parts. If this is your first attempt to sow seed, mix each half of the seed with some sand or fine topsoil to give you more material to work with. When there is no wind, scatter one half evenly and carefully while walking back and forth in parallel lines. Scatter the other half in the same manner while walking in lines at right angles to the first.

After the seed is sown, rake the soil lightly. Use just the tips of the rake teeth and cover the seed about ⅛ inch. Seed covered too deeply will be lost, so omit this raking unless you can do it carefully. Go over the area with a lawn roller to firm the soil about the seeds. If you cannot roll the seeding, no harm will be done; the seeds will merely germinate a little slower.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

Author of "Children Are People" and "Etiquette," etc.

"PLEASE DO NOT DISTURB"

Q: Will you please give me your opinion of putting a "Please do not disturb' sign on my door when I am too busy to receive visitors? Several of my neighbors have nothing else to do but spend their afternoons visiting, and on several occasions when I have been particularly busy, these visits have been very interrupting.

A: "Please do not disturb" is rather abrupt and might be resented by some visitors. However, a sign reading, "Unble to receive visitors until after five o'clock" can well be considered as today's counterpart of yesterday's "Not at home" said by a servant at the door, and should not be resented by anybody.

Acknowledgement of Wedding Announcement

Q: Shouldn't some acknowledgement be made of a wedding announcement? Even if this does not require the sending of a present, shouldn't a message of congratulations at least be sent to the wedding couple? It seems to me very rude to ignore the announcement completely. What do you say about this?

A: No acknowledgement of a wedding announcement is necessary, but if you are an intimate friend of the bride or groom, or their parents, you probably will wish to send them some message—or even a present.

Ending A Present-Giving Habit

Q: For the past several years I have given presents to two youngsters on their birthdays. This started at birth. At first this gift giving was fun and something which I enjoyed doing, but I see these children only rarely and I no longer get any pleasure out of sending them presents. How can I drop this practice graciously?

A: You certainly need not go on sending yearly presents to children you seldom see. On their next birthdays simply send them birthday cards and no presents.

Details for announcing the engagement are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet "Announcing the Engagement." To obtain a copy, send ten cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Emily Post Institute, care of The Freeman.

We The Women

Flattery Will Get You Anywhere—and Anything

How does a wife turn her big he-man husband into a household helper?

By flattery, that's how. At least, that's the impression given by the comments made by husbands who answered a recent questionnaire, which sought answers to how much help around the house American husbands actually give their wives.

For instance, the men who routinely do the dishes think they are more efficient dishwashers than their wives.

The husbands who pitch in to help with bed-making claim they can make a bed faster than the little woman.

The man who does the marketing thinks he can spin a card through a supermarket faster than his wife, who probably stops to chat with friends, to daydream about what to have for dinner, and to poke every piece of fruit she puts in her basket and to handle a bushel of potatoes in order to pick out six of equal size.

Now, if the housework-helping husbands think they are so good at the jobs they do around home, there's just one reason why: their wives have told them so.

The poor dears don't even know what has happened. They actually think they are better washers of dishes, makers of beds, shoppers of grocery. It hasn't dawned on them that they have just swallowed the "you can do it so much better" bait—hook, line and sinker.

North and South held enough strength between them to justify a four-spade bid, but the fact that the king of clubs was opposite a singleton in dummy represented duplication of values, and South needed a good deal of luck to bring home his contract.

East won the opening club lead and shifted to the three of trumps. South wanted to ruff two clubs in dummy, but he saw that the defense was anticipating his idea and that he would not be able to achieve that objective. Another line of play was necessary. South counted three trump tricks and the king of clubs in his own hand, plus three heart tricks and one club ruff in dummy for a total of eight. Two diamond tricks were necessary also and he decided that he would have to get rid of the opponents' trumps before going after them.

Accordingly, South let the spade go around to dummy's jack and led the spade back. East rose with the ace and played a third spade which South won in his own hand.

Now he led a diamond. West played low and South put in the jack. When it held everything was "hunky-dory." South cashed three hearts, discarding a club, ruffed a heart back to his hand, discarded one of dummy's diamonds on the king of clubs and led another diamond.

Facts to Know About Cement And Concrete

BY MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There's a difference between cement and concrete although many people use the terms interchangeably.

Both contain Portland cement. Cement is a mixture of Portland cement, sand and water. Concrete is a mixture of Portland cement, sand, water and gravel.

Cement is used for patching, for surfacing a brick or concrete wall, or for holding together flagstones.

Sets Slower

Mortar—a third term you'll run across—is Portland cement, sand and hydrated lime. The lime keeps the mixture from setting too fast, makes it easier to use.

If you are using small amounts you can buy pre-mixed cement, concrete and mortar.

For larger jobs purchase the individual ingredients and mix them yourself. Measurements are always given in terms of cubic feet. A bag of Portland cement contains one cubic foot. A measuring box will be an aid in measuring the other materials. Four boards fastened together to make a square 12 inches on all sides and 12 inches deep will do the work accurately.

Measure Carefully

After you've worked with concrete for a while you'll be able to measure the ingredients by the shovelful. But in the beginning, measure everything accurately.

Mix dry ingredients first. A concrete floor, drive or sidewalk is best. If you must work on dirt cover it with tar paper or some other smooth, heavy covering. Or work up the mixture in a wheelbarrow.

Suggested Ratios

The mix will vary with the job. A good concrete floor can be made with a 1-2-3 mix—one bag of Portland cement, two cubic feet of sand, three cubic feet of gravel. To this add about 5½ to 6 gallons of water. Too much water weakens concrete. Never use more than 6 gallons per bag of cement.

In the mix for a driveway, sidewalk or wall use about 5 gallons. If the sand is damp cut down on the amount of water. In a footing or a wall you can increase the gravel from 3 to 4 cubic feet.

Mix cement and sand first until they take on a uniform color. Then mix in the gravel thoroughly. Make a hole in the center of the pile and mix in water slowly until you reach the right consistency. If water rushes to the surface when the mix is troweled it's too wet. If spaces refuse to fill with mixture when it is troweled, then the mixture is too dry.

Smooth or Rough

Concrete must be poured within a half hour of the time it is mixed. Once it's poured level the mixture with a strike board—a straight edge board that is held against the tops of the form. Slide it along so that the concrete will be left level with the top of the form. When the film of water is gone from the surface smooth with a wood float. For a very smooth surface use a steel trowel after the wood float. Don't use the steel trowel if you want a slightly rough, nonslip surface.

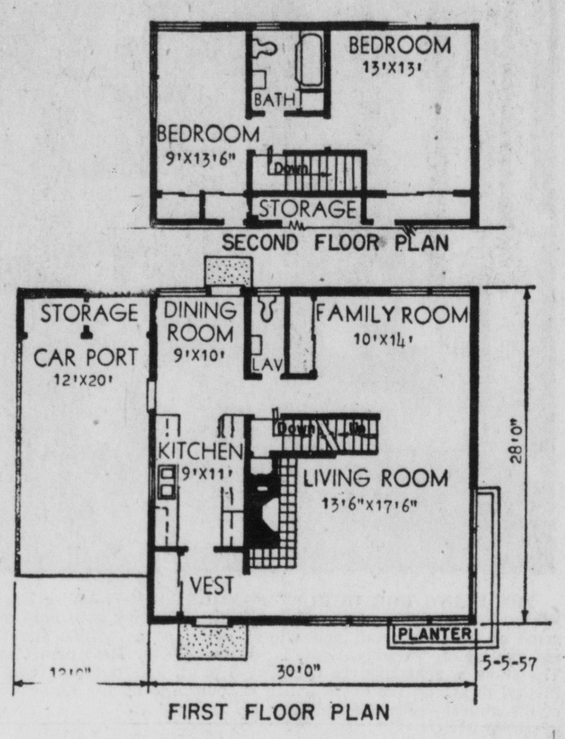
Concrete cures best when it cures slowly. Allow a week and keep it damp. Give it its first sprinkling after it hardens. Damp burlap or canvas will help keep the surface from drying out.

Bookmobile Visit Set By Library System

Thirty small Sullivan and Ulster County communities will be visited for the first time September 14, 15 and September 18, 19 by the new state-owned bookmobile operated by Ramapo Catskill Library System, Mrs. James Horton, system director, announced today. These visits are only to publicize the free book loan service which will be started in October.

The October schedule will be announced in each community during the first visit of the bookmobile. The special schedule of September visits includes September 19, Walker Valley 9:30 to 9:45 a. m.; Napanoch 10 to 10:15 a. m.; Wawarsing 11 to 11:15 a. m., and Kerhonkson 11:30 to 11:45 a. m.

Residents of these communities who wish to begin borrowing books from the bookmobile in October are asked to visit the unit to register their names during the September visits. Silas Townsend and Marion Milk, system bookmobile librarians, will be along to answer questions and assist with registration.



Tradition Gets New Touch In Trim, Roomy Salt-Box

(By Associated Architects)

The Home design that drew its name from the old salt-box that grandmother kept in the kitchen appears in dramatic form in the plan called "The Crystal" offered by Associated Architects today. The modern version retains all the visual beauty and physical comfort of the original Salt-Box home, many of which still dot the New England countryside as picturesque reminders of the post Revolutionary days. Simple to the point of severity, these old old dwellings came by their charm through honest construction.

Further evidence of their value is the manner in which the design adapts so readily to the many improved ideas that add so much to modern living.

While "The Crystal" retains the general theme of the originals, imaginative planning has produced a floor plan that makes the best use of the space available.

Modest Proportions

The Salt-Box is not a large dwelling but it has an element of spaciousness acquired from a particularly fine sense of open planning.

This idea was developed mainly in the creation of the living room and family room on the first floor as virtually one unbroken area.

The living room occupies the choice front location and the family room is in the rear. While it provides two-room utility, the area extends from the front to the rear, unbroken except for a partially open stairway that offers just the right amount of separation.

Window Walls

Virtually the entire front and right side walls of the living room are devoted to window space which brings the outdoors right into the house. In complete keeping with the traditional is the massive stone fireplace that ranges along the left wall to the stairway.

This openness of the general living area was attained by clever arrangement of the kitchen and dining rooms on the left. This area, too, is virtually a single room.

Work areas of the kitchen are aligned along two walls to leave the center open for easy movement to and from the dining section at the rear.

The front entrance is located at the left to open on a vestibule that affords access quickly to either of the general areas and in the dining room there is an entry on the left to the car port and one at the rear of the yard.

Completing the first-floor plan is a large sliding door closets in the family room and a lavatory next to the dining room that will take much of the burden off the main bathroom on the second floor.

Two Bedrooms

The roof treatment in the Salt-Box design helps to provide two good-sized bedrooms on the second floor. Both have excellent corner windows for natural light and ventilation and the closed ends of the room provide a wealth of closet and storage space.

The rectangular shape of "The Crystal" is an important factor in holding down building costs. Also important from an economy standpoint is the choice of a car port with two big storage areas. This very modern touch fits unusually well into the traditional styling that Salt-Box designs follow. The carport adds 240 square feet to the 1,292 square feet of living space, which is divided into 840 on the first floor and 452 on the second. The basic measurements are 28 feet by 30 feet.

It might also be noted that "The Crystal", with unfinished interior, would make a beautiful summer home for the beach or country.

Try Western Red Cedar Wall Paneling

Many homeowners, in search of distinctive treatment for an accent wall in living room or dining room, too often select something bordering on the bizzare which dominates the room. One architect of the Northwest says that, while serving as an accent, a wall should still be considered a backdrop for the rest of the room, and recommend using wood paneling which is an elegant, yet familiar, material.

For example, paneling of rough-sawn western red cedar, he says, is unusual and eye-catching, and the rich beauty of natural wood will lend dignity to any room in which it is used.

Hardboard Can Make Non-Slip Dock Panels

Boat and swimming docks can be given non-slip, splinter-proof surfaces by applying panels of ¼" hardboard with the screen side up. The panels also add to the strength of the dock.

Panels should be nailed in position with the nails driven flush with the surface so they won't catch on shoes or clothing. About 1-16" space should be left between each panel at the joints. Life of the surface will be greatly extended by applying several coats of exterior grade paint.

Paint Should Not Be Too Thick or Too Thin

A paint that does not have the proper consistency is difficult to apply and may also be the cause of wasted time and material. Paint manufacturers utilize a special device to test the consistency of a product.

Before attempting to repair or restore antique furniture, the homecraftsman should visit his local lumber dealer to obtain advice on how best to match or replace wood parts and how to reproduce the original finishes.

Can man develop enough nuclear bombs to exterminate his own species by lethal radiation? Some scientists say it's possible. But man isn't likely to doom all life. A 200 to 500 Roentgen jolt of gamma radiation kills a man—but causes hardly a flicker to many tiny organisms. To sterilize food and pharmaceuticals it requires two million Roentgens.

Superstitions---Here's Where They All Began

"Who's superstitious? Wanna see me walk under a ladder?"

Do you frown and shake your head if you break a mirror? Do you get nervous on Friday the 13th?

If the answer is yes—well, let's face it. You're superstitious. But then so are a lot of other people too.

Half the world to be exact . . . about one thing or another. But how did it all begin?

To its early inhabitants, the world was an awesome place. There were many things they did not understand.

There would be the peace of a summer day when the flowers bloomed in beauty; or the clapping thunder of lightning of a midnight storm.

To these uneducated primitive people, these were thought to be signs of good and evil . . . unseen spirits venting their magic on man.

In the days of ancient Rome a group of men called Augurs formed a priestly college for interpreting the will of the gods. If lightning flashed from right to left, for instance, the gods or spirits were angry with the people.

Ancient Greeks made wreaths out of clover, considering it a sacred plant. Perhaps that is why this day it is "lucky" to find a four-leaf clover.

The ancient British believed oak trees were sacred, that spirits lived inside. That is why knocking on wood is thought to ward off bad luck.

These are still with us today and so are many others from the past. Shall we think about a few more?

Many people will not walk under a ladder. Ancient folk would not either. They believed their gods went up to the heavens on ladders. Anyone walking under might anger the evil spirits. Actually walking under a ladder is dangerous only because it might fall and hurt someone.

Breaking a mirror is considered bad luck. This is probably based on an ancient belief that a picture or reflection of a person contained a part of his spirit.

It's hard to figure why 13 is considered unlucky. Some hotels and office buildings have omitted this floor because tenants do not like to work or live there. Some steamship companies have no cabins on their ships numbered 13.

Christ was crucified on Friday. This been considered a bad day ever since. Hence, we can readily see why Friday, the 13th, is considered so unlucky.

Last, but not least, did you ever wonder why everyone says "Gesundheit" when you sneeze; or "God Bless You" which is just about the same thing?

In ancient days when someone sneezed it was thought part of the spirit left the body. Thus someone says God Bless You and calls upon the Lord to bless you.

Are you superstitious? So what if you are? Now at least you know some of the reasons why!

Lovely Tuesday

By Ethel Jacobson

Tuesday was the morning
When everything popped.
The vacuum cleaner chased us
And the clocks all stopped.
The TV frosted over
And the freezer gave
the news.
It was all very gay
Till they blew the last fuse.
When the washing machine
Ate the dishes, it gallumped.
That "lovely" Tuesday morning,
How the whole place
jumped!

Those Tin Cans on Your Kitchen's Shelf Boast an Exciting History

As you accompany mother or grandmother to the market, have you ever thought of how we got the ordinary can? Perhaps not. Very few people have. Yet the ordinary can that holds and preserves food has one of the most exciting histories of manufactured products.

The story goes back to 1795 in France. Europe was in the midst of a revolution. French soldiers and sailors were dying from scurvy. The reason was that they weren't getting fresh food.

The directory which headed the government in France offered a 12,000-franc prize to the lucky Frenchman who could come up with some way of preserving food for transportation in military campaigns.

A fellow named Appert became intrigued with the problem. He worked at it for 14 years. He finally proved that by heating food a bit and sealing it in a container that excluded air it would keep without spoiling.

He demonstrated it by sealing food in empty bottles. Napoleon Bonaparte awarded him 12,000 francs.

An English merchant named Peter Durand heard about this use of bottles. He decided they were pretty clumsy. So he tried sealing his food in tin canisters. He sealed them with solder.

Cans made their appearance during the early part of the last century in the eastern United States.

Millions upon millions of cans are now manufactured each year. Everything from soup to nuts (literally) is among the 2,200 products that find their way into cans.

—Weldon D. Woodson

Napoleon once said that an army "marches on its stomach." By that he meant that soldiers always needed good food to keep going. His problems were solved when a Frenchman came up with an idea for preserving food, an invention that led to our modern canning procceses.

Remembering Trips

An interesting wall decoration is an opened road map showing, by means of colored yarn, the routes of all trips. A different color yarn should be used for each trip or each year. Light burlap or cheesecloth pasted to the back of the map will reinforce it against tearing when needle and yarn are worked through it.

Best of All

By Frances Gorman Risser

The grass and flowers drink
warm rain,
My fountain pen drinks ink,
The kitchen sink drinks
soapy suds,
And I like milk to drink,
Or orange juice or ginger ale,
In glasses very tall,
But when it's hotter than plain hot,
Cool water's best of all!

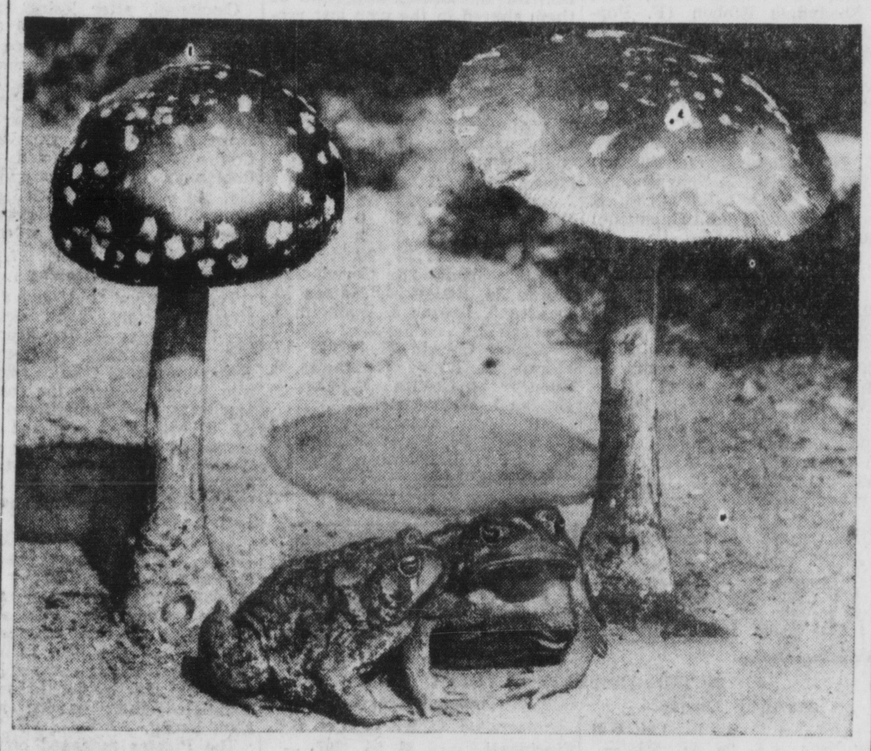
He May Be Ugly as Sin; But Old Man Toad Is Really a Good Guy to Have Around



These toads are dwarfed by the toadstools they sit under. Bumpy as they are, they won't give you warts.

Has any one ever told you that a person will get warts from handling toads? If so, they are wrong.

There is really no creature in the garden who is more helpful to men. The toad, for all his ugliness, is a great killer of insects. He will keep a patch of garden covering 800 square feet of land clear of harmful pests. He does this just to satisfy his own hunger.

He catches his insects on the wing. He will not eat a dead one. But, if he is hungry, he may nibble on a bit of raw ground meat.

You will not see the toad very often if you look for him in daylight. He is resting under the shade of the low bushes and getting ready for his night's hunting.

But, if you look for him after dark, he will be busy about his work. His ugliness is one means of defense. Many other animals find his warty skin poisonous and so do not hunt for him.

This is good, for other creatures, such as owls and snakes enjoy a good toad dinner.

Except that he is a killer of insects, the toad leaves other animals pretty much alone. But, in our drier climates, he needs a bit of help from us.

When it is very dry, we should provide him with water. And, it is always a good idea to grow some small shrubby plants which will shelter him when the days are long and hot. They also help him hide from his enemies.

Many people will not walk under a ladder. Ancient folk would not either. They believed their gods went up to the heavens on ladders. Anyone walking under might anger the evil spirits. Actually walking under a ladder is dangerous only because it might fall and hurt someone.

Breaking a mirror is considered bad luck. This is probably based on an ancient belief that a picture or reflection of a person contained a part of his spirit.

It's hard to figure why 13 is considered unlucky. Some hotels and office buildings have omitted this floor because tenants do not like to work or live there. Some steamship companies have no cabins on their ships numbered 13.

Christ was crucified on Friday. This been considered a bad day ever since. Hence, we can readily see why Friday, the 13th, is considered so unlucky.

Last, but not least, did you ever wonder why everyone says "Gesundheit" when you sneeze; or "God Bless You" which is just about the same thing?

In ancient days when someone sneezed it was thought part of the spirit left the body. Thus someone says God Bless You and calls upon the Lord to bless you.

Are you superstitious? So what if you are? Now at least you know some of the reasons why!

Lovely Tuesday

By Ethel Jacobson

Tuesday was the morning
When everything popped.
The vacuum cleaner chased us
And the clocks all stopped.
The TV frosted over
And the freezer gave
the news.
It was all very gay
Till they blew the last fuse.
When the washing machine
Ate the dishes, it gallumped.
That "lovely" Tuesday
morning,
How the whole place
jumped!

Those Tin Cans on Your Kitchen's Shelf Boast an Exciting History

As you accompany mother or grandmother to the market, have you ever thought of how we got the ordinary can? Perhaps not. Very few people have. Yet the ordinary can that holds and preserves food has one of the most exciting histories of manufactured products.

The story goes back to 1795 in France. Europe was in the midst of a revolution. French soldiers and sailors were dying from scurvy. The reason was that they weren't getting fresh food.

The directory which headed the government in France offered a 12,000-franc prize to the lucky Frenchman who could come up with some way of preserving food for transportation in military campaigns.

A fellow named Appert became intrigued with the problem. He worked at it for 14 years. He finally proved that by heating food a bit and sealing it in a container that excluded air it would keep without spoiling.

He demonstrated it by sealing food in empty bottles. Napoleon Bonaparte awarded him 12,000 francs.

An English merchant named Peter Durand heard about this use of bottles. He decided they were pretty clumsy. So he tried sealing his food in tin canisters. He sealed them with solder.

Cans made their appearance during the early part of the last century in the eastern United States.

Millions upon millions of cans are now manufactured each year. Everything from soup to nuts (literally) is among the 2,200 products that find their way into cans.

—Weldon D. Woodson

Napoleon once said that an army "marches on its stomach." By that he meant that soldiers always needed good food to keep going. His problems were solved when a Frenchman came up with an idea for preserving food, an invention that led to our modern canning procceses.

Remembering Trips

An interesting wall decoration is an opened road map showing, by means of colored yarn, the routes of all trips. A different color yarn should be used for each trip or each year. Light burlap or cheesecloth pasted to the back of the map will reinforce it against tearing when needle and yarn are worked through it.

Best of All

By Frances Gorman Risser

The grass and flowers drink
warm rain,
My fountain pen drinks ink,
The kitchen sink drinks
soapy suds,
And I like milk to drink,
Or orange juice or ginger ale,
In glasses very tall,
But when it's hotter than
plain hot,
Cool water's best of all!

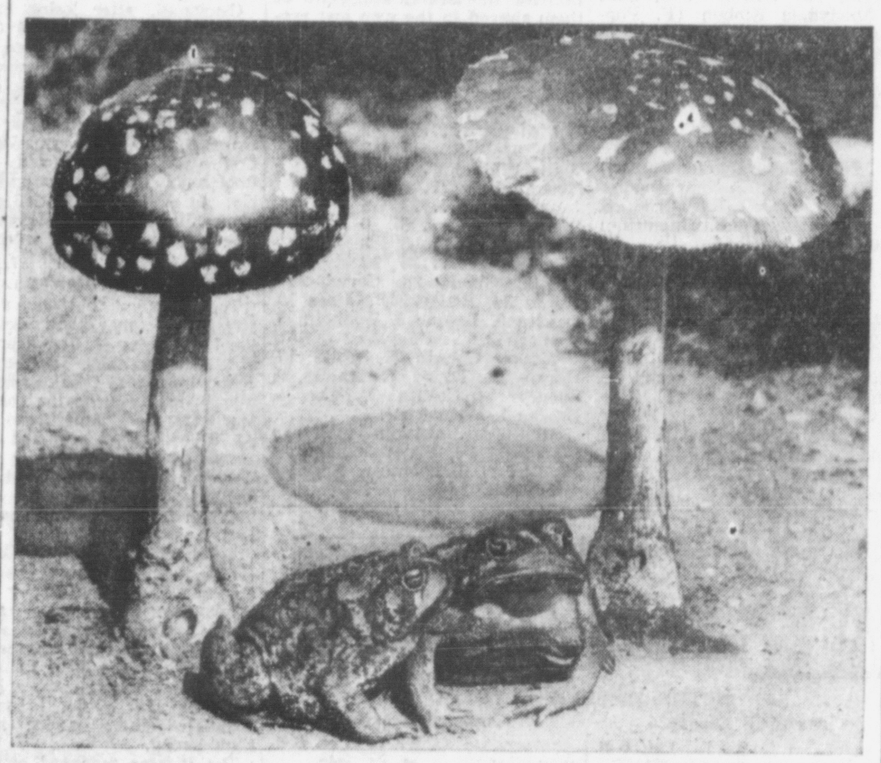
He May Be Ugly as Sin; But Old Man Toad Is Really a Good Guy to Have Around



These toads are dwarfed by the toadstools they sit under. Bumpy as they are, they won't give you warts.

Has any one ever told you that a person will get warts from handling toads? If so, they are wrong.

There is really no creature in the garden who is more helpful to men. The toad, for all his ugliness, is a great killer of insects. He will keep a patch of garden covering 800 square feet of land clear of harmful pests. He does this just to satisfy his own hunger.

He catches his insects on the wing. He will not eat a dead one. But, if he is hungry, he may nibble on a bit of raw ground meat.

You will not see the toad very often if you look for him in daylight. He is resting under the shade of the low bushes and getting ready for his night's hunting.

But, if you look for him after dark, he will be busy about his work. His ugliness is one means of defense. Many other animals find his warty skin poisonous and so do not hunt for him.

This is good, for other creatures, such as owls and snakes enjoy a good toad dinner.

Except that he is a killer of insects, the toad leaves other animals pretty much alone. But, in our drier climates, he needs a bit of help from us.

When it is very dry, we should provide him with water. And, it is always a good idea to grow some small shrubby plants which will shelter him when the days are long and hot. They also help him hide from his enemies.

Kingston Sport Club Slated to Open Soccer Season Sunday

Locals to Play At Poughkeepsie In League Tilt

Kingston Sport Club will pry the lid off the 1961-62 Central New York State Soccer Football Assn. with a game at Poughkeepsie against the Florentine Council Sunday at 1 p. m. The home side is a newcomer to the league.

In other opening matches, defending champion Troy Sport Club opens at home with Little Falls, Schenectady Sons of Italy play at Poughkeepsie against Germania Blue and White and the Poughkeepsie Italians playing at the Schenectady Sons of Italy field.

The Kingston club was in title contention most of the way last season before finally losing in the latter stages. The team has many veterans returning and has added some promising youngsters.

The local club plays at the Spring Lake field and it will be repaired. Until repairs are completed, the team will play at Hasbrouck Park.

With 12 clubs set to start play, the Central New York league appears to be headed for its best campaign. The loop is a real solid one with all clubs figured to be on an even basis. The action should be hot and heavy for the rest of the season.

U. S. Net Stars Out Of Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Another dark day for United States tennis dawns today with four foreigners in the semifinal round of the National Championships.

Roy Emerson of Australia meets Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Rod Laver of Australia tangles with Mike Sangster of England for the right to make the championship bracket.

Only once before in the long history of the Nationals has an American failed to make the semifinals. That was in 1958.

The final four Americans were eliminated Friday. Top-seeded Laver took care of Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4. Emerson, ranked No. 3, whipped Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5. Sangster, the No. 4 seed, trounced Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-4, 7-5, 6-1. Osuna, unseeded, completed the shambles by downing Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Even in the women's division, things are desperate. Except for defending champion Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., it's an all foreign semifinal. Miss Hard meets Margaret Smith of Australia in one semi and British Wightman Cuppers Angela Mortimer and Ann Haydon play the other.

Miss Mortimer, the Wimbledon champion, eliminated Lesley Turner of Australia, 6-4, 6-4 and Miss Haydon, seeded No. 7, downed Jan Lehane of Australia, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2 Friday.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Sports Editor Glen Doty's suggestion that Middletown High drop Port Jervis and take on Newburgh Academy in the annual Thanksgiving Day football classic must have sent temperatures around the DUSO soaring a bit higher than the stifling heat wave of the past week.

The Middletown sportswriter was quite serious about the whole thing, but his proposal left many persons in Newburgh and Kingston colder than a dip into the Bering Sea.

Doty's thinking is based on the premise that Port Jervis, a Class B school, has tired of trying to beat the big boys and will leave the DUSO circuit in a year or two.

The thought of engaging in a football debate in this shimmering heat is unbearable, but we do have a suggestion for Brother Doty: why tamper with the KHS-Newburgh game that has been steeped in tradition since 1924. Why not take on Poughkeepsie High instead and end four decades of frustration for Sam Kalloch. There would be considerable support for a Middletown-Poughkeepsie "classic" on Turkey Day, but absolutely none for any move which would disturb the KHS-NFA setup merely to accommodate the Middies.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

What are the limitations of Mrs. Wiggie "66" de Lisio and Leon "63" Randall. Is it possible they could shoot even lower at their respective courses at Woodstock and Wiltwyck? Perhaps, but it would be an uneasy adventure to bet against them. . . . Overcome by the beautiful surroundings at Indian Lake, Roland Post, the composing room's rod and gun editor, postcards a prediction that the Yankees will win the pennant, beat the Cincinnati Reds in five games and neither Mantle nor Maris will break The Babe's record. He is on secure ground on only one count. . . . Mrs. George Rifenbary's handling of the publicity for the women's division at Wiltwyck Country Club was a superb stint in public relations. The overall season for Wiltwyck was perhaps the finest in the history of the club. Among those who deserve kudos for their contributions were Mrs. Robert H. Daley, golf chairman; Mrs. Richard Davenport, tournament chairman; Mrs. Edward V. Strohsal, general chairman; Mrs. Joseph Marr, prizes; and Mrs. Stanley Hankinson and Mrs. Raymond Le Fevre, who handled scoring and entries; and the club pro, Scotty Robertson.

• A Matter of Opinion

The new Poughkeepsie bowling league, originally planned as a super circuit, appears to have fallen several notched below the blueprints. The $5,000 prize list gives the league a big time aura, but once past the top half dozen keglers, it looks no better than the new Invitational Classic at Ferraro's Bowlerama. Phil Versace (209) and Dewey Blair (204) are the top recruits, with Kingston's Dick Howard entered with a 198 average. Ken Joseph of Kingston is rated a 192 performer. Both leagues are restricted to bowlers with averages of 180 or more. However, the absence of such "name" performers as Tom Carlino, Charlie Manfro and others takes some of the lustre off that circuit, too. The HVBL goes into another season retaining one of its bush league provisions which bars certain cities from importing outside bowlers. The theory behind the rule is to protect the smaller towns from having their stars lured to the big cities. However, we will still prefer the free enterprise system and if the Hudson Valley League is ever to become anything but a house league, it will have to scrap that rule. We doubt it will ever happen.

Ray Anderson Seeks Second Feature Victory at Onteora

Ray Anderson, veteran Newburgh driver who finally crashed the winner's circle at Onteora Speedway last week, will be back trying to making it two straight Sunday.

But barring his path will be the somewhat formidable person of D. D. (Rebel) Harris, a 10-time winner who ran into all sorts of trouble at various tracks last weekend. He was forced out of three races, while leading them all, due to motor trouble. The car has been repaired and the Rebel is rolling again.

Anderson can also expect serious opposition from Don Avery, Stretch Van Steenburg, Ernie Beesmer, Johnny Rohan and Walt Schubert. First heat is scheduled at 2:30 p. m.

Jordan Shuns Coaching Job; Protests Rule

Arlington High School coach Fritz Jordan has declined to begin coaching the football team at the school until he has received assurance there will be a change in the detention program at the school.

Superintendent of Schools Harold Storm said that Frank King, Jordan's assistant, is handling the football team at the present time.

The Superintendent explained that Arlington has in the past set aside Thursday and Friday afternoons as after-school detention days for students who have disobeyed regulations. Two buses transport these students to their homes at 5 p. m. In the basketball and baseball seasons, this causes difficulty for Jordan if some of his players are detained.

Coach Jordan feels that school detention can be given to the students on days other than Tuesday and Friday. "There are three other school days in every week," he declared.

A meeting of the school superintendent along with Principal Donald Nelson, Walter Neidhardt, principal of the junior high school and William Wizeman, supervisor of transportation, will be held to consider the matter of detention days.

Mantle Slugs 52nd Home Run

M-M Boys Have 107 Now to Tie Gehrig and Ruth

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris was hitless, but Mickey Mantle hit his 52nd home run of the season Friday night, giving the New York Yankee's M-twins a share of the two-man major league record of 107 homers set by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in 1927.

Mantle, tying his one season high (he also hit 52 in 1956), remained two games behind Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927, however. Maris, 0-for-3, leads the Babe's pace by six games.

The Yankees backed right-hander Bill Stafford (13-7) with 11 hits, one a two-run homer by Tony Kubek off Gary Bell (9-15), and now have walloped 213 home runs, just eight shy of the major league record. They also are a whomping 10 games ahead of second-place Detroit.

Tigers Bow Again

The still tumbling Tigers, checked on two hits by Tracy Stallard and reliever Mike Fornieles, lost their eighth in a row, 9-2 at Boston. Baltimore edged within two games of the Tigers with a 2-1 and 4-2 twi-night sweep over Washington. Kansas City whipped Minnesota 6-4.

Jim Pagliaroni batted in five runs for the Red Sox, two with a third inning double that beat Jim Bunning (17-11), and the other three with a homer. Fornieles (9-8) was the winner, and also hit his first major league homer. One of the Tiger hits was a home run by Dick Brown, off Stallard.

Whitey Herzog's single capped a two-run ninth for the Birds, who were shut out on three hits by loser Pete Burnside (1-8) until then in the first game, Herzog also singled in a two-run seventh as the Orioles broke up a 2-2 tie in the nightcap against Ed Houbaugh (6-9). Hoyt Wilhelm (9-7) won the first game in relief and Dick Hall (7-5) took the night cap with a four-hitter.

Minnie Mionso's two-run homer won it for the White Sox and winning reliever Billy Pierce (9-8). Jim Donohue (4-7) lost it.

Corwin, Spada Pace Braves With Four Wins Each

Al Corwin and Mike Spada each won four games and lost one for the Kingston Braves during the season. However, southpaw Bob Maines posted an excellent 3-0 record, the top mark on the staff.

Spada pitched the most innings (36) and gave up the most earned runs (12) He allowed 28 hits, walked 17 and struck out 36, an average of one per inning.

Corwin led in strikeouts (54) and in walks (17). He gave up 28 hits, the same total as Spada. The former Giant pitcher surrendered nine earned runs.

A total of ten hurlers saw action for the Braves and eight of them shared in the won lost record.

The statistics:

Pitcher	IP	ER	Record
Al Corwin	35	9	4-1
Frank Horan	30	6	1-2
Bob Maines	21	2	3-0
Larry DeVita	7	3	0-0

Norm Fahey	1	0	0-0

Braves Oppose Poughkeepsie Tonight in Series Opener

The NY-NJ Baseball League series opens at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie tonight and the big news is that the local Braves will not have to face Big Tom Acker, the league's No. 1 pitcher.

Acker, former Cincinnati Reds relief artist, is hobbled with an injury and will miss series opener. He compiled a 12-0 record this season and beat Kingston twice.

The Poughkeepsie started will be either Jim Hubble, who stopped the Braves cold in a crucial game last season, or Charlie Brown, a New Jersey import.

General Manager Fred Davi of the Braves has a choice of three Kingston pitchers—Bob Maines, Mike Spada and John Risley, with the starter not likely to be decided until just before game time, 8 p. m.

Locals Underdogs

Kingston has not beaten Poughkeepsie in several years of NY-NJ League competition and will go into tonight's game a solid underdog. The absence of Acker is expected to boost Kingston's chances in the opener.

Of the possible Kingston mound picks, Spada has been the workhorse with 36 innings. He finished with a 4 and 1 record, with 12 earned runs and 36 strikeouts. Maines, recently released from service, compiled a 3-0 mark with 18 strikeouts in 21 innings.

Southpaw Frank Horan, a possible dark horse choice, has pitched better than his 1-2 record would indicate. He appeared in 30 innings, yielded only six earned runs and struck out 37.

The Poughkeepsie management has invited the mayors of the two cities—Victor Waryas of Poughkeepsie and Edwin F. Radel of Kingston to participate in pregame ceremonies.

The second game of the series is scheduled Saturday, Sept. 16 in Kingston and the third, if necessary, at Poughkeepsie on Sept. 20.

Reds Pick Up a Game In NL Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds, on the brink of falling out of first place in the National League pennant race, regained a two-game lead by beating St. Louis 3-2 in 10 innings Friday night when second place Los Angeles lost 7-3 at San Francisco.

Pittsburgh joined the Giants in helping out the Reds by chilling third-place Milwaukee 2-1, dropping the Braves seven games behind. The Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 4-1.

Cincinnati, after losing four of seven, pulled back to .500 (10-10) since regaining first place Aug. 16, on Gus Bell's pinch single, a sacrifice and Eddie Kasko's single. They caught up with the Cards in the eighth when loser Ernie Broglio (9-11) gave up his first walk. An error and Frank Robinson's two-out, two-run double put the Reds back in the game. Jim Brosnan (9-3) was the winner in relief —his seventh in a row over the Cards.

Big First Inning

The Dodgers' bid for a fifth straight victory didn't get past the first inning at San Francisco. The Giants stung Dodger ace Johnny Podres (18-5), who had won 10 in a row on the road, for four runs. Joey Amalfitano started it with a triple and came across on Jim Davenport's single. Willie Mays added a two-run homer. Orlando Cepeda socked his 39th home run and that was that.

Left-hander Mike McCormick (12-14), given extra help by Davenport's two-run homer in the second, was the winner as the Giants ended their losing skid at five, four at Los Angeles. The Dodgers had nine hits, as did the Giants, but only one was a homer, a two-run shot by Gil Hodges that completed their scoring in the sixth inning.

The Pirates managed only four hits but beat rookie Bob Hendley (5-4) with two runs in the fourth on two walks, Roberto Clemente's single and a doubleplay. Bob Friend (14-17) was the winner, getting Frank Bolling to hit into a force out with the bases loaded in the ninth. Milwaukee had eight hits, and scored in the sixth on a double by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron's single.

Bills to Open Against Denver

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The winless Buffalo Bills open their offficial American Football League season Sunday afternoon in War Memorial Stadium against the almost equally luckless Denver Broncos.

The Broncos have won one of their five pre-season exhibitions while the Bills, the league's top defensive club haven't found a winning offensive combination in four attempts.

Musco's .338 Average Paces Braves Hitters

Third baseman Dave Musco led Kingston Braves hitters with a .338 average this season, but the squad's top slugger was catcher Doug Holmquist, who is ticketed for the new Dallas club in the National League.

Musco had 27 hits in 80 at bats, only two for extra bases—a double and home run. Holmquist, with 19 hits in 59 AB's, slugged two home runs and four triples and 15 runs batted in. Musco knocked in 13.

Charlie Pike, an infrequent performer, finished with .333. Veteran Hal Lewis, a versatile utility player, was the other .300 hitter among the regulars with .328 on 22 hits in 67 at bats, including three doubles.

First baseman Wally Widholme batted .286 and led the club in doubles with 4. He also had one home run and eight runs batted in.

Kingston Sport Club Slated to Open Soccer Season Sunday

Locals to Play At Poughkeepsie In League Tilt

Kingston Sport Club will pry the lid off the 1961-62 Central New York State Soccer Football Assn. with a game at Poughkeepsie against the Florentine Council Sunday at 1 p. m. The home side is a newcomer to the league.

In other opening matches, defending champion Troy Sport Club opens at home with Little Falls, Schenectady Sons of Italy play at Poughkeepsie against Germania Blue and White and the Poughkeepsie Italians playing at the Schenectady Sons of Italy field.

The Kingston club was in title contention most of the way last season before finally losing in the latter stages. The team has many veterans returning and has added some promising youngsters.

The local club plays at the Spring Lake field and it will be repaired. Until repairs are completed, the team will play at Hasbrouck Park.

With 12 clubs set to start play, the Central New York league appears to be headed for its best campaign. The loop is a real solid one with all clubs figured to be on an even basis. The action should be hot and heavy for the rest of the season.

U. S. Net Stars Out Of Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Another dark day for United States tennis dawns today with four foreigners in the semifinal round of the National Championships.

Roy Emerson of Australia meets Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Rod Laver of Australia tangles with Mike Sangster of England for the right to make the championship bracket.

Only once before in the long history of the Nationals has an American failed to make the semifinals. That was in 1958.

The final four Americans were eliminated Friday. Top-seeded Laver took care of Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4. Emerson, ranked No. 3, whipped Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5. Sangster, the No. 4 seed, trounced Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-4, 7-5, 6-1. Osuna, unseeded, completed the shambles by downing Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Even in the women's division, things are desperate. Except for defending champion Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., it's an all foreign semifinal. Miss Hard meets Margaret Smith of Australia in one semi and British Wightman Cuppers Angela Mortimer and Ann Haydon play the other.

Miss Mortimer, the Wimbledon champion, eliminated Lesley Turner of Australia, 6-4, 6-4 and Miss Haydon, seeded No. 7, downed Jan Lehane of Australia, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2 Friday.

Senior Cage League Has First Meeting

The first organizational meeting of the Kingston YMCA Basketball League was held Thursday. Discussion centered around the league constitution, by-laws, play dates, and team rosters. Another meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 14 and teams interested in joining are asked to attend.

Those present at the first meeting were Neal DuBois, Robert Doran, Bryan Lawrence, Bill Miller, Jim Massa and Charles Teelon.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Steve Orozco at the local YMCA.

Sports Editor Glen Doty's suggestion that Middletown High drop Port Jervis and take on Newburgh Academy in the annual Thanksgiving Day football classic must have sent temperatures around the DUSO soaring a bit higher than the stifling heat wave of the past week.

The Middletown sportswriter was quite serious about the whole thing, but his proposal left many persons in Newburgh and Kingston colder than a dip into the Bering Sea.

Doty's thinking is based on the premise that Port Jervis, a Class B school, has tired of trying to beat the big boys and will leave the DUSO circuit in a year or two.

The thought of engaging in a football debate in this shimmering heat is unbearable, but we do have a suggestion for Brother Doty: why tamper with the KHS-Newburgh game that has been steeped in tradition since 1924. Why not take on Poughkeepsie High instead and end four decades of frustration for Sam Kalloch. There would be considerable support for a Middletown-Poughkeepsie "classic" on Turkey Day, but absolutely none for any move which would disturb the KHS-NFA setup merely to accommodate the Middies.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

What are the limitations of Mrs. Wiggie "66" de Lisio and Leon "63" Randall. Is it possible they could shoot even lower at their respective courses at Woodstock and Wiltwyck? Perhaps, but it would be an uneasy adventure to bet against them. . . . Overcome by the beautiful surroundings at Indian Lake, Roland Post, the composing room's rod and gun editor, postcards a prediction that the Yankees will win the pennant, beat the Cincinnati Reds in five games and neither Mantle nor Maris will break The Babe's record. He is on secure ground on only one count. . . . Mrs. George Rifenbary's handling of the publicity for the women's division at Wiltwyck Country Club was a superb stint in public relations. The overall season for Wiltwyck was perhaps the finest in the history of the club. Among those who deserve kudos for their contributions were Mrs. Robert H. Daley, golf chairman; Mrs. Richard Davenport, tournament chairman; Mrs. Edward V. Strohsal, general chairman; Mrs. Joseph Marr, prizes; and Mrs. Stanley Hankinson and Mrs. Raymond Le Fevre, who handled scoring and entries; and the club pro, Scotty Robertson.

• A Matter of Opinion

The new Poughkeepsie bowling league, originally planned as a super circuit, appears to have fallen several notched below the blueprints. The $5,000 prize list gives the league a big time aura, but once past the top half dozen keglers, it looks no better than the new Invitational Classic at Ferraro's Bowlerama. Phil Versace (209) and Dewey Blair (204) are the top recruits, with Kingston's Dick Howard entered with a 198 average, Ken Joseph of Kingston is rated a 192 performer. Both leagues are restricted to bowlers with averages of 180 or more. However, the absence of such "name" performers as Tom Carlino, Charlie Manfro and others takes some of the lustre off that circuit, too. The HVBL goes into another season retaining one of its bush league provisions which bars certain cities from importing outside bowlers. The theory behind the rule is to protect the smaller towns from having their stars lured to the big cities. However, we will still prefer the free enterprise system and if the Hudson Valley League is ever to become anything but a house league, it will have to scrap that rule. We doubt it will ever happen.

Ray Anderson Seeks Second Feature Victory at Onteora

Ray Anderson, veteran Newburgh driver who finally crashed the winner's circle at Onteora Speedway last week, will be back trying to making it two straight Sunday.

But barring his path will be the somewhat formidable person of D. D. (Rebel) Harris, a 10-time winner who ran into all sorts of trouble at various tracks last weekend. He was forced out of three races, while leading them all, due to motor trouble. The car has been repaired and the Rebel is rolling again.

Anderson can also expect serious opposition from Don Avery, Stretch Van Steenburg, Ernie Beesmer, Johnny Rohan and Walt Schubert. First heat is scheduled at 2:30 p. m.

Jordan Shuns Coaching Job; Protests Rule

Arlington High School coach Fritz Jordan has declined to begin coaching the football team at the school until he has received assurance there will be a change in the detention program at the school.

Superintendent of Schools Harold Storm said that Frank King, Jordan's assistant, is handling the football team at the present time.

The Superintendent explained that Arlington has in the past set aside Thursday and Friday afternoons as after-school detention days for students who have disobeyed regulations. Two buses transport these students to their homes at 5 p. m. In the basketball and baseball seasons, this causes difficulty for Jordan if some of his players are detained.

Coach Jordan feels that school detention can be given to the students on days other than Tuesday and Friday. "There are three other school days in every week," he declared.

A meeting of the school superintendent along with Principal Donald Nelson, Walter Neidhardt, principal of the junior high school and William Wizeman, supervisor of transportation, will be held to consider the matter of detention days.

Mantle Slugs 52nd Home Run

M-M Boys Have 107 Now to Tie Gehrig and Ruth

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris was hitless, but Mickey Mantle hit his 52nd home run of the season Friday night, giving the New York Yankee's M-twins a share of the two-man major league record of 107 homers set by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in 1927.

Mantle, tying his one season high (he also hit 52 in 1956), remained two games behind Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927, however. Maris, 0-for-3, leads the Babe's pace by six games.

The Yankees backed right-hander Bill Stafford (13-7) with 11 hits, one a two-run homer by Tony Kubek off Gary Bell (9-15), and now have walloped 213 home runs, just eight shy of the major league record. They also are a whomping 10 games ahead of second-place Detroit.

Tigers Bow Again

The still tumbling Tigers, checked on two hits by Tracy Stallard and reliever Mike Fornieles, lost their eighth in a row, 9-2 at Boston. Baltimore edged within two games of the Tigers with a 2-1 and 4-2 twi-night sweep over Washington. Kansas City whipped Minnesota 6-4.

Jim Pagliaroni batted in five runs for the Red Sox, two with a third inning double that beat Jim Bunning (17-11), and the other three with a homer. Fornieles (9-8) was the winner, and also hit his first major league homer. One of the Tiger hits was a home run by Dick Brown, off Stallard.

Whitey Herzog's single capped a two-run ninth for the Birds, who were shut out on three hits by loser Pete Burnside (1-8) until then in the first game, Herzog also singled in a two-run seventh as the Orioles broke up a 2-2 tie in the nightcap against Ed Houbaugh (6-9). Hoyt Wilhelm (9-7) won the first game in relief and Dick Hall (7-5) took the night cap with a four-hitter.

Minnie Mionso's two-run homer won it for the White Sox and winning reliever Billy Pierce (9-8). Jim Donohue (4-7) lost it.

Corwin, Spada Pace Braves With Four Wins Each

Al Corwin and Mike Spada each won four games and lost one for the Kingston Braves during the season. However, southpaw Bob Maines posted an excellent 3-0 record, the top mark on the staff.

Spada pitched the most innings (36) and gave up the most earned runs (12) He allowed 28 hits, walked 17 and struck out 36, an average of one per inning.

Corwin led in strikeouts (54) and in walks (17). He gave up 28 hits, the same total as Spada. The former Giant pitcher surrendered nine earned runs.

A total of ten hurlers saw action for the Braves and eight of them shared in the won lost record.

The statistics:

Acker Will Not Pitch

Braves Oppose Poughkeepsie Tonight in Series Opener

The NY-NJ Baseball League series opens at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie tonight and the big news is that the local Braves will not have to face Big Tom Acker, the league's No. 1 pitcher.

Acker, former Cincinnati Reds relief artist, is hobbled with an injury and will miss series opener. He compiled a 12-0 record this season and beat Kingston twice.

The Poughkeepsie started will be either Jim Hubble, who stopped the Braves cold in a crucial game last season, or Charlie Brown, a New Jersey import.

General Manager Fred Davi of the Braves has a choice of three Kingston pitchers—Bob Maines, Mike Spada and John Risley, with the starter not likely to be decided until just before game time, 8 p. m.

Locals Underdogs

Kingston has not beaten Poughkeepsie in several years of NY-NJ League competition and will go into tonight's game a solid underdog. The absence of Acker is expected to boost Kingston's chances in the opener.

Of the possible Kingston mound picks, Spada has been the workhorse with 36 innings. He finished with a 4 and 1 record, with 12 earned runs and 36 strikeouts. Maines, recently released from service, compiled a 3-0 mark with 18 strikeouts in 21 innings.

Southpaw Frank Horan, a possible dark horse choice, has pitched better than his 1-2 record would indicate. He appeared in 30 innings, yielded only six earned runs and struck out 37.

The Poughkeepsie management has invited the mayors of the two cities—Victor Waryas of Poughkeepsie and Edwin F. Radel of Kingston to participate in pregame ceremonies.

The second game of the series is scheduled Saturday, Sept. 16 in Kingston and the third, if necessary, at Poughkeepsie on Sept. 20.

Reds Pick Up a Game In NL Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds, on the brink of falling out of first place in the National League pennant race, regained a two-game lead by beating St. Louis 3-2 in 10 innings Friday night when second place Los Angeles lost 7-3 at San Francisco.

Pittsburgh joined the Giants in helping out the Reds by chilling third-place Milwaukee 2-1, dropping the Braves seven games behind. The Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 4-1.

Cincinnati, after losing four of seven, pulled back to .500 (10-10) since regaining first place Aug. 16, on Gus Bell's pinch single, a sacrifice and Eddie Kasko's single. They caught up with the Cards in the eighth when loser Ernie Broglio (9-11) gave up his first walk. An error and Frank Robinson's two-out, two-run double put the Reds back in the game, Jim Brosnan (9-3) was the winner in relief —his seventh in a row over the Cards.

Big First Inning

The Dodgers' bid for a fifth straight victory didn't get past the first inning at San Francisco. The Giants stung Dodger ace Johnny Podres (18-5), who had won 10 in a row on the road, for four runs. Joey Amalfitano started it with a triple and came across on Jim Davenport's single. Willie Mays added a two-run homer. Orlando Cepeda socked his 39th home run and that was that.

Left-hander Mike McCormick (12-14), given extra help by Davenport's two-run homer in the second, was the winner as the Giants ended their losing skid at five, four at Los Angeles. The Dodgers had nine hits, as did the Giants, but only one was a homer, a two-run shot by Gil Hodges that completed their scoring in the sixth inning.

The Pirates managed only four hits but beat rookie Bob Hendley (5-4) with two runs in the fourth on two walks, Roberto Clemente's single and a doubleplay. Bob Friend (14-17) was the winner, getting Frank Bolling to hit into a force out with the bases loaded in the ninth. Milwaukee had eight hits, and scored in the sixth on a double by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron's single.

Bills to Open Against Denver

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The winless Buffalo Bills open their offficial American Football League season Sunday afternoon in War Memorial Stadium against the almost equally luckless Denver Broncos.

The Broncos have won one of their five pre-season exhibitions while the Bills, the league's top defensive club haven't found a winning offensive combination in four attempts.

Musco's .338 Average Paces Braves Hitters

Third baseman Dave Musco led Kingston Braves hitters with a .338 average this season, but the squad's top slugger was catcher Doug Holmquist, who is ticketed for the new Dallas club in the National League.

Musco had 27 hits in 80 at bats, only two for extra bases—a double and home run. Holmquist, with 19 hits in 59 AB's, slugged two home runs and four triples and 15 runs batted in. Musco knocked in 13.

Charlie Pike, an infrequent performer, finished with .333. Veteran Hal Lewis, a versatile utility player, was the other .300 hitter among the regulars with .328 on 22 hits in 67 at bats, including three doubles.

First baseman Wally Widholme batted .286 and led the club in doubles with 4. He also had one home run and eight runs batted in.

'Not Out of It'

Mantle Still Hoping To Break HR Record

By JOE RIECHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Modesty is an admirable trademark of Mickey Mantle, so it came as a surprise when he said Friday night:

"This thing isn't over yet. I don't think I'm out of it. I'm gonna try like hell."

Mantle, "trying like hell" Friday night despite a gimpy left knee that has hampered him for two weeks, smashed his 52nd home run as the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland 9-1 for their ninth consecutive victory.

Mickey's home run, which equaled his personal season high, still left him three shy of Maris' total but kept him two games back of Babe Ruth's record pace of 1927 when the Bambino hit 60.

Maris went homerless and now is six games ahead of Ruth's pace. He and Mantle have 13 games left in their assault on the record for 154 decisions, as ruled by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Mantle admitted the sensational home run hitting of Maris has spurred him on to his best season since 1956 when he also walloped 52 home runs and captured the triple crown.

"I doubt if I would have played as many games as I have," he said, obviously thinking of the bum left knee. "Roger has presented a sort of challenge."

Mantle laughed when someone asked whether the pressure was on again.

"Heck, no," he said. "As a matter of fact, when I hit my 48th last week, I told Roger, 'The pressure is off me. I already beat my guy.'"

The reference was to the 47 home runs hit by Ruth's teammate, Lou Gehrig, in 1927. Mickey's meaning was clear. As the leader it was up to Maris to top Ruth's 60.

Friday's clout by Mantle, off right-hander Gary Bell in the fifth inning, gave the M and M boys a combined total of 107 home runs, matching the combined record total of Ruth and Gehrig.

Mickey displayed a bruise on his left shin, sustained while batting in the eighth inning. After drawing a walk, he gave way to a pinch runner.

"The foot still aches," said Mickey, "but it won't keep me out of the lineup unless it gets a lot worse. It will have to be pretty sore to keep me out."

Cold Front Wins William H. Cane Pace at Yonkers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold Front, an 18-1 shot, swept up from seventh place in the stretch Friday night and won the $110,950 William H. Cane Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

The event is the first of the Triple Crown series for 3-year-old pacers.

Cold Front's time—2:08 3-5—for the 1 1-16 miles was three-fifths of a second slower than the world record.

Cold Front, driven by Clint Hodgins, paid $38.20. Henry T. Adios was second and Flying Baker third.

The other Triple Crown events are the $70,000 Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio, Sept. 21, and the $150,000 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway Nov. 18. Only Adios Butler, called the world's fastest pacer, has taken the three events—that in 1959.

Elsewhere on the New York State harness scene:

Vernon Downs reopens for the fall meeting tonight with the $10,000 final of the August pacing series. Dancer Hanover, which won the five races it entered in the six qualifying legs is favored. The meeting ends Sept. 30.

Saratoga Raceway reported its 75-night summer meeting had a record attendance and handle. The track's 20-year high for attendance, set last year at 286,897, was broken this year with 322,292. The pari-mutuel handle this year was $13,957,310, almost $1.5 million more than last year.

Other feature winners last night:

Monticello Raceway—Nike Hanover ($15.90), 2:03 4-5, R. Buston driving, in the $5,000 invitational handicap pace.

Saratoga Raceway — Van Counsel ($4.40), 2:04 3-5, Bob Silliphant driving, in a $2,500 trot.

Batavia Downs—Irvin Paul ($3.90), 2:02 3-5, Wilbur Long driving, in the $5,000 invitational trot.

Barrington Sets Closed Circuit Again This Year

GREAT BARRINGTON—Racing fans again this year will enjoy the convenience of a closed circuit TV system at the Barrington Fair when the 1961 meet opens for six days Monday, Sept. 11.

Eight monitor screens strategically placed under the grandstand, on the mezzanine, and in the infield area will afford fans a complete view of every race.

High speed cameras not only televise the nine races but record the action on film for study by track stewards.

The TV system was introducted at Barrington in 1958 while the film patrol made its debut several years ago. Both installations were "firsts" for any fairgrounds track in the country.

One of tis greatest boosters of the film is Eddie Arcaro who said that the film patrol has been one of the outstanding contributions to safe riding by reducing rule-breaking by some 80 per cent.

He pointed out that in the swift frenzied running of a horse race, temptation rides with every jockey, but with the advent of the film patrol, the infractions today are practically nil.

Meanwhile, preparations at the Barrington racetrack continued to move forward with opening day of the fair just a few days away. Fair officials announce that post time would remain the same this year with the first race slated for 2:15 p. m., Monday through Friday. Saturday, the last day of the six-day meet, will see post time advanced 15 minutes to 2 p. m.

Brown, Wade Lead Bears To 24-21 Win Over Steelers

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears of the National Football League were certain of one thing today — they have a quarterback problem but, what a problem.

Coach George Halas has not one but two fine quarterbacks ready now for the approaching NFL season if Friday night's 24-21 exhibition triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers is any indication.

First, Ed Brown, and then Billy Wade electrified 45,223 spectators in Chicago's Soldier Field with dazzling passes which ignited touchdown plays of 92, 90 and 75 yards.

The Bears took a 17-0 halftime lead in the 16th annual Armed Forces Benefit game. Pittsburgh romped for three fourth-period scores.

The league's only unbeaten, untied team, the world champion Philadelphia Eagles, and the Green Bay Packers, get in their final exhibition licks tonight.

The Eagles (3-0) face the St. Louis Cardinals (0-3) at Hershey, Pa. Green Bay (4-0) runs into the Washington Redskins (0-4) at Columbus, Ga.

In other contests tonight, Detroit (3-1) invades Cleveland (3-1) and San Francisco (2-2) clashes with the Dallas Cowboys (2-2) at Sacramento, Calif.

Rounding out the exhibition campaign are two games Sunday the Los Angeles Rams (1-2-1) going to Minnesota (0-4) and the New York Giants (2-1-1) tangling with Baltimore (2-2) at New Haven, Conn.

Jewish Holidays May Hurt Dodgers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Jewish high holy days, which begin at sundown Sunday, could have an important effect on the Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching in their stretch drive.

Southpaw Sandy Koufax, who leads the major leagues in strikeouts with 224, and right-hander Larry Sherry, Dodger bullpen ace with 15 saves and four victories, are Jewish. Rosh Hashanah, which begins Sunday night, is an important observance of their faith.

Koufax, second biggest winner of the Dodger staff with 15-10, normally would be scheduled to pitch Monday night at Los Angeles against Philadelphia.

He may work Sunday against the Giants.

Wings, Toronto Battle for Fourth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for fourth place—the final playoff spot is the most exciting feature of the waning International League season.

Rochester moved to within one game of the coveted spot by defeating fourth-place Toronto, 5-4, Friday night, in the first of a four-game series.

Charleston dumped pennant-winning Columbus in both ends of a twi-night doubleheader, 2-0 and 3-2; Buffalo belted Syracuse, 11-6; Richmond and Jersey City split a pair. The Virginians captured the seven - inning opener, 4-2, but dropped the nightcap, 8-1.

Most Valuable Player

'Not Out of It'

Mantle Still Hoping To Break HR Record

By JOE RIECHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Modesty is an admirable trademark of Mickey Mantle, so it came as a surprise when he said Friday night:

"This thing isn't over yet. I don't think I'm out of it. I'm gonna try like hell."

Mantle, "trying like hell" Friday night despite a gimpy left knee that has hampered him for two weeks, smashed his 52nd home run as the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland 9-1 for their ninth consecutive victory.

Mickey's home run, which equaled his personal season high, still left him three shy of Maris' total but kept him two games back of Babe Ruth's record pace of 1927 when the Bambino hit 60.

Maris went homerless and now is six games ahead of Ruth's pace. He and Mantle have 13 games left in their assault on the record for 154 decisions, as ruled by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Mantle admitted the sensational home run hitting of Maris has spurred him on to his best season since 1956 when he also walloped 52 home runs and captured the triple crown.

"I doubt if I would have played as many games as I have," he said, obviously thinking of the bum left knee. "Roger has presented a sort of challenge."

Mantle laughed when someone asked whether the pressure was on again.

"Heck, no," he said. "As a matter of fact, when I hit my 48th last week, I told Roger, 'The pressure is off me. I already beat my guy.'"

The reference was to the 47 home runs hit by Ruth's teammate, Lou Gehrig, in 1927. Mickey's meaning was clear. As the leader it was up to Maris to top Ruth's 60.

Friday's clout by Mantle, off right-hander Gary Bell in the fifth inning, gave the M and M boys a combined total of 107 home runs, matching the combined record total of Ruth and Gehrig.

Mickey displayed a bruise on his left shin, sustained while batting in the eighth inning. After drawing a walk, he gave way to a pinch runner.

"The foot still aches," said Mickey, "but it won't keep me out of the lineup unless it gets a lot worse. It will have to be pretty sore to keep me out."

Cold Front Wins William H. Cane Pace at Yonkers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold Front, an 18-1 shot, swept up from seventh place in the stretch Friday night and won the $110,950 William H. Cane Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

The event is the first of the Triple Crown series for 3-year-old pacers.

Cold Front's time—2:08 3-5—for the 1 1-16 miles was three-fifths of a second slower than the world record.

Cold Front, driven by Clint Hodgins, paid $38.20. Henry T. Adios was second and Flying Baker third.

The other Triple Crown events are the $70,000 Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio, Sept. 21, and the $150,000 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway Nov. 18. Only Adios Butler, called the world's fastest pacer, has taken the three events—that in 1959.

Elsewhere on the New York State harness scene:

Vernon Downs reopens for the fall meeting tonight with the $10,000 final of the August pacing series. Dancer Hanover, which won the five races it entered in the six qualifying legs is favored. The meeting ends Sept. 30.

Saratoga Raceway reported its 75-night summer meeting had a record attendance and handle. The track's 20-year high for attendance, set last year at 286,897, was broken this year with 322,292. The pari-mutuel handle this year was $13,957,310, almost $1.5 million more than last year.

Other feature winners last night:

Monticello Raceway—Nike Hanover ($15.90), 2:03 4-5, R. Buston driving, in the $5,000 invitational handicap pace.

Saratoga Raceway — Van Counsel ($4.40), 2:04 3-5, Bob Silliphant driving, in a $2,500 trot.

Batavia Downs—Irvin Paul ($3.90), 2:02 3-5, Wilbur Long driving, in the $5,000 invitational trot.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching — Mike McCormick, Giants, scattered nine hits for 12th victory in Giants' 7-3 triumph that snapped four-game Los Angeles streak and dropped Dodgers two games behind Cincinnati.

Hitting — Jim Pagliaroni, Red Sox, hit three-run homer and two-run, tie-breaking double for 5 RBI in 9-2 victory that extended Detroit losing streak to eight.

Barrington Sets Closed Circuit Again This Year

GREAT BARRINGTON—Racing fans again this year will enjoy the convenience of a closed circuit TV system at the Barrington Fair when the 1961 meet opens for six days Monday, Sept. 11.

Eight monitor screens strategically placed under the grandstand, on the mezzanine, and in the infield area will afford fans a complete view of every race.

High speed cameras not only televise the nine races but record the action on film for study by track stewards.

The TV system was introducted at Barrington in 1958 while the film patrol made its debut several years ago. Both installations were "firsts" for any fairgrounds track in the country.

One of tis greatest boosters of the film is Eddie Arcaro who said that the film patrol has been one of the outstanding contributions to safe riding by reducing rule-breaking by some 80 per cent.

He pointed out that in the swift frenzied running of a horse race, temptation rides with every jockey, but with the advent of the film patrol, the infractions today are practically nil.

Meanwhile, preparations at the Barrington racetrack continued to move forward with opening day of the fair just a few days away. Fair officials announce that post time would remain the same this year with the first race slated for 2:15 p. m., Monday through Friday. Saturday, the last day of the six-day meet, will see post time advanced 15 minutes to 2 p. m.

Kingston Sport Club Slated to Open Soccer Season Sunday

Locals to Play At Poughkeepsie In League Tilt

Kingston Sport Club will pry the lid off the 1961-62 Central New York State Soccer Football Assn. with a game at Poughkeepsie against the Florentine Council Sunday at 1 p. m. The home side is a newcomer to the league.

In other opening matches, defending champion Troy Sport Club opens at home with Little Falls, Schenectady Sons of Italy play at Poughkeepsie against Germania Blue and White and the Poughkeepsie Italians playing at the Schenectady Sons of Italy field.

The Kingston club was in title contention most of the way last season before finally losing in the latter stages. The team has many veterans returning and has added some promising youngsters.

The local club plays at the Spring Lake field and it will be repaired. Until repairs are completed, the team will play at Hasbrouck Park.

With 12 clubs set to start play, the Central New York league appears to be headed for its best campaign. The loop is a real solid one with all clubs figured to be on an even basis. The action should be hot and heavy for the rest of the season.

U. S. Net Stars Out Of Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Another dark day for United States tennis dawns today with four foreigners in the semifinal round of the National Championships.

Roy Emerson of Australia meets Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Rod Laver of Australia tangles with Mike Sangster of England for the right to make the championship bracket.

Only once before in the long history of the Nationals has an American failed to make the semifinals. That was in 1958.

The final four Americans were eliminated Friday. Top-seeded Laver took care of Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4. Emerson, ranked No. 3, whipped Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5. Sangster, the No. 4 seed, trounced Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-4, 7-5, 6-1. Osuna, unseeded, completed the shambles by downing Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Even in the women's division, things are desperate. Except for defending champion Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., it's an all foreign semifinal. Miss Hard meets Margaret Smith of Australia in one semi and British Wightman Cuppers Angela Mortimer and Ann Haydon play the other.

Miss Mortimer, the Wimbledon champion, eliminated Lesley Turner of Australia, 6-4, 6-4 and Miss Haydon, seeded No. 7, downed Jan Lehane of Australia, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2 Friday.

Sports Editor Glen Doty's suggestion that Middletown High drop Port Jervis and take on Newburgh Academy in the annual Thanksgiving Day football classic must have sent temperatures around the DUSO soaring a bit higher than the stifling heat wave of the past week.

The Middletown sportswriter was quite serious about the whole thing, but his proposal left many persons in Newburgh and Kingston colder than a dip into the Bering Sea.

Doty's thinking is based on the premise that Port Jervis, a Class B school, has tired of trying to beat the big boys and will leave the DUSO circuit in a year or two.

The thought of engaging in a football debate in this shimmering heat is unbearable, but we do have a suggestion for Brother Doty: why tamper with the KHS-Newburgh game that has been steeped in tradition since 1924. Why not take on Poughkeepsie High instead and end four decades of frustration for Sam Kalloch. There would be considerable support for a Middletown-Poughkeepsie "classic" on Turkey Day, but absolutely none for any move which would disturb the KHS-NFA setup merely to accommodate the Middies.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

What are the limitations of Mrs. Wiggie "66" de Lisio and Leon "63" Randall. Is it possible they could shoot even lower at their respective courses at Woodstock and Wiltwyck? Perhaps, but it would be an uneasy adventure to bet against them. . . . Overcome by the beautiful surroundings at Indian Lake, Roland Post, the composing room's rod and gun editor, postcards a prediction that the Yankees will win the pennant, beat the Cincinnati Reds in five games and neither Mantle nor Maris will break The Babe's record. He is on secure ground on only one count. . . . Mrs. George Rifenbary's handling of the publicity for the women's division at Wiltwyck Country Club was a superb stint in public relations. The overall season for Wiltwyck was perhaps the finest in the history of the club. Among those who deserve kudos for their contributions were Mrs. Robert H. Daley, golf chairman; Mrs. Richard Davenport, tournament chairman; Mrs. Edward V. Strohsal, general chairman; Mrs. Joseph Marr, prizes; and Mrs. Stanley Hankinson and Mrs. Raymond Le Fevre, who handled scoring and entries; and the club pro, Scotty Robertson.

• A Matter of Opinion

The new Poughkeepsie bowling league, originally planned as a super circuit, appears to have fallen several notched below the blueprints. The $5,000 prize list gives the league a big time aura, but once past the top half dozen keglers, it looks no better than the new Invitational Classic at Ferraro's Bowlerama. Phil Versace (209) and Dewey Blair (204) are the top recruits, with Kingston's Dick Howard entered with a 198 average. Ken Joseph of Kingston is rated a 192 performer. Both leagues are restricted to bowlers with averages of 180 or more. However, the absence of such "name" performers as Tom Carlino, Charlie Manfro and others takes some of the lustre off that circuit, too. The HVBL goes into another season retaining one of its bush league provisions which bars certain cities from importing outside bowlers. The theory behind the rule is to protect the smaller towns from having their stars lured to the big cities. However, we will still prefer the free enterprise system and if the Hudson Valley League is ever to become anything but a house league, it will have to scrap that rule. We doubt it will ever happen.

Ray Anderson Seeks Second Feature Victory at Onteora

Ray Anderson, veteran Newburgh driver who finally crashed the winner's circle at Onteora Speedway last week, will be back trying to making it two straight Sunday.

But barring his path will be the somewhat formidable person of D. D. (Rebel) Harris, a 10-time winner who ran into all sorts of trouble at various tracks last weekend. He was forced out of three races, while leading them all, due to motor trouble. The car has been repaired and the Rebel is rolling again.

Anderson can also expect serious opposition from Don Avery, Stretch Van Steenburg, Ernie Beesmer, Johnny Rohan and Walt Schubert. First heat is scheduled at 2:30 p. m.

Jordan Shuns Coaching Job; Protests Rule

Arlington High School coach Fritz Jordan has declined to begin coaching the football team at the school until he has received assurance there will be a change in the detention program at the school.

Superintendent of Schools Harold Storm said that Frank King, Jordan's assistant, is handling the football team at the present time.

The Superintendent explained that Arlington has in the past set aside Thursday and Friday afternoons as after-school detention days for students who have disobeyed regulations. Two buses transport these students to their homes at 5 p. m. In the basketball and baseball seasons, this causes difficulty for Jordan if some of his players are detained.

Coach Jordan feels that school detention can be given to the students on days other than Tuesday and Friday. "There are three other school days in every week," he declared.

A meeting of the school superintendent along with Principal Donald Nelson, Walter Neidhardt, principal of the junior high school and William Wizeman, supervisor of transportation, will be held to consider the matter of detention days.

Mantle Slugs 52nd Home Run

M-M Boys Have 107 Now to Tie Gehrig and Ruth

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris was hitless, but Mickey Mantle hit his 52nd home run of the season Friday night, giving the New York Yankee's M-twins a share of the two-man major league record of 107 homers set by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in 1927.

Mantle, tying his one season high (he also hit 52 in 1956), remained two games behind Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927, however. Maris, 0-for-3, leads the Babe's pace by six games.

The Yankees backed right-hander Bill Stafford (13-7) with 11 hits, one a two-run homer by Tony Kubek off Gary Bell (9-15), and now have walloped 213 home runs, just eight shy of the major league record. They also are a whomping 10 games ahead of second-place Detroit.

Tigers Bow Again

The still tumbling Tigers, checked on two hits by Tracy Stallard and reliever Mike Fornieles, lost their eighth in a row, 9-2 at Boston. Baltimore edged within two games of the Tigers with a 2-1 and 4-2 twi-night sweep over Washington. Kansas City whipped Minnesota 6-4.

Jim Pagliaroni batted in five runs for the Red Sox, two with a third inning double that beat Jim Bunning (17-11), and the other three with a homer. Fornieles (9-8) was the winner, and also hit his first major league homer. One of the Tiger hits was a home run by Dick Brown, off Stallard.

Whitey Herzog's single capped a two-run ninth for the Birds, who were shut out on three hits by loser Pete Burnside (1-8) until then in the first game. Herzog also singled in a two-run seventh as the Orioles broke up a 2-2 tie in the nightcap against Ed Houbaugh (6-9). Hoyt Wilhelm (9-7) won the first game in relief and Dick Hall (7-5) took the night cap with a four-hitter.

Minnie Mionso's two-run homer won it for the White Sox and winning reliever Billy Pierce (9-8). Jim Donohue (4-7) lost it.

Corwin, Spada Pace Braves With Four Wins Each

Al Corwin and Mike Spada each won four games and lost one for the Kingston Braves during the season. However, southpaw Bob Maines posted an excellent 3-0 record, the top mark on the staff.

Spada pitched the most innings (36) and gave up the most earned runs (12) He allowed 28 hits, walked 17 and struck out 36, an average of one per inning.

Corwin led in strikeouts (54) and in walks (17). He gave up 28 hits, the same total as Spada. The former Giant pitcher surrendered nine earned runs.

A total of ten hurlers saw action for the Braves and eight of them shared in the won lost record.

The statistics:

Acker Will Not Pitch

Braves Oppose Poughkeepsie Tonight in Series Opener

The NY-NJ Baseball League series opens at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie tonight and the big news is that the local Braves will not have to face Big Tom Acker, the league's No. 1 pitcher.

Acker, former Cincinnati Reds relief artist, is hobbled with an injury and will miss series opener. He compiled a 12-0 record this season and beat Kingston twice.

The Poughkeepsie started will be either Jim Hubble, who stopped the Braves cold in a crucial game last season, or Charlie Brown, a New Jersey import.

General Manager Fred Davi of the Braves has a choice of three Kingston pitchers—Bob Maines, Mike Spada and John Risley, with the starter not likely to be decided until just before game time, 8 p. m.

Locals Underdogs

Kingston has not beaten Poughkeepsie in several years of NY-NJ League competition and will go into tonight's game a solid underdog. The absence of Acker is expected to boost Kingston's chances in the opener.

Of the possible Kingston mound picks, Spada has been the workhorse with 36 innings. He finished with a 4 and 1 record, with 12 earned runs and 36 strikeouts. Maines, recently released from service, compiled a 3-0 mark with 18 strikeouts in 21 innings.

Southpaw Frank Horan, a possible dark horse choice, has pitched better than his 1-2 record would indicate. He appeared in 30 innings, yielded only six earned runs and struck out 37.

The Poughkeepsie management has invited the mayors of the two cities—Victor Waryas of Poughkeepsie and Edwin F. Radel of Kingston to participate in pregame ceremonies.

The second game of the series is scheduled Saturday, Sept. 16 in Kingston and the third, if necessary, at Poughkeepsie on Sept. 20.

Reds Pick Up a Game In NL Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds, on the brink of falling out of first place in the National League pennant race, regained a two-game lead by beating St. Louis 3-2 in 10 innings Friday night when second place Los Angeles lost 7-3 at San Francisco.

Pittsburgh joined the Giants in helping out the Reds by chilling third-place Milwaukee 2-1, dropping the Braves seven games behind. The Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 4-1.

Cincinnati, after losing four of seven, pulled back to .500 (10-10) since regaining first place Aug. 16, on Gus Bell's pinch single, a sacrifice and Eddie Kasko's single. They caught up with the Cards in the eighth when loser Ernie Broglio (9-11) gave up his first walk. An error and Frank Robinson's two-out, two-run double put the Reds back in the game, Jim Brosnan (9-3) was the winner in relief —his seventh in a row over the Cards.

Big First Inning

The Dodgers' bid for a fifth straight victory didn't get past the first inning at San Francisco. The Giants stung Dodger ace Johnny Podres (18-5), who had won 10 in a row on the road, for four runs. Joey Amalfitano started it with a triple and came across on Jim Davenport's single. Willie Mays added a two-run homer. Orlando Cepeda socked his 39th home run and that was that.

Left-hander Mike McCormick (12-14), given extra help by Davenport's two-run homer in the second, was the winner as the Giants ended their losing skid at five, four at Los Angeles. The Dodgers had nine hits, as did the Giants, but only one was a homer, a two-run shot by Gil Hodges that completed their scoring in the sixth inning.

The Pirates managed only four hits but beat rookie Bob Hendley (5-4) with two runs in the fourth on two walks, Roberto Clemente's single and a doubleplay. Bob Friend (14-17) was the winner, getting Frank Bolling to hit into a force out with the bases loaded in the ninth. Milwaukee had eight hits, and scored in the sixth on a double by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron's single.

Bills to Open Against Denver

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The winless Buffalo Bills open their offficial American Football League season Sunday afternoon in War Memorial Stadium against the almost equally luckless Denver Broncos.

The Broncos have won one of their five pre-season exhibitions while the Bills, the league's top defensive club haven't found a winning offensive combination in four attempts.

Musco's .338 Average Paces Braves Hitters

Third baseman Dave Musco led Kingston Braves hitters with a .338 average this season, but the squad's top slugger was catcher Doug Holmquist, who is ticketed for the new Dallas club in the National League.

Musco had 27 hits in 80 at bats, only two for extra bases—a double and home run. Holmquist, with 19 hits in 59 AB's, slugged two home runs and four triples and 15 runs batted in. Musco knocked in 13.

Charlie Pike, an infrequent performer, finished with .333. Veteran Hal Lewis, a versatile utility player, was the other .300 hitter among the regulars with .328 on 22 hits in 67 at bats, including three doubles.

First baseman Wally Widholme batted .286 and led the club in doubles with 4. He also had one home run and eight runs batted in.

Kingston Sport Club Slated to Open Soccer Season Sunday

Locals to Play At Poughkeepsie In League Tilt

Kingston Sport Club will pry the lid off the 1961-62 Central New York State Soccer Football Assn. with a game at Poughkeepsie against the Florentine Council Sunday at 1 p. m. The home side is a newcomer to the league.

In other opening matches, defending champion Troy Sport Club opens at home with Little Falls, Schenectady Sons of Italy play at Poughkeepsie against Germania Blue and White and the Poughkeepsie Italians playing at the Schenectady Sons of Italy field.

The Kingston club was in title contention most of the way last season before finally losing in the latter stages. The team has many veterans returning and has added some promising youngsters.

The local club plays at the Spring Lake field and it will be repaired. Until repairs are completed, the team will play at Hasbrouck Park.

With 12 clubs set to start play, the Central New York league appears to be headed for its best campaign. The loop is a real solid one with all clubs figured to be on an even basis. The action should be hot and heavy for the rest of the season.

U. S. Net Stars Out Of Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Another dark day for United States tennis dawns today with four foreigners in the semifinal round of the National Championships.

Roy Emerson of Australia meets Rafael Osuna of Mexico and Rod Laver of Australia tangles with Mike Sangster of England for the right to make the championship bracket.

Only once before in the long history of the Nationals has an American failed to make the semifinals. That was in 1958.

The final four Americans were eliminated Friday. Top-seeded Laver took care of Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., 6-4, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4. Emerson, ranked No. 3, whipped Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5. Sangster, the No. 4 seed, trounced Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-4, 7-5, 6-1. Osuna, unseeded, completed the shambles by downing Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Even in the women's division, things are desperate. Except for defending champion Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., it's an all foreign semifinal. Miss Hard meets Margaret Smith of Australia in one semi and British Wightman Cuppers Angela Mortimer and Ann Haydon play the other.

Miss Mortimer, the Wimbledon champion, eliminated Lesley Turner of Australia, 6-4, 6-4 and Miss Haydon, seeded No. 7, downed Jan Lehane of Australia, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2 Friday.

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Sports Editor Glen Doty's suggestion that Middletown High drop Port Jervis and take on Newburgh Academy in the annual Thanksgiving Day football classic must have sent temperatures around the DUSO soaring a bit higher than the stifling heat wave of the past week.

The Middletown sportswriter was quite serious about the whole thing, but his proposal left many persons in Newburgh and Kingston colder than a dip into the Bering Sea.

Doty's thinking is based on the premise that Port Jervis, a Class B school, has tired of trying to beat the big boys and will leave the DUSO circuit in a year or two.

The thought of engaging in a football debate in this shimmering heat is unbearable, but we do have a suggestion for Brother Doty: why tamper with the KHS-Newburgh game that has been steeped in tradition since 1924. Why not take on Poughkeepsie High instead and end four decades of frustration for Sam Kalloch. There would be considerable support for a Middletown-Poughkeepsie "classic" on Turkey Day, but absolutely none for any move which would disturb the KHS-NFA setup merely to accommodate the Middies.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

What are the limitations of Mrs. Wiggie "66" de Lisio and Leon "63" Randall. Is it possible they could shoot even lower at their respective courses at Woodstock and Wiltwyck? Perhaps, but it would be an uneasy adventure to bet against them. . . . Overcome by the beautiful surroundings at Indian Lake, Roland Post, the composing room's rod and gun editor, postcards a prediction that the Yankees will win the pennant, beat the Cincinnati Reds in five games and neither Mantle nor Maris will break The Babe's record. He is on secure ground on only one count. . . . Mrs. George Rifenbary's handling of the publicity for the women's division at Wiltwyck Country Club was a superb stint in public relations. The overall season for Wiltwyck was perhaps the finest in the history of the club. Among those who deserve kudos for their contributions were Mrs. Robert H. Daley, golf chairman; Mrs. Richard Davenport, tournament chairman; Mrs. Edward V. Strohsal, general chairman; Mrs. Joseph Marr, prizes; and Mrs. Stanley Hankinson and Mrs. Raymond Le Fevre, who handled scoring and entries; and the club pro, Scotty Robertson.

• A Matter of Opinion

The new Poughkeepsie bowling league, originally planned as a super circuit, appears to have fallen several notched below the blueprints. The $5,000 prize list gives the league a big time aura, but once past the top half dozen keglers, it looks no better than the new Invitational Classic at Ferraro's Bowlerama. Phil Versace (209) and Dewey Blair (204) are the top recruits, with Kingston's Dick Howard entered with a 198 average, Ken Joseph of Kingston is rated a 192 performer. Both leagues are restricted to bowlers with averages of 180 or more. However, the absence of such "name" performers as Tom Carlino, Charlie Manfro and others takes some of the lustre off that circuit, too. The HVBL goes into another season retaining one of its bush league provisions which bars certain cities from importing outside bowlers. The theory behind the rule is to protect the smaller towns from having their stars lured to the big cities. However, we will still prefer the free enterprise system and if the Hudson Valley League is ever to become anything but a house league, it will have to scrap that rule. We doubt it will ever happen.

Ray Anderson Seeks Second Feature Victory at Onteora

Ray Anderson, veteran Newburgh driver who finally crashed the winner's circle at Onteora Speedway last week, will be back trying to making it two straight Sunday.

But barring his path will be the somewhat formidable person of D. D. (Rebel) Harris, a 10-time winner who ran into all sorts of trouble at various tracks last weekend. He was forced out of three races, while leading them all, due to motor trouble. The car has been repaired and the Rebel is rolling again.

Anderson can also expect serious opposition from Don Avery, Stretch Van Steenburg, Ernie Beesmer, Johnny Rohan and Walt Schubert. First heat is scheduled at 2:30 p. m.

Jordan Shuns Coaching Job; Protests Rule

Arlington High School coach Fritz Jordan has declined to begin coaching the football team at the school until he has received assurance there will be a change in the detention program at the school.

Superintendent of Schools Harold Storm said that Frank King, Jordan's assistant, is handling the football team at the present time.

The Superintendent explained that Arlington has in the past set aside Thursday and Friday afternoons as after-school detention days for students who have disobeyed regulations. Two buses transport these students to their homes at 5 p. m. In the basketball and baseball seasons, this causes difficulty for Jordan if some of his players are detained.

Coach Jordan feels that school detention can be given to the students on days other than Tuesday and Friday. "There are three other school days in every week," he declared.

A meeting of the school superintendent along with Principal Donald Nelson, Walter Neidhardt, principal of the junior high school and William Wizeman, supervisor of transportation, will be held to consider the matter of detention days.

Mantle Slugs 52nd Home Run

M-M Boys Have 107 Now to Tie Gehrig and Ruth

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris was hitless, but Mickey Mantle hit his 52nd home run of the season Friday night, giving the New York Yankee's M-twins a share of the two-man major league record of 107 homers set by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in 1927.

Mantle, tying his one season high (he also hit 52 in 1956), remained two games behind Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927, however. Maris, 0-for-3, leads the Babe's pace by six games.

The Yankees backed right-hander Bill Stafford (13-7) with 11 hits, one a two-run homer by Tony Kubek off Gary Bell (9-15), and now have walloped 213 home runs, just eight shy of the major league record. They also are a whomping 10 games ahead of second-place Detroit.

Tigers Bow Again

The still tumbling Tigers, checked on two hits by Tracy Stallard and reliever Mike Fornieles, lost their eighth in a row, 9-2 at Boston. Baltimore edged within two games of the Tigers with a 2-1 and 4-2 twi-night sweep over Washington. Kansas City whipped Minnesota 6-4.

Jim Pagliaroni batted in five runs for the Red Sox, two with a third inning double that beat Jim Bunning (17-11), and the other three with a homer. Fornieles (9-8) was the winner, and also hit his first major league homer. One of the Tiger hits was a home run by Dick Brown, off Stallard.

Whitey Herzog's single capped a two-run ninth for the Birds, who were shut out on three hits by loser Pete Burnside (1-8) until then in the first game, Herzog also singled in a two-run seventh as the Orioles broke up a 2-2 tie in the nightcap against Ed Houbaugh (6-9). Hoyt Wilhelm (9-7) won the first game in relief and Dick Hall (7-5) took the night cap with a four-hitter.

Minnie Mionso's two-run homer won it for the White Sox and winning reliever Billy Pierce (9-8). Jim Donohue (4-7) lost it.

Corwin, Spada Pace Braves With Four Wins Each

Al Corwin and Mike Spada each won four games and lost one for the Kingston Braves during the season. However, southpaw Bob Maines posted an excellent 3-0 record, the top mark on the staff.

Spada pitched the most innings (36) and gave up the most earned runs (12) He allowed 28 hits, walked 17 and struck out 36, an average of one per inning.

Corwin led in strikeouts (54) and in walks (17). He gave up 28 hits, the same total as Spada. The former Giant pitcher surrendered nine earned runs.

A total of ten hurlers saw action for the Braves and eight of them shared in the won lost record.

The statistics:

Acker Will Not Pitch

Braves Oppose Poughkeepsie Tonight in Series Opener

The NY-NJ Baseball League series opens at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie tonight and the big news is that the local Braves will not have to face Big Tom Acker, the league's No. 1 pitcher.

Acker, former Cincinnati Reds relief artist, is hobbled with an injury and will miss series opener. He compiled a 12-0 record this season and beat Kingston twice.

The Poughkeepsie started will be either Jim Hubble, who stopped the Braves cold in a crucial game last season, or Charlie Brown, a New Jersey import.

General Manager Fred Davi of the Braves has a choice of three Kingston pitchers—Bob Maines, Mike Spada and John Risley, with the starter not likely to be decided until just before game time, 8 p. m.

Locals Underdogs

Kingston has not beaten Poughkeepsie in several years of NY-NJ League competition and will go into tonight's game a solid underdog. The absence of Acker is expected to boost Kingston's chances in the opener.

Of the possible Kingston mound picks, Spada has been the workhorse with 36 innings. He finished with a 4 and 1 record, with 12 earned runs and 36 strikeouts. Maines, recently released from service, compiled a 3-0 mark with 18 strikeouts in 21 innings.

Southpaw Frank Horan, a possible dark horse choice, has pitched better than his 1-2 record would indicate. He appeared in 30 innings, yielded only six earned runs and struck out 37.

The Poughkeepsie management has invited the mayors of the two cities—Victor Waryas of Poughkeepsie and Edwin F. Radel of Kingston to participate in pregame ceremonies.

The second game of the series is scheduled Saturday, Sept. 16 in Kingston and the third, if necessary, at Poughkeepsie on Sept. 20.

Reds Pick Up a Game In NL Race

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds, on the brink of falling out of first place in the National League pennant race, regained a two-game lead by beating St. Louis 3-2 in 10 innings Friday night when second place Los Angeles lost 7-3 at San Francisco.

Pittsburgh joined the Giants in helping out the Reds by chilling third-place Milwaukee 2-1, dropping the Braves seven games behind. The Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 4-1.

Cincinnati, after losing four of seven, pulled back to .500 (10-10) since regaining first place Aug. 16, on Gus Bell's pinch single, a sacrifice and Eddie Kasko's single. They caught up with the Cards in the eighth when loser Ernie Broglio (9-11) gave up his first walk. An error and Frank Robinson's two-out, two-run double put the Reds back in the game, Jim Brosnan (9-3) was the winner in relief —his seventh in a row over the Cards.

Big First Inning

The Dodgers' bid for a fifth straight victory didn't get past the first inning at San Francisco. The Giants stung Dodger ace Johnny Podres (18-5), who had won 10 in a row on the road, for four runs. Joey Amalfitano started it with a triple and came across on Jim Davenport's single. Willie Mays added a two-run homer. Orlando Cepeda socked his 39th home run and that was that.

Left-hander Mike McCormick (12-14), given extra help by Davenport's two-run homer in the second, was the winner as the Giants ended their losing skid at five, four at Los Angeles. The Dodgers had nine hits, as did the Giants, but only one was a homer, a two-run shot by Gil Hodges that completed their scoring in the sixth inning.

The Pirates managed only four hits but beat rookie Bob Hendley (5-4) with two runs in the fourth on two walks, Roberto Clemente's single and a doubleplay. Bob Friend (14-17) was the winner, getting Frank Bolling to hit into a force out with the bases loaded in the ninth. Milwaukee had eight hits, and scored in the sixth on a double by Ed Mathews and Hank Aaron's single.

Bills to Open Against Denver

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The wirless Buffalo Bills open their offficial American Football League season Sunday afternoon in War Memorial Stadium against the almost equally lucicless Denver Broncos.

The Broncos have won one of their five pre-season exhibitions while the Bills, the league's top defensive club haven't found a winning offensive combination in four attempts.

Musco's .338 Average Paces Braves Hitters

Third baseman Dave Musco led Kingston Braves hitters with a .338 average this season, but the squad's top slugger was catcher Doug Holmquist, who is ticketed for the new Dallas club in the National League.

Musco had 27 hits in 80 at bats, only two for extra bases—a double and home run. Holmquist, with 19 hits in 59 AB's, slugged two home runs and four triples and 15 runs batted in. Musco knocked in 13.

Charlie Pike, an infrequent performer, finished with .333. Veteran Hal Lewis, a versatile utility player, was the other .300 hitter among the regulars with .328 on 22 hits in 67 at bats, including three doubles.

First baseman Wally Widholme batted .286 and led the club in doubles with 4. He also had one home run and eight runs batted in.

Wings, Toronto Battle for Fourth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for fourth place—the final playoff spot is the most exciting feature of the waning International League season.

Rochester moved to within one game of the coveted spot by defeating fourth-place Toronto, 5-4, Friday night, in the first of a four-game series.

Charleston dumped pennant-winning Columbus in both ends of a twi-night doubleheader, 2-0 and 3-2; Buffalo belted Syracuse, 11-6; Richmond and Jersey City split a pair. The Virginians captured the seven - inning opener, 4-2, but dropped the nightcap, 8-1.

Most Valuable Player

'Not Out of It'

Mantle Still Hoping To Break HR Record

By JOE RIECHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Modesty is an admirable trademark of Mickey Mantle, so it came as a surprise when he said Friday night:

"This thing isn't over yet. I don't think I'm out of it. I'm gonna try like hell."

Mantle, "trying like hell" Friday night despite a gimpy left knee that has hampered him for two weeks, smashed his 52nd home run as the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland 9-1 for their ninth consecutive victory.

Mickey's home run, which equaled his personal season high, still left him three shy of Maris' total but kept him two games back of Babe Ruth's record pace of 1927 when the Bambino hit 60.

Maris went homerless and now is six games ahead of Ruth's pace. He and Mantle have 13 games left in their assault on the record for 154 decisions, as ruled by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Mantle admitted the sensational home run hitting of Maris has spurred him on to his best season since 1956 when he also walloped 52 home runs and captured the triple crown.

"I doubt if I would have played as many games as I have," he said, obviously thinking of the bum left knee. "Roger has presented a sort of challenge."

Mantle laughed when someone asked whether the pressure was on again.

"Heck, no," he said. "As a matter of fact, when I hit my 48th last week, I told Roger, 'The pressure is off me. I already beat my guy.' "

The reference was to the 47 home runs hit by Ruth's teammate, Lou Gehrig, in 1927. Mickey's meaning was clear. As the leader it was up to Maris to top Ruth's 60.

Friday's clout by Mantle, off right-hander Gary Bell in the fifth inning, gave the M and M boys a combined total of 107 home runs, matching the combined record total of Ruth and Gehrig.

Mickey displayed a bruise on his left shin, sustained while batting in the eighth inning. After drawing a walk, he gave way to a pinch runner.

"The foot still aches," said Mickey, "but it won't keep me out of the lineup unless it gets a lot worse. It will have to be pretty sore to keep me out."

Cold Front Wins William H. Cane Pace at Yonkers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold Front, an 18-1 shot, swept up from seventh place in the stretch Friday night and won the $110,950 William H. Cane Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

The event is the first of the Triple Crown series for 3-year-old pacers.

Cold Front's time—2:08 3-5—for the 1 1-16 miles was three-fifths of a second slower than the world record.

Cold Front, driven by Clint Hodgins, paid $38.20. Henry T. Adios was second and Flying Baker third.

The other Triple Crown events are the $70,000 Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio, Sept. 21, and the $150,000 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway Nov. 18. Only Adios Butler, called the world's fastest pacer, has taken the three events—that in 1959.

Elsewhere on the New York State harness scene:

Vernon Downs reopens for the fall meeting tonight with the $10,000 final of the August pacing series. Dancer Hanover, which won the five races it entered in the six qualifying legs is favored. The meeting ends Sept. 30.

Saratoga Raceway reported its 75-night summer meeting had a record attendance and handle. The track's 20-year high for attendance, set last year at 286,897, was broken this year with 322,292. The pari-mutuel handle this year was $13,957,310, almost $1.5 million more than last year.

Other feature winners last night:

Monticello Raceway—Nike Hanover ($15.90), 2:03 4-5, R. Buston driving, in the $5,000 invitational handicap pace.

Saratoga Raceway — Van Counsel ($4.40), 2:04 3-5, Bob Silliphant driving, in a $2,500 trot.

Batavia Downs—Irvin Paul ($3.90), 2:02 3-5, Wilbur Long driving, in the $5,000 invitational trot.

Barrington Sets Closed Circuit Again This Year

GREAT BARRINGTON—Racing fans again this year will enjoy the convenience of a closed circuit TV system at the Barrington Fair when the 1961 meet opens for six days Monday, Sept. 11.

Eight monitor screens strategically placed under the grandstand, on the mezzanine, and in the infield area will afford fans a complete view of every race.

High speed cameras not only televise the nine races but record the action on film for study by track stewards.

The TV system was introducted at Barrington in 1958 while the film patrol made its debut several years ago. Both installations were "firsts" for any fairgrounds track in the country.

One of tis greatest boosters of the film is Eddie Arcaro who said that the film patrol has been one of the outstanding contributions to safe riding by reducing rule-breaking by some 80 per cent.

He pointed out that in the swift frenzied running of a horse race, temptation rides with every jockey, but with the advent of the film patrol, the infractions today are practically nil.

Meanwhile, preparations at the Barrington racetrack continued to move forward with opening day of the fair just a few days away. Fair officials announce that post time would remain the same this year with the first race slated for 2:15 p. m., Monday through Friday. Saturday, the last day of the six-day meet, will see post time advanced 15 minutes to 2 p. m.

Brown, Wade Lead Bears To 24-21 Win Over Steelers

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears of the National Football League were certain of one thing today — they have a quarterback problem but, what a problem.

Coach George Halas has not one but two fine quarterbacks ready now for the approaching NFL season if Friday night's 24-21 exhibition triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers is any indication.

First, Ed Brown, and then Billy Wade electrified 45,223 spectators in Chicago's Soldier Field with dazzling passes which ignited touchdown plays of 92, 90 and 75 yards.

The Bears took a 17-0 halftime lead in the 16th annual Armed Forces Benefit game. Pittsburgh romped for three fourth-period scores.

The league's only unbeaten, untied team, the world champion Philadelphia Eagles, and the Green Bay Packers, get in their final exhibition licks tonight.

The Eagles (3-0) face the St. Louis Cardinals (0-3) at Hershey, Pa. Green Bay (4-0) runs into the Washington Redskins (0-4) at Columbus, Ga.

In other contests tonight, Detroit (3-1) invades Cleveland (3-1) and San Francisco (2-2) clashes with the Dallas Cowboys (2-2) at Sacramento, Calif.

Rounding out the exhibition campaign are two games Sunday the Los Angeles Rams (1-2-1) going to Minnesota (0-4) and the New York Giants (2-1-1) tangling with Baltimore (2-2) at New Haven, Conn.

Jewish Holidays May Hurt Dodgers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Jewish high holy days, which begin at sundown Sunday, could have an important effect on the Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching in their stretch drive.

Southpaw Sandy Koufax, who leads the major leagues in strikeouts with 224, and right-hander Larry Sherry, Dodger bullpen ace with 15 saves and four victories, are Jewish. Rosh Hashanah, which begins Sunday night, is an important observance of their faith.

Koufax, second biggest winner of the Dodger staff with 15-10, normally would be scheduled to pitch Monday night at Los Angeles against Philadelphia.

He may work Sunday against the Giants.

The initial session is scheduled Sept. 22 from 7 to 9 p. m. and the second one on Sept. 23 from 1 to 4 p. m. Those interested are asked to contact Al Masten, Paul Booth or George Schwab.

Wall Cards 61 In Golf Tourney But Still Trails

DENVER (AP) — The gallery is still talking about Art Wall's sensational 10-under-par 61, but the field is still chasing the first-day leader, young Dave Hill, in the third round of the 72-hole Denver Open Golf Tournament today.

Hill carried a five-stroke lead and a growing confidence into today's play at the 6,843-yard Meadow Hills course.

Wings, Toronto Battle for Fourth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for fourth place—the final playoff spot is the most exciting feature of the waning International League season.

Rochester moved to within one game of the coveted spot by defeating fourth-place Toronto, 5-4, Friday night, in the first of a four-game series.

Charleston dumped pennant-winning Columbus in both ends of a twi-night doubleheader, 2-0 and 3-2; Buffalo belted Syracuse, 11-6; Richmond and Jersey City split a pair. The Virginians captured the seven - inning opener, 4-2, but dropped the nightcap, 8-1.

Most Valuable Player

'Not Out of It'

Mantle Still Hoping To Break HR Record

By JOE RIECHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Modesty is an admirable trademark of Mickey Mantle, so it came as a surprise when he said Friday night:

"This thing isn't over yet. I don't think I'm out of it. I'm gonna try like hell."

Mantle, "trying like hell" Friday night despite a gimpy left knee that has hampered him for two weeks, smashed his 52nd home run as the New York Yankees whipped Cleveland 9-1 for their ninth consecutive victory.

Mickey's home run, which equaled his personal season high, still left him three shy of Maris' total but kept him two games back of Babe Ruth's record pace of 1927 when the Bambino hit 60.

Maris went homerless and now is six games ahead of Ruth's pace. He and Mantle have 13 games left in their assault on the record for 154 decisions, as ruled by Commissioner Ford Frick.

Mantle admitted the sensational home run hitting of Maris has spurred him on to his best season since 1956 when he also walloped 52 home runs and captured the triple crown.

"I doubt if I would have played as many games as I have," he said, obviously thinking of the bum left knee. "Roger has presented a sort of challenge."

Mantle laughed when someone asked whether the pressure was on again.

"Heck, no," he said. "As a matter of fact, when I hit my 48th last week, I told Roger, 'The pressure is off me. I already beat my guy.'"

The reference was to the 47 home runs hit by Ruth's teammate, Lou Gehrig, in 1927. Mickey's meaning was clear. As the leader it was up to Maris to top Ruth's 60.

Friday's clout by Mantle, off right-hander Gary Bell in the fifth inning, gave the M and M boys a combined total of 107 home runs, matching the combined record total of Ruth and Gehrig.

Mickey displayed a bruise on his left shin, sustained while batting in the eighth inning. After drawing a walk, he gave way to a pinch runner.

"The foot still aches," said Mickey, "but it won't keep me out of the lineup unless it gets a lot worse. It will have to be pretty sore to keep me out."

Cold Front Wins William H. Cane Pace at Yonkers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold Front, an 18-1 shot, swept up from seventh place in the stretch Friday night and won the $110,950 William H. Cane Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

The event is the first of the Triple Crown series for 3-year-old pacers.

Cold Front's time—2:08 3-5—for the 1 1-16 miles was three-fifths of a second slower than the world record.

Cold Front, driven by Clint Hodgins, paid $38.20. Henry T. Adios was second and Flying Baker third.

The other Triple Crown events are the $70,000 Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio, Sept. 21, and the $150,000 Messenger Stakes at Roosevelt Raceway Nov. 18. Only Adios Butler, called the world's fastest pacer, has taken the three events—that in 1959.

Elsewhere on the New York State harness scene:

Vernon Downs reopens for the fall meeting tonight with the $10,000 final of the August pacing series. Dancer Hanover, which won the five races it entered in the six qualifying legs is favored. The meeting ends Sept. 30.

Saratoga Raceway reported its 75-night summer meeting had a record attendance and handle. The track's 20-year high for attendance, set last year at 286,897, was broken this year with 322,292. The pari-mutuel handle this year was $13,957,310, almost $1.5 million more than last year.

Other feature winners last night:

Monticello Raceway—Nike Hanover ($15.90), 2:03 4-5, R. Buston driving, in the $5,000 invitational handicap pace.

Saratoga Raceway — Van Counsel ($4.40), 2:04 3-5, Bob Silliphant driving, in a $2,500 trot.

Batavia Downs—Irvin Paul ($3.90), 2:02 3-5, Wilbur Long driving, in the $5,000 invitational trot.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching — Mike McCormick, Giants, scattered nine hits for 12th victory in Giants' 7-3 triumph that snapped four-game Los Angeles streak and dropped Dodgers two games behind Cincinnati.

Hitting — Jim Pagliaroni, Red Sox, hit three-run homer and two-run, tie-breaking double for 5 RBI in 9-2 victory that extended Detroit losing streak to eight.

Barrington Sets Closed Circuit Again This Year

GREAT BARRINGTON—Racing fans again this year will enjoy the convenience of a closed circuit TV system at the Barrington Fair when the 1961 meet opens for six days Monday, Sept. 11.

Eight monitor screens strategically placed under the grandstand, on the mezzanine, and in the infield area will afford fans a complete view of every race.

High speed cameras not only televise the nine races but record the action on film for study by track stewards.

The TV system was introducted at Barrington in 1958 while the film patrol made its debut several years ago. Both installations were "firsts" for any fairgrounds track in the country.

One of tis greatest boosters of the film is Eddie Arcaro who said that the film patrol has been one of the outstanding contributions to safe riding by reducing rule-breaking by some 80 per cent.

He pointed out that in the swift frenzied running of a horse race, temptation rides with every jockey, but with the advent of the film patrol, the infractions today are practically nil.

Meanwhile, preparations at the Barrington racetrack continued to move forward with opening day of the fair just a few days away. Fair officials announce that post time would remain the same this year with the first race slated for 2:15 p. m., Monday through Friday. Saturday, the last day of the six-day meet, will see post time advanced 15 minutes to 2 p. m.

Brown, Wade Lead Bears To 24-21 Win Over Steelers

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Bears of the National Football League were certain of one thing today — they have a quarterback problem but, what a problem.

Coach George Halas has not one but two fine quarterbacks ready now for the approaching NFL season if Friday night's 24-21 exhibition triumph over the Pittsburgh Steelers is any indication.

First, Ed Brown, and then Billy Wade electrified 45,223 spectators in Chicago's Soldier Field with dazzling passes which ignited touchdown plays of 92, 90 and 75 yards.

The Bears took a 17-0 halftime lead in the 16th annual Armed Forces Benefit game. Pittsburgh romped for three fourth-period scores.

The league's only unbeaten, untied team, the world champion Philadelphia Eagles, and the Green Bay Packers, get in their final exhibition licks tonight.

The Eagles (3-0) face the St. Louis Cardinals (0-3) at Hershey, Pa. Green Bay (4-0) runs into the Washington Redskins (0-4) at Columbus, Ga.

In other contests tonight, Detroit (3-1) invades Cleveland (3-1) and San Francisco (2-2) clashes with the Dallas Cowboys (2-2) at Sacramento, Calif.

Rounding out the exhibition campaign are two games Sunday the Los Angeles Rams (1-2-1) going to Minnesota (0-4) and the New York Giants (2-1-1) tangling with Baltimore (2-2) at New Haven, Conn.

Jewish Holidays May Hurt Dodgers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Jewish high holy days, which begin at sundown Sunday, could have an important effect on the Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching in their stretch drive.

Southpaw Sandy Koufax, who leads the major leagues in strikeouts with 224, and right-hander Larry Sherry, Dodger bullpen ace with 15 saves and four victories, are Jewish. Rosh Hashanah, which begins Sunday night, is an important observance of their faith.

Koufax, second biggest winner of the Dodger staff with 15-10, normally would be scheduled to pitch Monday night at Los Angeles against Philadelphia.

He may work Sunday against the Giants.

Hunter Safety Course Slated This Month

The Rondout Valley Rod and Gun Club is sponsoring a hunter safety course for those eligible for a hunting license. The class will be held at the clubhouse on the Samsonville Road and will consist of two sessions.

The initial session is scheduled Sept. 22 from 7 to 9 p. m. and the second one on Sept. 23 from 1 to 4 p. m. Those interested are asked to contact Al Masten, Paul Booth or George Schwab.

Wall Cards 61 In Golf Tourney But Still Trails

DENVER (AP) — The gallery is still talking about Art Wall's sensational 10-under-par 61, but the field is still chasing the first-day leader, young Dave Hill, in the third round of the 72-hole Denver Open Golf Tournament today.

Hill carried a five-stroke lead and a growing confidence into today's play at the 6,843-yard Meadow Hills course.

Troy Fire Does $300,000 Damage At Bryce Firm

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — The two-story main building of the Bryce Beverage Co. in nearby Brunswick was destroyed by fire Friday.

A bottle works, warehouse, office and garage containing several trucks were destroyed. The firm employs 28 persons.

Six employes in the building escaped. But several firemen were injured slightly.

The Bryce home, 30 feet from the plant, was damaged by smoke and water.

Bryce Beverage has a branch in Kingston.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Troy Fire Does $300,000 Damage At Bryce Firm

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — The two-story main building of the Bryce Beverage Co. in nearby Brunswick was destroyed by fire Friday.

Denton Bryce, owner of the company, estimated the loss at $300,000.

A bottle works, warehouse, office and garage containing several trucks were destroyed. The firm employs 28 persons.

Six employes in the building escaped. But several firemen were injured slightly.

The Bryce home, 30 feet from the plant, was damaged by smoke and water.

Bryce Beverage has a branch in Kingston.

Name Grant Kin 'Real Fighter' In Fair Rites

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A descendant of the military secretary to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant has decided that Grant's grandson is "Ha-de-yus," which means in Iroquois "a real fighter."

Maj. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant III, who resigned Wednesday as chairman and member of the National Civil War Centennial Commission, was given that designation Friday by Daisy Snyder of Basom, Genesee county.

The grandson of the Union Army commander was adopted into the woman-dominated Indian confederacy in a ceremony at the New York State Fair, where the Iroquois this year are emphasizing the role of their forebears in the Civil War.

Miss Snyder is a descendant of Brig. Gen. Eli S. Parker, a full-blooded Iroquois who served as Grant's military secretary during the Civil War.

Attendance at the fair yesterday was ahead of last year. A total of 28,895 persons went through the turnstiles, compared with 21,563 on the same day last year.

Total attendance through yesterday was 390,830, compared with 448,558 at that point last year. The fair ends today.

IBM Plans Adding 63,000 Square Ft. In Poughkeepsie

IBM will add approximately 63,000 square feet of space to its leased facilities in the Poughkeepsie area when negotiations now underway are successfully completed, resident vice president William J. Mair disclosed today.

Speaking at the luncheon meeting of the Poughkeepsie Rotary in recognition of IBM's 20th anniversary in Poughkeepsie, Mair announced that the corporation expects to sub-lease some 40,500 square feet of the Daystrom building on Manchester Road and is negotiating to lease a 23,000 square foot building now being constructed by William H. Howell at the new industrial park near Overrocker Road. Both locations are in the Town of Poughkeepsie.

Mair emphasized that the addition of the new space to IBM's local facilities will not lead to any significant increase in total employment in this area.

Atlas Shot Fizzles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A faulty fuel valve apparently caused an Atlas missile to fall into the Atlantic Ocean about 200 miles offshore Friday night shortly after it lifted off on the start of an intended 5,000-mile test flight.

Air Force technicians studied data radioed from the missile in an effort to pinpoint the trouble. Early analysis indicated a valve problem which caused the main sustainer engine to shut down prematurely.

Terrorists Resume

ALGIERS (AP) — New terror campaigns by Europeans and nationalist rebels appeared to be underway today across Algeria.

With reports still incomplete, five persons were killed and five injured Friday in attacks from both sides. The day before 24 plastic bombs exploded, injuring two persons. These are the weapons of the European extremists opposed to independence for Algeria. Rebel attacks Thursday left 7 dead and 13 injured.

Merciless TV Hunt

BERLIN (AP) — Members of the Communist youth organization are conducting a merciless hunt for East Germans who watch television programs beamed from the West.

Bands of blue-shirted "Free German Youth" roam towns looking for antennnas tuned to the West. They wear red arm bands to show they have been appointed "keepers of public order," assigned to terrify people out of viewing enemy stations.

Probers Offer Aid In Football Bribe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators offered today to help prosecute two gamblers accused of trying to bribe a University of Oregon football player.

Lt. Carl Robinson, head of the Michigan state police rackets squad, told a reporter he would urge immediate reopening of the case now that the Senate Investigations subcommittee has turned up one of the gamblers, Frank Rosenthal.

At subcommittee hearings Friday, the player, Michael Bruce, 20, dramatically pointed to Rosenthal as the man who offered him $5,000 to fix last fall's Oregon-Michigan game. Bruce, of El Cajon, Calif., said the bribe was offered in a hotel on the eve of the game at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Bruce said he exposed the offer to the Oregon coaching staff and police were called in.

Rosenthal, of Chicago and Miami, stared impassively as Bruce leveled a finger at him. Then Rosenthal invoked the Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination and refused to testify about the incident.

The other gambler, David Budin, 28, a former New York school teacher, was arrested at the hotel. He was tried and fined $100 on a charge of registering under a false name.

Last June, Budin, former co-captain of the Brooklyn College basketball team, was indicted in New York on bribery charges in college basketball scandals.

Robinson testified that reluctance by Bruce to face the embarrassment of testifying in a trial was a complicating factor when the rackets squad handled the case last September.

But another, he said, was that the state police never, until the subcommittee produced him, had identified Rosenthal as the other man involved.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Vernon R. Wells, a Buffalo, N.Y., attorney accused of arranging divorces in the St. Louis area for Buffalo residents, has been fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail for criminal contempt of court.

Circuit Judge Douglas L. C. Jones of St. Louis county sentenced Wells when he failed to appear at a hearing scheduled Friday. Judge Jones had ordered Wells to show cause at the hearing why he shouldn't be cited for contempt.

The judge also ordered Wells to surrender his license to practice law in Missouri.

Wells has contended the St. Louis City and County Courts have no jurisdiction over him. He is free in bail.

Divers Will Try Again Today for Missing Fliers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Navy divers planned to try again today to find the bodies of three fliers missing in the crash of a patrol bomber into Lake George.

Two bodies were recovered and the other three men were presumed dead from the Thursday night crash while on a practice bombing mission over the Lake George range.

The six survivors were puzzled as to the cause of the crash.

Lt. (J.G.) Randolph Wells of Elma, N.Y., navigator on the plane, said 15 minutes before the crash the altimeter indicated the plane was 1,000 feet high and everything was normal.

The pilot, Lt. Cmdr. Thomas C. Thompson of Napoleon, Ohio, said he did not know what happened.

Survivors said the plane hit the water in level flight, skidded along a few seconds and then nosed in. The six men grabbed life rafts and were picked up by boats about an hour later.

All except one of the 11 on the plane were naval reservists from Patrol Squadron 931 of Willow Grove, Pa. They were on their last flight before completing two weeks of active duty at Jacksonville Naval Air Station.

The dead were: Chief Petty Officer Eugene Lour, 37, of Monroe, N.Y., and Lt. (J.G.) William Davenport of Strawberry Plains, Tenn.

The missing: Chief Aviation Mechanic James G. Brown of Hatboro, Pa.; Photographer John E. Pilarski of Salamanca, N.Y., and Aviation Ordnanceman Robert B. Plunkett of Salamanca, N.Y.

Survivors, in addition to Wells and Thompson, are Lt. Charles Fisher of Philadelphia; Aviation Mechanic Dean W. Coffman of York, Pa.; Aircraft Electrician William C. Estee of Silver Creek, N.Y., and Radioman Virgil T. Krankin of Sanborn, N.Y.

Javits, Keating Back Rocky on Milk Standards

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's position on proposed national milk sanitation standards is correct, New York's Republican senators contend.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating came to the New York Republican governor's defense in Senate speeches Friday.

Sens. William E. Proxmire of Wisconsin and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Democrats, had criticized Rockefeller for a speech he made in Syracuse recently attacking a proposed national milk sanitation law.

Rockefeller said Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman was pushing such legislation because it favored his home state of Minnesota and its immediate neighbors at the expense of the rest of the country.

The governor said the standards would open up the milk markets of New York's dairymen to "a periodic flood of surplus milk from the Midwest."

Javits said national milk sanitation standards would not be practical or desirable because local authorities could best determine what regulations were needed to safeguard their own milk supplies. He said the federal proposal would tend to lower the quality of milk in some markets.

Keating said Rockefeller spoke on behalf of the consumer, taxpayer and non-subsidized farmer of America.

Keating said milk sanitation was a matter for the states, not the federal government.

The federal proposal, he said, "would undermine the existing, orderly milk marketing arrangements which have permitted farmers a fair and honest return, injured consumer interests and protection, and have involved no cost to the taxpayer."

Pilotless Plane Flys for 2 Hours, Crashes in Field

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Doren Bumgardner planned a short airplane flight around Burlington Friday. He didn't make it —but the plane did.

The plane, a Civil Air Patrol L16, jumped its mooring blocks at Municipal Airport after Bumgardner started the engine.

Then the shiny silver craft tried its wings without a pilot on an erratic two-hour flight that ended in an Illinois bean field.

"I sure hope it doesn't happen to me again," said the 29-year-old pilot, a member of the Burlington CAP squadron.

The plane's unusual behavior had this city of 34,000 persons in a tizzy for an hour as it circled lazily at 1,200 feet over downtown buildings and outlying residential areas.

Finally the plane straightened out, climbed to 12,000 feet, ran out of gas and plunged onto the J. L. Garmer farm four miles west of Aledo, Ill. The only damage was to the plane—demolished —and to the bean field.

"When that engine started, it started real fast," said Bumgardner, a rated pilot for six years. He said he ran to the side of the plane, grabbed the control stick, but couldn't get inside.

"I tried to do everything in my power to hold her down," he said. "I just couldn't. I had to let go."

Bumgardner suffered a skinned right side from ankle to hip. He was taken to a hospital.

Check Roof Fire At Scot Store

A roof fire at The Big Scot store on Route 28 near the Thruway Interchange Friday night brought out four pieces of apparatus from West Hurley but did a minimum of damage, according to Fire Chief Howard H. Hopkins.

Chief Hopkins happened to be in the manager's office on personal business when, he said, one of the boys burning trash in the store incinerator rushed in and asked for "something wet."

A quick check by the chief and store manager disclosed an overheated stack pipe had set fire to insulation board in the roof.

Chief Hopkins sounded an alarm at 6:30 p. m. calling all four pieces of West Hurley apparatus to the scene. Firefighters used axes and bars to pry up roofing material atop the burning board to get at the seat of the blaze, which was quickly extinguished. Recall was sounded at 7:40 p. m., the chief said.

There are more than 300,000 electricians in the United States, about one in every 10 owning his own business.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Vernon R. Wells, a Buffalo, N.Y., attorney accused of arranging divorces in the St. Louis area for Buffalo residents, has been fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail for criminal contempt of court.

Circuit Judge Douglas L. C. Jones of St. Louis county sentenced Wells when he failed to appear at a hearing scheduled Friday. Judge Jones had ordered Wells to show cause at the hearing why he shouldn't be cited for contempt.

The judge also ordered Wells to surrender his license to practice law in Missouri.

Wells has contended the St. Louis City and County Courts have no jurisdiction over him. He is free in bail.

HOQUIAM, Wash. (AP) — Don White, clean shaven and smiling, stepped up at 4 p.m. Friday from the fallout shelter were he had spent 102 hours and said: "I feel fine."

White, 26, an employe of radio station KXRO, went underground Monday to test a new 8 by 12-foot shelter and human reactions to living in one alone.

Divers Will Try Again Today for Missing Fliers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Navy divers planned to try again today to find the bodies of three fliers missing in the crash of a patrol bomber into Lake George.

Two bodies were recovered and the other three men were presumed dead from the Thursday night crash while on a practice bombing mission over the Lake George range.

The six survivors were puzzled as to the cause of the crash.

Lt. (J.G.) Randolph Wells of Elma, N.Y., navigator on the plane, said 15 minutes before the crash the altimeter indicated the plane was 1,000 feet high and everything was normal.

The pilot, Lt. Cmdr. Thomas C. Thompson of Napoleon, Ohio, said he did not know what happened.

Survivors said the plane hit the water in level flight, skidded along a few seconds and then nosed in. The six men grabbed life rafts and were picked up by boats about an hour later.

All except one of the 11 on the plane were naval reservists from Patrol Squadron 931 of Willow Grove, Pa. They were on their last flight before completing two weeks of active duty at Jacksonville Naval Air Station.

The dead were: Chief Petty Officer Eugene Lour, 37, of Monroe, N.Y., and Lt. (J.G.) William Davenport of Strawberry Plains, Tenn.

The missing: Chief Aviation Mechanic James G. Brown of Hatboro, Pa.; Photographer John E. Pilarski of Salamanca, N.Y., and Aviation Ordnanceman Robert B. Plunkett of Salamanca, N.Y.

Survivors, in addition to Wells and Thompson, are Lt. Charles Fisher of Philadelphia; Aviation Mechanic Dean W. Coffman of York, Pa.; Aircraft Electrician William C. Estee of Silver Creek, N.Y., and Radioman Virgil T. Krankin of Sanborn, N.Y.

Javits, Keating Back Rocky on Milk Standards

Sens. Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating came to the New York Republican governor's defense in Senate speeches Friday.

Sens. William E. Proxmire of Wisconsin and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Democrats, had criticized Rockefeller for a speech he made in Syracuse recently attacking a proposed national milk sanitation law.

Rockefeller said Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman was pushing such legislation because it favored his home state of Minnesota and its immediate neighbors at the expense of the rest of the country.

The governor said the standards would open up the milk markets of New York's dairymen to "a periodic flood of surplus milk from the Midwest."

Javits said national milk sanitation standards would not be practical or desirable because local authorities could best determine what regulations were needed to safeguard their own milk supplies. He said the federal proposal would tend to lower the quality of milk in some markets.

Keating said Rockefeller spoke on behalf of the consumer, taxpayer and non-subsidized farmer of America.

Keating said milk sanitation was a matter for the states, not the federal government.

The federal proposal, he said, "would undermine the existing, orderly milk marketing arrangements which have permitted farmers a fair and honest return, injured consumer interests and protection, and have involved no cost to the taxpayer."

Pilotless Plane Flys for 2 Hours, Crashes in Field

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Doren Bumgardner planned a short airplane flight around Burlington Friday. He didn't make it —but the plane did.

The plane, a Civil Air Patrol L16, jumped its mooring blocks at Municipal Airport after Bumgardner started the engine.

Then the shiny silver craft tried its wings without a pilot on an erratic two-hour flight that ended in an Illinois bean field.

"I sure hope it doesn't happen to me again," said the 29-year-old pilot, a member of the Burlington CAP squadron.

The plane's unusual behavior had this city of 34,000 persons in a tizzy for an hour as it circled lazily at 1,200 feet over downtown buildings and outlying residential areas.

Finally the plane straightened out, climbed to 12,000 feet, ran out of gas and plunged onto the J. L. Garmer farm four miles west of Aledo, Ill. The only damage was to the plane—demolished —and to the bean field.

"When that engine started, it started real fast," said Bumgardner, a rated pilot for six years. He said he ran to the side of the plane, grabbed the control stick, but couldn't get inside.

"I tried to do everything in my power to hold her down," he said. "I just couldn't. I had to let go."

Bumgardner suffered a skinned right side from ankle to hip. He was taken to a hospital.

Check Roof Fire At Scot Store

A roof fire at The Big Scot store on Route 28 near the Thruway Interchange Friday night brought out four pieces of apparatus from West Hurley but did a minimum of damage, according to Fire Chief Howard H. Hopkins.

Chief Hopkins happened to be in the manager's office on personal business when, he said, one of the boys burning trash in the store incinerator rushed in and asked for "something wet."

A quick check by the chief and store manager disclosed an overheated stack pipe had set fire to insulation board in the roof.

Chief Hopkins sounded an alarm at 6:30 p. m. calling all four pieces of West Hurley apparatus to the scene. Firefighters used axes and bars to pry up roofing material atop the burning board to get at the seat of the blaze, which was quickly extinguished. Recall was sounded at 7:40 p. m., the chief said.

There are more than 300,000 electricians in the United States, about one in every 10 owning his own business.
